To Be Held In The High School Auditorium

The Fifth Annual Welfare concert of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion will be held in the Newton High School Auditorium, Newtonville, on Friday, May 23, 1930.

Mr. Will White, who was for several years the manager of Norumbega Park and is now connected with Playland in Rye, New York, is to act as master of ceremonies.

Plan To Improve Heating Plant

City To Spend Nearly $50,000 At High School

Following many complaints regarding the heating plant at the High Schools in Newtonville and considerable controversy over the failure of the plant to properly heat the buildings, not to mention a smoke nuisance it has caused in the neighborhood, Mayor Weeks has decided to ask for an appropriation of nearly $50,000 to make decided changes in the heating system there. A firm of heating engineers made a survey of the situation at the schools last year and as a result of their recommendations, plans were prepared and bids received. There was no advertisement for proposals of bids but certain firms were invited to submit figures. These bids were received: John McDonald Construction Co., Boston, $48,323; Sawyer Construction Co., Boston, $49,954; Lawson Oakes, Boston, $51,754; William Coulson Co., Cambridge, $52,145.

Two of the present boilers will be replaced by high pressure boilers, equipped with stokers and automatic feeders; equipping two boilers with new grates; installing an incinerator for paper; raising the height of the boiler room 15 feet; increasing the height of the chimney 15 feet.

Dr. Lowe Honored By Hospital Staff

City Physician Has Served There Twenty-eight Years

Forty-two members of the staff and graduate house officers of the Newton Hospital met at the Hospital, Monday night at a dinner given in honor of Dr. Fred M. Lowe of West Newton. Dr. Lowe is a graduate of Yale University and Harvard Medical School. He became a member of the hospital staff twenty-eight years ago. For many years he has been City Physician, and his genial manner has made for him a host of friends. Felicitations were sent by the trustees of the hospital, by the Superintendent, and the administrative staff, and by his old associates who were unable to attend.

Dr. DeWitt G. Wilcox made the address of welcome and appreciation. In closing his remarks, he said, "I doubt if any better eulogy can be pronounced on any man than to have it universally said that he has been a good fellow. Dr. Lowe has been that. In the twenty-eight years he has served the hospital his faithfulness and his untiring fidelity to the sick and suffering have endeared him to all who have come in contact with him. To have attained to a position in life where one stands out a little in advance of the rank and file is something in which one may take just pride, and Dr. Lowe has attained just such a position. Men who have given to the practice of medicine forty and fifty years in difficult, arduous, and exacting labor in the care of the sick record themselves as amply repaid for such lives. This is because they have accomplished something worthwhile, the joy of rendering an essential service by being useful. When you consider this, everything else seems to be trivial. This spirit, I am sure has been actuating Dr. Lowe all these long years. Dr. Lowe, we all honor you. We respect you, and want to take this occasion to tell you how much we love you. We are honored to call you a good fellow."

Dr. George L. West then presented to Dr. Lowe from his fellow members of the Staff a suitably inscribed silver bowl. The response of Dr. Lowe was made with much feeling and was an intimate message to his old associates.

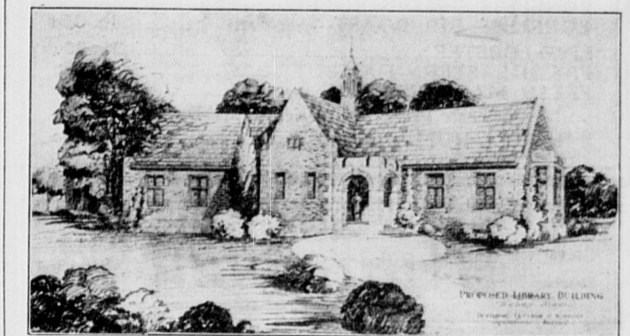

Dr. Lowe will continue to serve the hospital as a member of the consulting staff.

The arrangements for the dinner were carried out by a committee consisting of Drs. S. C. Dalrymple, A. C. Cummings, and G. F. H. Bowers.

ROTARY CLUB

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Newton was held on Monday, April 28th, at the Woodland Golf Club, at 12:15. President Charles D. Ansley presiding.

George J. Martin introduced as the speaker at this meeting, the Hon. Eben Draper, who took as his subject "Prohibition." Mr. Draper has evidently made a study of this much talked of issue.

Going into the history of Prohibition, Mr. Draper said that this experiment was nothing new, having been tried out by the Chinese four thousand years ago when they even went so far as to destroy all grape vines and issued a proclamation that violation of Prohibition would be punishable by death. Nevertheless, this Prohibition act proved a failure at that time.

In 1736, England tried to enforce Prohibition but it proved a failure and the act was repealed a few years later.

The District Conference of Rotary International which is being held in Worcester, May 14 and 15, will be well attended by the Newton Rotarians as usual.

At the Silver Anniversary of Rotary International, which is to be held at Chicago from June 23 to 27, six Newton Rotarians have expressed their intention of attending this Anniversary Convention.

Andrew Ford, Chairman of the Golf Committee, has the spring tournament well under way and the first matches were played on Tuesday, April 29th.

POLICE NEWS

A warrant was issued yesterday for W. Goldthwait, Jackson of Boston when the person who gave that name failed to appear in the Newton court to answer several charges preferred against him by Patrolman Smith. These charges included—operating a car without proper lights, failing to slow down at a street intersection, refusing to stop when ordered to do so by a police officer.

A neighborhood row between Lower Falls residents was aired in the Newton court on Wednesday before Judge Frost. Mrs. Rose Reske of Concord street accused Stanley Majurkevich of Concord street of assault and battery. Mr. Majurkevich contended that the complainant was the aggressor in the fracas. Judge Frost believed Mrs. Reske's story and fined Stanley $25. William Sullivan of Lake street, Brighton was fined $5, in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving a car without his license in his possession.

At the very kind invitation of Mrs. Frank A. Day, the Annual Meeting of the Newton Circle Incorporated was held at her home, 154 Sargent street, Newton, April 25th, 1930, the President, Mrs. John T. After reports of the different officers and committees had been read, Mrs. Wellman gave a most interesting account of her work for the past year. Following this, the Rev. Peter A. Dunn and Mr. Clarence Preston spoke briefly. The two principal speakers of the day were His Honor the Mayor, Mr. Sinclair Weeks, and Mr. Warren Bishop, Assistant District Attorney. The Mayor spoke very ably and understandingly on the place which such organizations as the Circle fill in the community, and Mr. Bishop presented interesting views on criminal tendencies, as related to the type of probation work sponsored by the Circle. Tea was charmingly served by the Social Committee, with Miss Ethel J. Todd as Chairman. Mrs. Peter A. Clark and Mrs. Edwin P. Brown presided over the tea table which was faultlessly appointed and lavishly decorated with spring flowers.

The seven Newton divisions of workers in the Boston Y. W. C. A. service continuation fund campaign, taken together, are at present in the lead both in the number of gifts secured and the total amount reported. Among the other suburban divisions, Brookline is in second place and Chestnut Hill is third.

At a recent report meeting Mrs. Charles Todd Wolfe, executive secretary of the Boston Y. W. C. A., emphasized the fact that the Association is now more nearly self-supporting than it was before the opening of its new building, in addition to serving more girls. Mrs. Wolfe also said that the cost of putting up the building was from 7 to 10 cents less per cubic foot than the cost of any comparable hotel or office structure erected in Boston at the same time.

Workers will be asked to continue the campaign, if they are able, through next week.

The city of Newton has never had a more faithful city official than Mr. J. Clifton Whitney, who has just tendered his resignation as Water Commissioner. Entering the employ of the city at sixteen years, Mr. Whitney has given fifty-five years of splendid service to the Water Department. His knowledge of the details of his department is remarkable, notwithstanding the enormous growth of the city since he entered the service. Thirty years ago when the Superintendent of Water Works resigned Mr. Whitney quietly took over his duties in addition to his own and has saved the salary paid that official during all these years. The best wishes of a large circle of friends go to Mr. Whitney in his well earned retirement from active life.

Attention is called to the fact that next week is Clean up week in this city. Let everyone of us do his or her share in making this week a great success.

As the headlines in one Metropolitan paper had it the other day, "Necessaries of Life Board Dead." With the cost of living since that board was established in 1919 greatly increased it probably was bored to death.

The warm weather this week has again brought forth the nuisance of liquid tar on our streets. In Florida where the temperature is as high if not higher than here, the patches on the pavements never soften. If in Florida, why not in Newton?

Dr. Fred M. Lowe richly deserves the encomium given him this week by his associates on the staff of the Newton Hospital. A wide circle of friends gladly join with them in this fine tribute of "Flowers for the living."

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

A citizen of Ward 7, residing near Farlow Park, believes that it would be better if the small pond in the park were filled in. Much of the time this little artificial pond has no water in it and during the winter months the ice on it is being continually broken by small boys. This citizen also complains that the lawns and shrubs in the park are not kept in as good condition as they should be and that children from the Underwood School trample the grass while doing callisthenics in the park. He contends such exercises ought to be performed in the school yard.

The usual Sabbath quiet was rudely broken last Sunday, about noon, by a crowd apparently participating in a wedding celebration who travelled through different villages of this city in several automobiles. The horns on the cars were kept incessantly blowing. This noisy group had neither respect for the Sabbath Day nor consideration for sick persons. A few arrests would effectively curb this practice.

Officials of the Metropolitan Water Commission have informed Street Commissioner Stuart that work will be started this year on the big 60 inch water main which will be laid from the reservoir at Weston along Commonwealth avenue, Webster, Waltham, Washington, Peabody and Pearl streets, thence following the bank of the Charles River towards Boston.

A newspaper in a neighboring city printed an item stating that a former official of that city is a candidate to succeed Water Commissioner J. Clifton Whitney who retires soon. There are men in this city capable of efficiently filling this position. Public offices in Newton should be given to Newton men. No technical engineer is required for this position. The engineering work of the Water Department is performed by the City Engineer's Department. In a city of this size, possessing educational facilities such as are afforded by Newton's highly praised schools, it should not be necessary to import department heads. Other cities don't send to Newton to offer public positions to Newton men. They employ home talent.

Residents of Farlow Hill, who for years have made pets of squirrels which lived in that neighborhood are incensed over the alleged actions of a person in that section. It is claimed that this man has been catching the squirrels in a box-trap set on a roof at his residence, and then killing the friendly little rodents. As the open season for the killing of squirrels is limited to one month in the Autumn, this person who has an antipathy for these little animals may have to explain his action to the game warden for this district.

The sun set last evening at 7:43 daylight saving time. It was 30 minutes later before the street lights in this city were turned on. During those 30 minutes, the streets of this city were in semi-darkness or almost total darkness. Street lights in neighboring communities are turned on 15 or more minutes earlier than those in Newton. The streets of this city are none too well lighted even when the lights are on. It is about time that Newton had its street lights illuminated as early as other places; and that these lights will be kept going until daylight arrives and not be extinguished 30 minutes or so before the dawn. We want fewer reports of persons killed by automobiles because of dark streets.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Last Monday afternoon Governor Allen signed Mayor Weeks' petition for authority to borrow money for building a new city hall. The provisions of the measure have been made to read as follows:

"For the purpose of constructing originally equipping and furnishing a new city hall, the city of Newton may, from time to time, within a period of five years from the acceptance of this act, borrow such sums as may be necessary not exceeding in the aggregate seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and may issue bonds or notes therefor, which shall bear on their face the words 'Newton City Hall Loan, Act of 1930'. Each authorized issue shall constitute a separate loan and such loan shall be paid in not more than fifteen years from their dates, but no issue shall be authorized under this act unless a sum equal to an amount not less than ten per cent of such authorized issue is voted for the same purpose to be raised by the tax levy of the year when authorized. Indebtedness incurred under this act shall be in excess of the statutory limit but shall, except as provided herein, be subject to chapter forty-four of the General Laws, exclusive of the limits contained in the first paragraph of section seven thereof as revised by chapter three hundred and twenty-four of the acts of nineteen hundred and twenty-eight.

"This act shall take effect upon its acceptance during the current year by two thirds vote of the board of aldermen of the city of Newton."

Representatives Baker and Thompson spoke against the bill "further to protect locations reserved for public ways." Mr. Baker declared it was merely an attempt to exercise the right of eminent domain without paying damages at the time the reservation is made. The bill was killed.

Senator Hollis, petitioner for the bill for the appointment of a special commission to study highway safety, was obliged to see his idea referred to the next annual session by the Senate. The Ways and Means Committee contended that the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety is doing everything possible to promote safety. To this Senator Hollis replied he had no quarrel with the Governor's committee but he believed too little attention was paid to the safety of pedestrians. He said, "Protection of the pedestrian is the point we should aim at as there are 100 people a day killed in the United States by automobiles."

The Ways and Means Committee had reported that the bill should be rejected but Senator Hollis had the decision modified by referring it to next year's Legislature.

The Commission on the Necessaries of Life, which has been in existence since the close of the World War, is a thing of the past. One of its most valiant supporters was Representative Luitwieler. The Ways and Means Committee of the Senate reported and the Senate passed a bill to place the activities of the commission under the State Department of Labor and Industries. It sets up a division on the necessities of life in that department with a director at a salary of $5000.

Fuel prices and those of other necessities will be investigated by the division which will have authority to summon witnesses, administer oaths and require the production of books and papers. In some ways the division will have more power than the old commission.

The various bills forbidding the throwing aside of abandoned automobiles on other people's property, the licensing of automobile junk yards, etc., have been made into a resolve which was this week signed by the Governor. The resolve provides for an investigation by the State Department of Public Works into the disposal of abandoned, junked or used automobiles and also the licensing of motor vehicle junk yards.

The House followed the recommendations of the Ways and Means Committee and rejected the bill which would permit laborers on roads and bridges to work more than eight hours a day. The committee said that the present law was sufficient and that the act was not needed. By roll call, 178 yeas to 10 nays the House voted for rejection. Representatives Baker, Luitwieler and Thompson voted with the majority.

It is not often that matters are fought on the amendment side and yet that bit of strategy was resorted to successfully to kill a bill which would have permitted the city of Boston to pay $4000 to the mother of a young man killed by a Boston policeman. There was extended argument. Those against the bill declared the policeman was not on duty. Those in favor contended that a police revolver was used and that a policeman is always on duty. The bill was killed, 105 to 90. Representatives Baker, Luitwieler and Thompson voted to kill the bill.

It seems to be a custom with the General Court to hold many of the more important matters to the last. This week the highly important taxation bills, providing for vital changes, were reported by the Taxation Committee, while the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs reported a program for highway construction and other improvements in the Metropolitan district to cost more than $4,000,000.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT

The concert given in the vestry of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church last week Friday by "The Musical Kelleys," a family group of entertainers, was most enjoyable and unusual. The first number, "Il Trovatore" by Verdi, was played by the entire family ensemble, flute, clarinet, xylophone, cello and violin. It was interesting to watch the changing of instruments by the players as needed. It was beautifully performed. The "Romance" as a whistling solo by Mrs. Kelley with banjo accompaniment by Robert Kelley was much appreciated. "Trio" for flute, violin and piano by Crei, given by John Craig, Robert and Jack Kelley held the undivided attention of the audience. The whistling solo, "Spring Voices" by Strauss, by Mrs. Kelley with Mr. Kelley at the piano was excellent as an encore.

"Medley of Old Hits" arranged by Mr. Kelley was given by the entire ensemble. The flute solos, "Meditation" from Thais, "Minuet Waltz" by Chopin played by Robert Kelley and "Liebestraum" by Liszt, a singing solo with cello obligato by Mrs. Kelley were other exceptional numbers.

The evening's entertainment closed with "Americana," a medley of American airs arranged by Mrs. Kelley.

By L. D. G. Bentley

This talk of "Clean-up Week" is sound, it's sure to make us better, if everyone will but obey The Mayor's timely letter.

When work's been done with rakes and things On big and little places, We'll feel as if we'd combed our hair And likewise washed our faces.

Taken as a whole, it wasn't a good day for the season's first tennis. It was windy, the ground was still rough from the winter frost, the day was cold, and I, myself, was out of practice. You know yourself that the conditions, as I have described them, were unfavorable.

But how did I do? Not so very well, I'm afraid. You see, I couldn't seem to hit the ball. And nothing is so ruinous to a good game of tennis as inability to place the racquet in juxtaposition with (or to) the ball. Of course, I hit the ball once in a while, those were the times when it went over the back stop.

Who won? Well, nobody won exactly. We didn't play, that is not competitively. Of course, we tried to after we had volleyed the ball around a little, but we didn't get far. I was the one who broke up the game. You see, the only way one of us could win was by the other fellow's fault. And not only that, but I could see how terribly my opponent was playing, and since I was losing by a substantial score, I knew that I must look even worse. I don't believe anyone would have blamed us for quitting, under the circumstances, do you?

As a tennis match, it was a great game of winks or something. Of course I didn't have any tennis clothes with me, so I had to play in my business suit. That kind of hampered me, because my necktie kept getting wrapped around my eyes, and by the time I got it unwrapped, the ball had socked me on the chin and it was too late to do anything about it.

My leather heels didn't improve my form very much, either. In fact my opponent seemed to find something amusing in watching me run after his drives, especially the ones that went over the back stop. I was too cold for me to play in my bare feet, however, and my sneakers were many miles away.

Oh, I almost forgot to tell you about the time I chased the ball over to my friend's side of the net. Of course, you've seen players to whom it means practically nothing to hop over the net when changing courts or sides. Well I tried to hurdle the net and I didn't do so well. After my opponent had unwrapped the net from around my neck, however, we put the net up again and went on playing as if nothing had happened.

Wasn't it good exercise, though?

Oh, I don't know. It might have been at the time. But when I tried to stoop over next morning to tie my shoes, it didn't seem so good to me. It's bad enough to have an ache in some definitely located part of one's anatomy. You can get a bottle of liniment and rub it out, if that is the case, but when you're lame like I am right now, nothing you can do for it. I never know where the pain will turn up next. And I can't take a bath in liniment, you know.

You think you'll try it some day next week?

All right, I advise you to go out some warm afternoon and do your stuff.

You used to be pretty good last year, you say?

Sure you did. But don't forget, this is another year and the first day you take the cotton batting off the old racket, do you know how you'll play? "Terrible," that's how.

Good luck to you!

What experience have you had as a guide to your city? I bet you will think before replying. It is not my intention to offer employment to those who seem to be well posted. I merely suggest that you brush up your knowledge of local geography. The more you know, the more you can answer their questions. I am willing to ask questions. Well, nobody wants to be ignorant of his own city or State and everybody likes, or should like to be obliging.

Frankly, I must say that some people irritate me in the extreme when they want to be set right. I have had a piece of paper thrust under my nose by an individual with a scant knowledge of the English language who has demanded by gesture and otherwise that I point out the way for him. At other times I have found foreigners who were extremely grateful for whatever help I might have been able to supply. It doesn't follow that because they are not natives that their manners are bad. We have a lot of people born and raised in our country who have much to learn.

The kind of people that cause me to become riled are those who seem to think that it is everybody's job to answer their questions. I am willing and I have gone blocks out of my way to try and be a faithful guide to a faltering stranger. Sometimes I have felt well repaid and others I have not. It has not prevented me from taking another chance and I shall continue to be as courteous as I know how.

Another set of persons who make me sore are those who ask first one question and then another the same question. You may be the one first approached. You do your best. Then the questioner moves a few feet and steps somebody else and asks them exactly what you have tried to make clear. If you stand around you will find them asking a dozen people. Whether they require assurance from a certain number or whether they are taking a straw vote I cannot say. I only know they get my goat.

However, none of these things are intended to discourage politeness. Let us be courteous and if irritated pre-

Enlisted men of B Battery, 101st Field Artillery, will give a testimonial dinner to Lieutenant Colonel Sinclair Weeks in Dover on Saturday evening, May 3. Many members of the Battery are residents of Newton and took a prominent part in the election of their former commander, who is now Mayor of Newton.

tend not to notice it. Such a thing is not easy to do but's really better for nerves—our own and the other fellows.

There are those among our friends and acquaintances who unwittingly set our standards for us. We refer to someone as "the most capable member you ever saw" and somebody else as "the best natured man in the world." We hold others up for their industry, their unselfishness, their patience and for this and that excellent quality. They would be the last people on earth to pose as models, yet they can't help themselves. Whatever we say about them has been inspired by their conduct as we have observed it from day to day and year to year.

Based on long-time observation I should like to declare that J. Clifton Whitney, who retires next month as Water Commissioner of Newton, stands out in my opinion as the finest type of city official and high-minded gentleman. His devotion to his duties cannot be measured by his salary or any pension that may be provided. Twenty-four hours a day and seven days a week has been his rule. Moreover, he has found time for numberless good deeds performed without ostentation. I know of his constant visits to an old friend who lay ill for months but to whom Mr. Whitney brought cheer and comfort though it was a sacrifice of time and energy. The friend it was who told me what Mr. Whitney had done for him.

And there are other things I could say in praise of our retiring Water Commissioner. But I have embarrassed him already and must cease, though not without noting that this world possesses only too few men of the type of "Cliff" Whitney.

Because the constitution of Massachusetts, one of the oldest of any in this country, was drawn with the taxation laws of the mother country in mind, few changes, and those slight ones, are permissible in Massachusetts' taxation laws. The constitution deals at length with taxation, whereas some State constitutions do not even refer to that subject. Hence the Massachusetts Legislature may not make any extensive alterations in the administration of taxation laws without amending the State's constitution.

The mother country had imposed unjust taxation laws with such severity that when the Massachusetts constitution was drawn there was little the Legislature could do under its provisions. When in 1916 this State sought to establish an income tax law the constitution had first to be amended.

Now the Legislature desires to make certain changes but these cannot be made until the constitution is amended in two particulars. One amendment relates to the authority of the General Court to levy excise taxes. The other to the levying of taxes on tangible personal property. The first would be permit a graded income tax such as the Federal Government administers, or similar to that of New York State. This would

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Newton Federation

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs promises to be of unusual interest.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks has been invited to speak at the opening of the morning meeting. It is expected that Miss Mabel C. Bragg, assistant superintendent of Schools, will be a guest.
The meeting will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse on Tuesday, May 6th, at 10:45 a. m., and lunch will be served, in charge of the Social committee, at 1:15 p. m. Tickets for the luncheon at one dollar each may be obtained from presidents of the affiliated clubs.

During the morning session there will be the usual reports of officers of the Federation, of presidents of Clubs, and of representatives of Associate Organizations of the Federation;
also election of officers.

The afternoon meeting will open at 2:30. In the afternoon Tschaukowsky's "Nut Cracker" Suite will be presented by the Auburndale Woman's Club, under the direction of the distinct France, with chorus of children who are pupils of Mrs. Ruth Allen Weston.

The reports of the work and play of the Member Clubs of the Federation are always of considerable interest and it is very unfortunate to miss them. However, Club members who are unable to be present at the morning session, or lunch, will be welcome in the afternoon.

Christian Era Study Club

The Christian Era Study Club will hold its Annual Meeting and election of officers on Monday, May 5th, at the home of the president, Miss Ella B.
Smith, 15 Vista avenue, Auburndale.
There will be the usual reports from Federation delegates and the distribution of topics for the coming year.
Both are always of interest, but the latter especially so, since there is the anticipation and curiosity aroused as to what members are to have for topics, upon which to write.

The Eliot Players

The attention of Newton Clubwomen is called to the play, "The Admirable Crichton", a comedy by James M.
Barrie, which is to be put on by the Eliot Players, at the Underwood School Auditorium, at 8:15, on Saturday evening, May 10th. This is given for the benefit of the Newton Welfare Bureau, an organization in whose success Clubwomen are keenly interested. The cast of characters is made up of Newton people, and the list of patronesses includes many members of the Newton Community Club.
Tickets, for the very reasonable price of 75 cents may be ordered of Mrs.
William C. Ridge, of 9 Hibbard road,
Newton.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, chairman of the Music committee, announces an evening of music at 8 o'clock, Saturday, May 10th, to be given by the Newton Centre Woman's Choral Club, which was formed by members of the Woman's Club. Mme. Appolline Blair will conduct the chorus and Mme. Marie Conde will be the soloist.
Membership tickets will admit Club members, and guest tickets may be purchased at the door for fifty cents.

eration chairman of Leisure and Recreation to be judged at Denver where terest.

ANNUAL MEETING. Once more the State Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its Annual Meeting in May at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, which has gained such popularity as a gathering place for these many Clubwomen from all over the State. But unlike previous years, the first session will not be on an afternoon, with delegates arriving during the morning, and having credentials signed in these busy hours.
Unless Clubwomen are putting up at the hotel, they must be bright and early in coming from more or less distant homes to get credentials signed. It can be seen how the business of this large organization has grown to make imperative the adding of another session. In previous years there have been four business sessions, one on the opening afternoon, one on the closing morning, and a morning and afternoon session of the middle day; and two evening sessions of combined business and pleasure.
Now there will be the morning session added for the opening day, making five business sessions, with the others continuing as before. On Wednesday morning, the 14th, the first session opens, at 10:30 o'clock.

The program for the three days,
Wednesday, the 14th, through Friday morning, the 16th, will be given in full next week.

Delegates must make their own reservations at the New Ocean House.
Double room, with bath, and single beds, is $8 per day, per person.
Larger rooms, with three single beds are $7 per day, per person.

There are many important amendments to the By-Laws coming up, upon which delegates should inform themselves. They are asked, as well, to bring copies of these revisions to the Annual Meeting. In order to aid in both these directions your editor gives them in full, that delegates may ponder them in the next ten days, and take them as copy to the meeting.

The Mather Class

"India" was the subject of the lecture of Prof. Kirtley F. Mather last Sunday morning at the regular weekly meeting of the Mather Class in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

This was the third lecture in the series entitled "Christianity Abroad." At the present time there is a likelihood of failure for Gandhi's idealistic movement, in spite of the fact that millions of people are ready to lay down their lives for him.

Gandhi does not care particularly for the political and economic features of his program, but he is most emphatically concerned about his idealism.

To understand Gandhi it is necessary to review the historical background.

The nationalist movement got under way right after the World War. India is a land of variegated peoples. The poor are distressingly poor. They have no great intelligence. When famines and pestilences come, many die.

At the other end of the scale are some of the most learned men in the world. Prof. Mather has met the famous botanist, Bose, a Hindu with no mixture of any other race for many generations of his ancestors. Many Hindus and others religiously inclined are numbered among the mystics. They are often very fine spirits. There are also industrialists with factories and organizations noted for their great efficiency.

A few Indians are wealthy. The native princes and rajahs are of no appreciable political importance but they are aristocrats and millionaires. Nevertheless, a tremendous mass of Indians are on a low level. They do not come up to the average IQ of the United States in intelligence. The low plane of their existence is due in part to their unfortunate environment.

And now this great mass of low-grade people comes along and demands self-expression. That was caused by Woodrow Wilson who said that subject peoples should be given a chance for self-government. Thereupon arose this surge for some sort of political entity and self-expression. They could give only an imperfect idea of their desires, but, anyhow, England made a lot of concessions. India remained, nevertheless, the most completely subject of all the lands over which the English flag flies. There is no comparison between India and Canada, Newfoundland, or Australia. England recognizes the right of the Indian to some voice in his own government, but she has no intention of meeting all the demands that come from that country.

Eight years ago Gandhi headed the nationalist movement, which was composed of the younger men and women, who were better off economically and had superior educations.

It was a bit curious. To get the historical development we have to go back to Jesus, whose idea was to implant a spirit and develop a particular attitude. This was a personal and individual affair. Jesus did not feature methods, programs, or organizations. In trying to spread Christianity, we have sort of reversed the process and given a lot of weight to methods. The individual is not supposed to be able to do as much as a group incorporated into an organization with a program. We appear to have gone from the individual to the corporate attitude.

Gandhi's program centered around the idea of what he called "soul force." He assumed that there was such a thing as a soul and that it was far more powerful than armies. He undertook to undertake to put to work these little used spiritual forces. It was a great venture of faith. Of course, he had to have a method, and it was non-co-operation. There were many natives in Government offices. He aimed to induce them all to withdraw and have nothing to do with the British Government. He called it "Satanic government." He wanted no revolution or rebellion. No force was to be used. Everybody was to submit to all laws, taxes, and customs imposed by England, but there was to be no co-operation. Of course, Gandhi got into trouble right off and put in two years in prison.

For the last six years Gandhi has been out of prison, trying to spread his ideas, but exactly nothing has been gained by his efforts.

And now two things have happened. They are the appointment of the Simon commission and the publication of the book entitled "Mother India."

England has authorized the National Congress. It had no power and was meant to be merely something for the Indians to play with. It was not supposed to do anything, but it did. It demanded a revision of the constitution of India. England acceded to this. The native press demanded that there should be some native representatives on the commission. This was popularly expected.

Lord Birkenhead, the factual head of India, persuaded his friend, Sir John Simon, to be the head of the commission, and thereupon no Hindu was appointed. The Hindus were horror-stricken. It was considered an act of treachery. Everywhere he went, Simon was pelted with vegetables and epithets, throughout India. Finally he quit. The report of the commission is still pending, but it will not be likely to bring peace. The nationalist party will have nothing to do with it, because of the bungling way it was carried out.

The effect of "Mother India" has been tremendous. The Indians call it rank treachery in representing a condition that does not exist. Others say England ought to keep control over people who cannot run their government any better than it appears in the book.

England has lately been spending money on a larger scale than usual for educational projects, a new capital at Delhi, and more soldiers to cope with the current unrest. All this means money. Taxation was increased. One item was salt, over which England had a monopoly. The new tax raised the retail price 50%. In India 60,000,000

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Federation

The April Board Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs was held on Tuesday, April 22nd, at 2:30 o'clock in the Library of the Technical High School, Newtonville.

In view of the program for the afternoon, business was limited to the secretary's report, the announcement of the name of Mrs. W. J. Freethy as chairman of the Art Exhibit, and the intensely interesting and eagerly awaited report of the nominating committee by the chairman, Mrs. A. S. Ladd, who submitted the following ballot to be voted on at the Annual Meeting, May 6th: President, Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, of the Social Science Club, Newton; first vice-president, Mrs. E. Payson Upham, of the Waban Woman's Club; second vice-president, Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, of the Auburndale Review Club; third vice-president, Mrs. Alden H. Spear, of the Newton Centre Woman's Club; recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Moore, of the Newton Community Club; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham, of the West Newton Women's Educational Club; treasurer, Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas, of the West Newton Community Service Club; auditor, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club; and Nominating committee: Mrs. Richard A. Cody, of Newton Highlands; Mrs. Louis S. Drake, of Newton; Mrs. John H. Eddy, of Newtonville; Mrs. A. Shirley Ladd, of West Newton; Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, of Auburndale; Mrs. B. D. Miller, of Waban; Mrs. C. Frederick Rogers, Jr., of Newton Upper Falls; and Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., chairman, of Newton Centre. It is stated that it has been thought wise to establish the custom of electing the chairman of the Nominating committee of the preceding year to serve in each new Nominating committee.

This business concluded, those present took a bus for a sight-seeing tour of the Newtons, the beautiful spring weather lending much to the enjoyment of an unusual and profitable afternoon. The Civics committee, Mrs. Richard M. Ott, chairman, had prepared the itinerary with brief historical descriptions of the points visited, which were given by the members of the committee from the various villages. As many as possible of Newton's places of interest were visited, the passengers leaving the bus to inspect Norumbega Tower, St. Mary's Church, and the D. A. R. house at Newton Upper Falls, which were very kindly opened for the benefit of the Federation.

All agreed that the Civics committee deserved a vote of thanks for planning such an instructive and enjoyable program, which was in the spirit of this spring Tercentenary season.

Shakespeare Club

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club has had two most interesting meetings during the past two weeks, closing the year on Saturday last with election of new officers. On April 12th, the president, Mrs. W. B. Blakemore entertained as hostess at the home of Mrs. W. F. Pillsbury, of Newton Centre, at which meeting Mrs. L. Pratt was in charge of the program, "The Merchant of Venice".

The situations brought out by the keen questioning of the Quiz were fully discussed by the lovers of Shakespeare present, when "time counted naught".

The Annual Meeting of the Club was held with Mrs. C. O. Bassett, of Hyde street, on Saturday, April 26th. Miss Edith M. McCann gave a book review on Professor Mearns' "Creative Youth", with description of the youthful writers and samples of poetry written by them. The comparison of "Gwendolyn" of Browning's "Blot on the Scutcheon" with "Beatrice" of Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing", by Mrs. H. H. Severance, was the work of an intelligent and faithful scholar: a rare Shakespearean.

The following officers were elected to serve for the year 1930-1931: President, Mrs. H. E. Durgin; vice-president, Mrs. J. F. Cooper; secretary, Mrs. William E. Moore; treasurer, Mrs. Edith M. McCann; auditor, Mrs. Virginia McLean; and Executive Board, Mrs. H. E. Durgin, Mrs. J. F. Cooper, Mrs. W. E. Moore, and Mrs. A. L. Pratt.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Annual Meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held at the Woodland Golf Club on Friday, April 25th. The business meeting opening at 11 o'clock was followed by the reading of reports from officers and chairmen of committees. Luncheon was served at 12:30 p. m. Mrs. Carl L. Schroder and Mrs. Horace B. Gale, the guests of honor, sat at the right of the president, Mrs. Joseph Arthur Otis, and at her left were Mrs. George C. Phipps, an honorary member, and the Club officers.

At the conclusion of the luncheon members and guests repaired to the living-room where an hour of music was given by Mrs. Marie Murray, Contralto, with the added pleasure of Mrs. M. H. Gulesian as accompanist. There was much enjoyed "To Music" by Schubert, and "Quiet" by Sanderson, showed to advantage Mrs. Murray's marvelously beautiful voice. Her "Lullaby," by Cyril Scott, was much appreciated. She then gave "The Last Song," by Rogers, and "The Lamplighter," as an encore. Upon request Mrs. Murray sang Miss Clara E. Sears' "Tercentenary Hymn," a fitting close to the musical program.

The following list of officers was unanimously elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Raymond O. Littlefield; first vice-president, Mrs. Sidney B. Sargent; second vice-president, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay; recording secretary, Mrs. Victor D. Ratzburg; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wilson C. Dort; and treasurer, Mrs. Charles L. Anderson.

The retiring president, Mrs. Otis, said in part: "Our object to awaken and keep alive a general interest in all educational movements has been doubly stimulated this past year because of our fiftieth birthday. By mutual help and co-operation we have lengthened our aspirations, broadened and strengthened our human sympathy, quickened our activities, and we do know that we have found neighbors and friends in those who would, by virtue of living in other communities, still be strangers to us. Many fine speakers have addressed the Club, bringing messages of inspiration and renewed power for progress. The bazaar, managed so successfully by the chairman Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald, enlarged the Club's resources very considerably, so that the entire quota for The Foundation Fund was met immediately and a sum put aside to help make the scholarship self-supporting."

Another outstanding event was entertaining The State Federation at its Mid-Winter meeting. Seven members have been called to their eternal rest in the past two years. It has been a privilege and a pleasure to serve as your president. My last official act, that of placing in the library of the Levi Warren Junior High School a memorial to our beloved past president Mrs. M. Alice Early, makes a fitting close for the fiftieth anniversary of our Club."

Mrs. Otis was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses and a Federation pin. The new president, Mrs. Raymond O. Littlefield, received the gavel, the symbol of order, from the retiring president. Her reply was brief, but in it she expressed her idea as to what the ideals of a Club should be. She pledged her loyalty and sincere efforts for the success of the Club, and thanked the committee for its confidence in her, which has made it possible for her to be the leader.

"There are two objects which I hope we may strive for. We are a Federated Club. I hope we may continue to be of service to the State and National Federation. We are an Educational Club. I hope we may continue to serve the community, in which we live, along educational lines. We have demonstrated the past year what harmony and co-operation can do. I like to think of the individual members as the links in a chain, linked together for a common purpose each in its own way. Whatever achievements may come to the Club, and I want you all to feel that whatever I may do while I am your president will always be with the thoughts of the best interests of the Club, and of the progress of womanhood."

The meeting closed with the custom of long standing—joining of hands forming a circle, and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Social Science Club

The Annual Meeting and luncheon of the Social Science Club was held at Brae Burn Country Club on Wednesday, April 30th. After the luncheon a delightful program was furnished by the Social committee, consisting of two groups of spring songs by Mrs. Arthur J. Mansfield and informal talks by Mrs. Everett E. Kent and Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller.

The officers elected for 1930-1931 are as follows: President, Mrs. Henry I. Harriman; vice-presidents Mrs. William G. Lennox and Mrs. J. Porter Russell; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Herbert Young; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edwin W. Smith; treasurer, Miss Georgia H. Emery; auditor, Miss Caroline R. Braman; and directors, Mrs. James H. Wright, Mrs. Hayward P. Rolfe, and Miss Elizabeth F. Fuller.

Newton Tercentenary PAGEANT PARAGRAPHS

By ERNST HERMANN

Editor's Note:—Second of this interesting series of announcements concerning the production of the Newton Tercentenary Pageant on June 3, 4 and 5, on the Newton Center Playgrounds, is by Mr. Ernst Hermann, General Director of the Pageant. Mr. Hermann, who is nationally known as an authority on recreation and physical education, has been Superintendent of Playgrounds in Newton for the past 17 years. He is also director of the Sargeant School of Boston University and has lectured in Wellesley College and Harvard University. Mr. Hermann is prominently identified with the National Playground and Recreation Association of America.

"When the official Newton Tercentenary Committee was first appointed last year, it authorized me to organize a Committee to study the possibilities of a Newton Pageant and to make suggestions for other forms of celebrating this historical event.

"In this preliminary work we were fortunate in securing men and women of Newton who were not only familiar with Newton and its history, but also have had considerable experience with pageants. The following were the members who reported favorably upon having the main celebration take the form of a pageant: Mr. Edward E. Whiting, Mr. Samuel Thuermer, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, Miss Ethel H. Freeman, and Mr. Chester A. Drummond.

"The Official Tercentenary Committee of which the late Mr. Walter E. C. Worth was the City's official representative, and of which Mr. William H. Rice is Chairman, accepted the report of the original Pageant Committee. It further authorized the Superintendent of Playgrounds to proceed with the organization and the execution of the pageant, and guaranteed $15,000, to cover the expenses.

"The list of committees and the chairmen are as follows: Executive Committee, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, Mr. Edward E. Whiting, Mr. Ernst Hermann; Secretary of the Pageant Committee, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry; General Director of the Pageant, Ernst Hermann; Director of the Pageant, "Newton—The City Beautiful" Mr. Chester Arthur Drummond, Author; Chairman of Committees—Publicity, Press, James Dempsey, Speakers, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer; Caste, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr.; Costumes, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Asst., Miss Anne Bunker; Music, Clark Macomber, Musical Director, Ralph D. MacLean; Dancing, Mrs. Harry P. Forte; Lighting, C. Hassler Capron; Properties, Benjamin Q. Belonga, Miss Gladys L. Forbush, Asst. Walter R. Forbush; Scenery, Ralph C. Henry; Ushers, Lyscom A. Bruce, Jr.; Patrons, Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther, Seating, William P. Morse; Tickets, Frank L. Richardson, Asst. Rupert C. Thompson, Jr.; Programs, John R. Prescott; Posters, W. E. Hill; Emergency and Information, Mrs. Clinton W. Tylee; Grounds, Playground Department.

"A beautiful natural setting is now completed. Several hundred trees, some fifty feet high, have been set out. A huge mound has been built between some of the most beautiful willows which can be found anywhere. Huge rocks and boulders give the effect of a real hardy New England setting. Many visitors have been attracted and already a number of petitions have been received requesting that this setting be kept permanently as an outdoor stage for plays and concerts.

"The pageant will be repeated three times during the first week of June. The first performance will be given Tuesday, June 3, at 9 o'clock. If the weather is favorable the second performance will be given Wednesday, June 4 and the third on Thursday, June 5. If the weather is unfavorable the respective performances so affected will be staged after the next pleasant evening. The Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday performances are numbered respectively first, second and third.

"These three days are therefore fixed dates and anybody buying a ticket for Wednesday could not use this ticket on Thursday, even if Wednesday was rainy and Thursday fair. What would happen in this case is that the Wednesday performance would be called off and changed to Friday providing Tuesday and Thursday evenings were fair. If Tuesday should be rainy and Wednesday and Thursday fair the scheduled Tuesday performance would come on Friday. If Tuesday and Wednesday should be rainy days and Thursday fair Thursday would get the first performance and Friday would get the performance planned for Tuesday and Saturday would get the performance planned for Wednesday.

"Signals are being arranged and their meaning will be published. Daily bulletins will be posted in the Railroad Stations and Postoffices and in the Public Schools.

"There will be approximately 2500 seats. The tickets will be on sale two weeks before the pageant. There will be no reserved seats but there will be one section reserved for patrons."

Miss Eastman sang: "O'camin' Time," "The Slumber Song" and "The Nightingale has a Lyre of Gold."

Daniel O'Donnell of Frawley street, Brookline was in the Newton court last Friday charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and with drunkenness. He was arrested on the evening of April 11 by Patrolman Stevens following a complaint received at police headquarters. Stevens found O'Donnell drunk, standing beside an automobile owned by him. Questioned by Inspector Goode, who was prosecuting the case, Patrolman Stevens testified that he did not ask O'Donnell as to whether, or not, he had been driving the car. O'Donnell testified that he had not been driving the car but that some man named "Smith" had been operating it. According to O'Donnell, Smith was a stranger he had picked up and whose address he does not know. Smith was not on the scene when Patrolman Stevens arrived and arrested O'Donnell. Inspector Goode asked O'Donnell, "Who told you to give this story?" Attorney John O'Neill, who defended O'Donnell, objected to Goode's question. Judge W. Lloyd Allen continued the case for a week.

Leonard McGrath of River street, West Newton was in the Newton court Monday charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. Barbara Dane of 65 Hancock avenue, Newton Centre, charged with violating a traffic ordinance had her case placed on file.

A number of autoists were fined in court Monday for failing to slow down at street intersections. Some of them were caught on Watertown street near where a child was killed by an automobile recently. Others charged with a similar offence and whose cases were placed on file were—Ethel Ross, Brook street, Wellesley; Charles Holmes, Hamilton street, Lower Falls; John McPhail, 129 Jewett street, Newton.

Occasionally some persons will call police headquarters to find out the time. It does not occur to such persons that while they are using the telephone line for such a trivial purpose that they might be delaying an ambulance call.

Gerhardt Lang of Brighton and Irene Hoyle of Roxbury were arrested Monday morning on warrants charging them with having stolen jewelry and other articles from the home of Wilbur Fairfax, Tudor road, Chestnut Hill. They were in the Newton court Monday and their cases were continued to May 2.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The regular April meeting of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., which takes the form of an annual pilgrimage to some historic spot, was held this year at the Hartwell Farm, Lincoln, on April 29, with twenty-nine members and guests attending.

The chapter ratified the pledge of $25 to Constitution Hall which was made by Mrs. Albion Brown, delegate to the Continental Congress.

It was voted to place flowers on the grave of Lucy Partridge Whiting on Memorial Day, as is the custom each year.

Miss Annie S. Head, delegate to the Washington Continental Congress, whose formal report will be heard at the next meeting, gave a short talk on her experiences, and read an editorial from the Washington Post.

Following the business meeting, the regent, Mrs. Tudbury, read one of her own stories entitled, "Through the Eye of Escutney," which held her listeners spellbound with its picture of springtime in rural New Hampshire.

Forest Fire Does Much Damage At Boy Scout Reservation At Nobscot

Eighty Per Cent Burned Over—Twenty Per Cent Devastated—Two Cabins Lost

Started from State road—Swept by high wind. Reforestation to start immediately.

On Sunday last a severe forest fire swept thru the Nobscot Reservation of Norumbega Council, Inc., the Newton organization of the Boy Scouts of America. The Reservation comprises about 200 acres located in Sudbury and Framingham, on and around Nobscot Mountain. 80% of the Reservation was burned over and about 20% actually devastated, where the growth of white pine, juniper and cedar was very heavy.

The fire started from the State road, possibly from a discarded cigarette butt and swept towards the Reservation, fanned by a high northwest wind. The Ranger on the Reservation summoned Scouts from Newton at once; the Sudbury fire department and the state forest fire warden's men were already on the job; the Framingham fire department sent help; last, the Ranger called Chief C. H. Randlett, Fire Chief of Newton and a member of the Norumbega Council. Chief Randlett responded with a truck and crew of men and they all did yeoman work in fighting the fire.

When the fire struck the How Pines, as the grove around the big pond was called, the wind drove it thru the tops of the big pines and nothing could stop it. In fact the men about who have fought fires for years said they never saw anything like it; only a cloud-burst could have saved the Reservation, or stopped the fire vein before it reached the Reservation.

No One Hurt or Lost

The greatest feature of the fire was that not a single man or boy was lost or injured. Scouts of Newton worked under their Scoutmasters and Assistants and other Scouters and the men used the greatest care and caution in handling and working with the Scouts. When fire drove towards groups who were trying to prevent its spread, the men withdrew the Scouts to safety. By ten o'clock the last scouts were out of the Reservation and on their way home. The Ranger, Mr. D. K. Ingram, and State wardens patrolled the Reservation and burned area during the night, to prevent the fire breaking out again. All thru the night and on Monday the fire burned to the south of the Reservation. In the land of M. H. Ellis and Mrs. Peabody, with the Framingham firemen and the State men fighting to get it out. The force was and is handicapped greatly by the dryness of the woods, which are like tinder.

Only Two Cabins Lost

Due to the Council policy of having areas about cabins cleared, only two cabins, in the heart of the pines and cedars were lost. These belong to Troop 5, Center, which was planning a dedication of its cabin—the Clark Alford Memorial Cabin on this Saturday and Troop 18, Center, which was in process of completion. There was no chance to save these cabins, for the fire simply swept over them and around them and drove everyone out.

The cabins of Troops 7, West Newton and 19, Center, were saved by the heroic efforts of a few Scouts who were camping nearby, before any help could get there to help them, the fire moved so rapidly. Other cabins and some woodland were saved by the splendid work of the men and boys. The fire chiefs and State men spoke very highly of the work of the Scouts and men of Newton and complimented them all highly on their efforts.

In the early stages of the fire, before it had reached the Reservation, the Ranger took aboard a load of pump tanks and pails and other fire fighting equipment and started for the northwest end of the Reservation, in his new car. He got into the woods, on General John Nixon road and parked. He took a load of filled tanks and started for the fire. It came so fast, it chased him back to his car, which he backed out and started down the road, out of the Reservation. Before he had gone more than a few feet, the flames were all around and over him and he had to run for his life. Here was a dramatic instant, for he had his famous "Rags," as much an institution at the Reservation as the Ranger himself, with him. He missed the dog and thought he had become panic-stricken and had been burned to death. As he ran, he was chased closely by the flames; he reached the boundary wall and fell over into the meadow, on the green grass; there was Rags, running back and forth, looking for his master's trail. There was a joyous reunion and then Ranger went back to work.

Reforestation to Start at Once

On Monday afternoon, the President of the Council, the State Forester, Mr. H. O. Cook, a member of the Troop 15, Auburnville Committee and the camp director, with the Ranger, made a tour of the burned area. Mr. Cook laid out a suggested plan for reforestation immediately and this will be done immediately after the first soaking rains. Mr. Cook has given, from the State Nurseries, 20,000 five-year-old white pines, which will be used over forty acres, or about the entire devastated area. During the summer the burned timber will be cleared off that area and next spring will see a great change in that section.

All reforestation and planting will be done on a definite plan to reduce to a minimum any further hazard; there will be a fire lane of 100 feet left around the entire property and the remaining land will be wholly cleared to eliminate the fire hazard there.

On Thursday night, the sub-committee of the Executive Board of the Council met to lay out definite plans for making the Reservation even more beautiful than before. Every Scout and man in the Council will work for the future of the Reservation, that the Scouts to come may have a most paradise-like place for their camping program.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL SUSTAINS ALDERMEN IN CEMETERY FILLING STATION PERMIT

As a result of a hearing held on April 24 at the State House before State Fire Marshal Reth, the appeal entered by George M. Heathcote, attorney for Mrs. Mary O'Connor has been denied. The appeal was taken from the action of the Newton Board of Aldermen in granting a permit for a gasoline filling station to the Newton Cemetery Corporation.

HISTORY OF NEWTON WRITTEN

Prof. Henry K. Rowe of Newton Highlands has completed his work of writing a history of Newton. Mayor Childs appointed Prof. Rowe last year to write a history of this city which would supplement those written by Francis Jackson and Rev. S. F. Smith. Jackson's history covered the annals of this community from its first settlement in 1639 down to 1890. Its author was a descendant of Newton's first settler. Dr. Smith, famous as the author of the hymn "America," brought the history of this city up to the last quarter of the 19th century. Prof. Rowe's manuscript has been turned over to Mayor Weeks who will ask the Aldermen to appropriate money to enable the history to be published.

Grant Permit For W. Newton Theatre

Mayor Imposes Several Restrictions To License

Permit for a motion picture theatre in West Newton, conditional upon the acceptance of certain restrictive requirements, was granted yesterday by Mayor Sinclair Weeks to Mr. Bennett Rockman of the Kenmore Realty Corporation, Boston. Vote of the residents of West Newton, which Mayor Weeks required the petitioners to take before he would give his decision on the application, showed an overwhelming desire for the motion picture theatre in West Newton. More than three to one voted in favor of a theatre location.

The petitioners showed plans to Mayor Weeks for a modern theatre capable of seating a total of 1,557 persons—1,172 on the main floor and 385 in the balcony. In connection with the theatre building, moreover, there will be 11 stores facing on Washington street, a large vestibule, lobby and foyer. There will also be on the first floor a ladies lounge and a men's smoking room. The proposed location is in Washington street on the site of the present Players' Hall.

Mayor Weeks' communication granting the permit provisionally is as follows:

I shall grant a moving picture theatre license to operate seven days a week, to be exercised on the property at No. 1300 Washington street, West Newton, provided the following conditions are complied with:

First that a lease satisfactory to the Players' Inc., be executed with that organization. Second that the front elevation of the theatre shall be approved by me before erection. Third that the lessee of the theatre be a responsible company satisfactory to me as far as responsibility is concerned. Fourth that no advertising matter be displayed outside of the theatre except as follows: the name of the play, name or names of principal actors, and photographs of the actors in frames. One frame on either side of the entrance, not to exceed in dimensions three feet by five feet, together with the usual electric display signs.

PLAN BIG MEMORIAL DAY PARADE

Plans are underway to make the Memorial Day parade this year the largest which this city has ever observed. Mayor Weeks, who will officiate as Chief Marshal of the parade, has extended invitations to all fraternal and civic organizations in the city to participate. Besides Company C of the 101st Infantry, there will be a battery of Field Artillery, a cavalry troop and a company of engineers in line. The parade will start at Newton Corner and proceed by way of Washington street to Newtonville, thence along Walnut street to Newton Cemetery. From the cemetery the parade will proceed, following the usual exercises at the Soldiers' Monument, to Newton Centre Playground where ceremonies appropriate to the Tercentenary will be held. A lunch will be served at the playground to those who will march.

IMPROVING MORE STREETS

Work began Monday on resurfacing Washington street, West Newton between the Boston & Albany railroad bridge and Commonwealth avenue. The surface will be of bituminous material laid by Warren Bros. Company. Work on the resurfacing of Beacon street between Gordon road and Windmill street will start today. This street work will be also done by the Warren Brothers Corporation and the material used will be the same as on Washington street.

Newton War Memorial On Sale

Graphic Issues Interesting Volume On Newton's Part in War

The Newton Graphic has just published a beautifully printed and attractively bound volume entitled "Newton War Memorial." In the Foreword the publisher states "The part that Newton took in the World War through its men and women and in particular by its youth, deserves the pen of an experienced historian for it is a record of which all of us can be justly proud."

The book contains a full account of general war time conditions, a report of the various activities of the Committee of Public Safety, and the work of the women's clubs and the churches.

The splendid record made by our people in the Liberty and Victory Loans and in the various drives for funds for other patriotic purposes is detailed at length.

Considerable space is given to the work of the Draft Board including the names of over 2900 draftees as well as the various assignments given them. An interesting account of how the Selective Service act functioned is a feature of this part of the volume.

The book also contains the rosters of all the military organizations credited to Newton including Co. C 101st Infantry, Battery B 101st Artillery, Company A 11th Infantry State Guard and the Newton Constabulary.

A full list of all commissioned officers in the Army and Navy from Newton, some 400 in all, will be of more than passing interest. There is also a list of those who earned citations both in the United States and abroad.

The high spot of the Memorial, however, is the section devoted to those who "gave the last full measure of devotion." Half tone portraits and life sketches of fifty of the boys who were killed or died as a result of the war are featured and the official record of 194 men given in full.

An entire section of the book is devoted to the various memorials erected in the city and the report of the aldermanic committee on a last-ling memorial is given complete.

The volume also contains the portraits and life sketches of representative men of Newton, and illustrations of Newton's attractive homes and buildings.

The book of over 200 pages is beautifully printed by the Graphic Press and has an unique binding with the words "Newton War Memorial" and a gold star on the front cover.

Distribution to subscribers of the Memorial is now being made and a limited number will be on sale at the office of the Newton Graphic at $5 each.

NEW BUILDING AT NEWTONVILLE WILL NARROW SIDEWALKS

Work on the construction of the foundation for the new block at Washington and Walnut streets, Newtonville, which will be erected on the site of the Central Block, reveals the fact that the new building will project a few feet further out on the sidewalk than did the Central Block. Citizens of Newtonville, indignant at what they suppose is an intrusion upon land which has been used as a public sidewalk for sixty years, complained to the Ward 2 aldermen. Inquiries at the City Engineer's office resulted in the information that the owners of the new building are within their rights in extending the new building out onto the supposed public sidewalk. According to the City Engineer the land which is to be occupied by the new building has been defined by bound markings and has had taxes assessed upon it. The present wide sidewalk will be narrowed in places to 8 feet. The building, thus projecting out, will spell the present street line at Newtonville square.

REP. BAKER TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL

As we go to press word has been received that Rep. William B. Baker was taken suddenly ill this morning during a hearing by the House Ways and Means Committee of which he is a member. Physicians were summoned and he was taken to another room at the State House where he was revived. The room in which the hearing was being held has no windows and it is believed that the heavy air was too much for Mr. Baker. After receiving treatment he was taken to his home in West Newton.

Aldermen Act On Gasoline Stations, Tercentenary And Other Matters

Eight Members of Board Oppose Additional Appropriations For Tercentenary

"That it pays to be persistent" was indicated Monday night at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen when a permit was granted to Jacob Klugman for a 10 car garage and a gasoline filling station at 456 Watertown street, Newtonville. The tenacity of purpose of Klugman's son, Reuben, was responsible for the successful culmination of many years' effort on the part of the House of Klugman for the privilege of using the property at the Watertown street location for garage and filling station business.

Other "gasoline" matters acted on by the Board Monday night were the petitions of the Texas Company for increased storage capacity at their stations—Boylston and Chestnut streets, Upper Falls; Needham street, Newton Highlands; 1974 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls.

The Aldermen granted the petitions of the Texas Company to store 1000 additional gallons of gasoline at its stations—769 Beacon street, Newton Centre, and 1149 Walnut street, Newton Highlands. The Licenses Committee reported favorably on the petition of Nils Eng for a filling station permit at 14 Elliot street, near Boylston street, Newton Highlands. Alderman Powers asked that the permit for the Eng station be held up until an agreement would be received from the petitioner regarding the appearance of the proposed station. The Ward 1 alderman referred to a suggestion made recently by Alderman Temperley that a permit for a SHELL gasoline filling station be held up until that company would agree not to paint the new station with its glaring red and yellow color scheme. Alderman Powers called attention to the change which has been made at Colonial Filling Stations. These stations were formerly painted white with a light green trim. They have been painted a vivid green from top to bottom and neat appearing brick buildings at these stations have been daubed green from the ground to the ridge pole. The Ward 1 member contended that there seems to be a competition between certain gasoline companies to make their stations the most conspicuous; owners or occupants of property in Newton should not be forced to have glaringly painted filling stations thrust before their gaze continually.

To prove that the Aldermen do not show discrimination in drawing names for jury duty, Alderman Pratt drew the name of Alderman John Gordon to serve as a juror at the session of the Superior Court in Cambridge on May 19. Other names whose owners must serve as jurors at the Middlesex Superior Court sessions are—Ralph French, 250 Austin street; John C. Duff, 216 Valentine street; Clifton Bassett, 74 Prescott street; Frank Seaman, Jr., 145 Pine Ridge road; Howard Eagle, 632 Boylston street; Edward McHugh, Jr., 936 Walnut street; Norman Southworth, 607 Watertown street; George Porter, 216 Cherry street; Carroll Wakefield, 12 Murray road; Fred L. Greene, 52 Elm street.

Finance Committees discussed the matter of altering the heating plant at the high school. They were in conference with Mr. Hubbard, a heating engineer, Buildings Commissioner Chadwick and George Keller, secretary of the School Department. No definite agreement, apparently was reached, as no report was made after the lengthy conference had concluded.

Among the appropriations recommended by the Finance Committee was one of $4000 for expenses in connection with the Tercentenary Celebration. This is to be in addition to the $15,000 already appropriated for the pageant. Alderman Pratt, a member of the Tercentenary Committee, read a list of the items for which the $4000 would be expended. It includes—6 signs to mark entrances to city, $2000; 10,000 programs to be distributed by Boy Scouts, $1200; 10,000 badges for school children, $500; bronze tablet to mark site of first house in city at Washington street and Waverley avenue, $350; bronze tablet to replace broken tablet at Eliot Memorial on Eliot Memorial Road, $310; repairs to monument in honor of first settlers, located in old Centre street cemetery, $45; bronze tablet and boulder at site of training ground and old powder mill at village green, Newton Centre, $450; boulder and bronze tablet to mark site of first mill in city near Bullough's Pond outlet, Walnut street, $350; printing and postage for campaign to clean up village centres, $20; prizes for essay contest for school children, $125; Art Exhibit, $100; golf contest, three prizes, $100; squash tennis, two prizes, $75; tennis, four prizes $100; track meet, medals for prizes, $115; swimming events, medals for prizes, $115; baseball championship, twelve gold balls for prizes, $100; playground prizes $125.

Alderman Powers opposed the appropriation. He said that last autumn the Board agreed to a request made by the late Alderman Walter Worth for an appropriation of $5000 for the Tercentenary Pageant, with the understanding that $15,000 would eventually be appropriated for this pageant. Subsequently the stock market collapsed with the result that hard times have been general in this country. Thousands of business concerns have either failed or are in adverse circumstances, hundreds of thousands of persons formerly comparatively wealthy are now in need, millions of working people have been unemployed for months and lack the necessities of life. The Ward 1 alderman stated that he believes in properly honoring the memory of the founders of this Commonwealth, but under existing economic conditions the $4000 should be expended to relieve suffering in this city and not used as an additional appropriation for the Tercentenary Celebration. The frugal Puritans would not approve of such action.

Alderman Floyd, chairman of the Aldermanic Committee assisting in the Tercentenary Celebration called attention to the fact that ex-Mayor Childs had agreed with the Tercentenary Committee to recommend an appropriation. (Continued on Page 6)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

TERCENTENARY SPORTS PLANNED

In connection with the celebration of the Tercentenary in Newton a committee on sports was appointed several weeks ago to arrange a schedule of athletic events. This committee, comprised of C. V. Moore, chairman, Wm. S. Osborne, G. W. Brainerd, Robert Bray, Richard Bishop, John J. Hines, and John J. Lane, has announced the following plans.

In all sports the senior events will be open to those who have been residents of the city for one year. An elimination golf tourney will be held. Trial rounds will be played on the Albemarle, Woodland, Charles River and Commonwealth links with the finals being staged at Brae Burn. The winner of the low net score in the finals will be declared the champion of the city. It is planned to complete this event on a date to be set in July.

Tennis tournaments will start in June to decide both the men's singles champion and ladies' singles champion. Matches will be played on the city playground and such other courts as may be designated.

The latter part of June a track meet will be held. A series of races at standard distances is expected to attract the entry of all the college and high school athletes as well as others and produce a competition well worth witnessing.

Due to the lateness of the season the squash championship will not be determined until next October when competitors will be assigned to play their matches on the Newton Club, Newton Y. M. C. A. or Newton Centre Tennis Club squash courts. The winner will be the amateur champion of Newton.

Swimming races will be held at Crystal Lake sometime in July. The new bathhouse will be completed at that time. Standard events, including races for men, ladies, boys and girls will be held.

The juvenile sport program for children under the direction of the playground will be held with the usual events on the program.

Suitable trophies and medals will be awarded the winners in the various sports with each medal bearing a special design for the Tercentenary year. The Newton baseball league will have a trophy to compete for during the summer schedule and each member of the winning team will receive a medal with the Tercentenary design. Further details and information regarding entry in the various sports will be announced shortly.

SPORT NOTES

Auburndale Cubs Beaten
The Whalen Club of Chelsea defeated the Auburndale Cubs last Sunday afternoon on the Auburndale playground, 11 to 5. Wellington with two hits out of four and Young with two out of three made four of the home team's seven hits. The visitors touched up Hawks and Blanch, Auburndale twirlers, for seventeen hits including four doubles and a triple.

Town Team Defeated
The Newton Town Team was unable to hit the offering of Charley Byrd of the Curley Club of Boston last Sunday on the Boston Common and was on the short end of a 7 to 1 count. Waterman, one-armed Newton pitcher, got a scratch single to keep Byrd from pitching a no-hit game. Herron, Newton catcher, scored the only Newton run. The Curley club players found Waterman for fifteen hits.

McCrudden Fifth
Jimmie McCrudden of Newtonville was fifth in the half-mile run at the Greater Boston Intercollegiate Track meet at the Stadium last Saturday. The event was won by Dave Cobb of Harvard in 1m 57.3-5s which was fast time considering the gale which swept across the enclosure. McCrudden placed second to Cobb in the trial heat on Friday.

Harvard Blanks C. C. N. Y.
The Harvard tennis team blanked the College of the City of New York on the courts last Friday, 7 to 0. Malcolm Hill of Waban, playing number two for Harvard, won his singles match and teamed with Daggett to win in doubles.

Huntington 11, Country Day 2.
Huntington defeated Country Day at Cabot Field last Friday 11 to 2, bunching many of its thirteen hits off White and Gleason. Country Day took a one-run lead in the third but came back with two in the fourth and four in the fifth and was never headed.

Exeter Keeps Going
Captain Frank Spain and his Exeter academy mates kept their 1930 slate clean by swamping the Harvard freshman nine last Saturday at Exeter in a one-sided 14 to 1 game. Spain scored two runs and got one hit in four tries.

Fletcher Wins Game
The heavy stickwork of Allie Fletcher of the Yale freshman nine enabled the Eli cubs to defeat Andover academy last Saturday at Andover, 6 to 4. Fletcher's triple in the third accounted for three runs and his double in the sixth sent two more over.

OUR LADY WINS TWO TO LEAD LEAGUE

The baseball team of the Our Lady high school won two games the last week to take the leading position in the Catholic high school league and also to keep its record for the season clear. Last week Friday the local nine swamped the Immaculate Conception high of Revere on the Revere field, 15 to 1 and on Tuesday of this week pounded out a 15 to 2 victory over St. Clement's high of Medford at Tufts Park.

In beating Immaculate, four run rallies in the second and third and a five run spurge in the ninth clinched the game. O'Neill and Cannon hit home runs while the Revere nine's only tally was a homer by McDermott. Cannon led the Our Lady nine at bat with three hits in six trips to the plate. Murphy pitched a good game, allowing but four hits, fanning nine and passing by one.

In Tuesday's game Our Lady started in the first inning with five runs and added seven more in the sixth before St. Clement's scored in the last of the seventh. Murphy was on the mound again and turned the home team back with but five hits, he fanned fourteen and did not issue a pass. Meanwhile, the Newton players were pounding the St. Clement's pitcher for nineteen hits, including a home run with none out by Jim Manning in the eighth and a triple by O'Neill. Cannon collected three hits in his four times up while McDermott and Manning each got three out of five. Every man on the team got at least one hit. Gramow, Gallagher, Cobble and O'Neill each got two out of five while Fitzgibbons and Murphy got one apiece.

MEDFORD TRACK TEAM WINS MEET

Newton high lost its first outdoor track meet of the season on Tuesday when the Medford runners took them over the jumps, 43 to 29, on the Medford track.

Newton won but two first places with Milton Green taking the 80-yard low hurdles and James Colligan the shotput. Green was handicapped by an injured knee in the high jump, tying for third.

Walter Holmes in the 100-yard dash, Charles Hall in the half-mile and the hurdles, Milton Green in the broad jump and John Grist in the high jump were second place winners.

Alfred Mouser in the 220, Alfred Guzzi in the 440, and Gordon Linberg in the shotput took third places while Milton Green and Sewall Champion tied for third in the high jump.

It was the first Medford victory in a dual meet with Newton since 1927. The big surprise came in the century when Charles Higgins of Medford came from behind to beat Holmes by a yard. The 220 provided the best competition with Miller and Hersey of Medford and Mouser of Newton finishing in that order six inches apart after racing abreast for the last thirty yards. Medford's first in the high and broad jumps were unexpected points due to the injury to Green but Colligan's winning heave in the shotput of 43 ft. 6 in. was not expected to win as DeBenedictis, the Medford football star, has put the shot close to fifty feet. His best put was but 40 feet 10 inches for second place.

OPEN TENNIS SEASON
Newton high opened its tennis season last Saturday at Andover and suffered a 9 to 0 shutout at the hands of the prep school outfit. The summary:

Singles—Smith, Andover, beat Dunnell, 6-3, 6-2; Paine, Andover, beat Jarrell, 4-6, 6-1; Root, Andover, beat Giddings, 6-4, 6-2; Crosby, beat Brennan, 6-0, 6-4; Evans, Andover, beat Hoag, 6-4, 6-0; Upton, Andover, beat Billings, Newton High, 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.

Doubles—Smith and Paine, Andover, beat Dunnell and Jarrell, 6-4, 10-8; Rootback and Crosby, Andover, beat Giddings and Brennan, 6-0, 6-2; Lincoln and Platt, Andover, beat Hoag and Billings, 6-2, 6-3.

BROOKLINE WINS CLOSE GAME 4-2

The Newton high team lost its third straight league game last Saturday when Brookline high gained a 4 to 2 verdict at the Cypress street field in Brookline. A close decision at the plate in the third inning was the break of the game that turned the tide in Brookline's favor.

Tom Rhodes went the full distance for Newton and was supported in fine style by his teammates. It was their first errorless game of the season. Newton took a one run lead at the start. With one out Elrod was hit by one of Madden's fast balls. Dalton drew a pass. Bennett singled to centre to score Elrod. Dalton and Bennett moved along on Hildreth's slow roller to short but Butler fanned. Brookline got a runner around to third in the last of the first but he was stranded. He had singled, the next batter drew a pass, Rhodes fanned the next and the two base runners moved along on Larkin's grounder to Doucette. Ainsworth lined to Barry for the third out.

Rhodes was hit by a pitched ball with two down but was left when Doucette fanned in the second. Wolcott's single was all for Brookline. Madden fanned Elrod, Dalton and Bennett in the third. In the last half of the inning with one down Noonan singled to centre. William Timmons singled to right, putting Noonan on second. Larkin singled to centre and Noonan raced for home. Elrod made a pretty peg and Fine swung the ball around to tag Noonan on the back. Fine was between the umpire and Noonan and the former ruled Fine did not touch Noonan. The next batter died to Butler but Jamie, the next batter came through with a hit, to score both Timmons and Larkin who had moved to third and second on the play for Noonan at the plate. Wolcott was out, Bennett to Butler. Had Noonan been called out no runs would have been scored by Brookline in this inning.

In the next three innings Brookline was out in order but in the seventh they added another tally. With two down, three hits and two stolen bases put J. Timmons across the plate. Until the ninth Newton went down in order in every inning after the third. Fine had reached first by a hit in the fifth but was out stealing. In the ninth Elrod beat out an infield hit. Dalton hit to the second baseman who muffed the ball and both were safe. Bennett fanned. Hildreth hit at second. The second baseman threw wild to first and Elrod scored with Hildreth taking second. Butler fanned to end the game.

NEWTON SWAMPED BY B. C. HIGH

The Boston College High School baseball team swamped Newton high Wednesday afternoon at Claffin Field in a seven-inning game, 18 to 4. The visitors combined nine hits, one a home run, with many Newton errors to make a runaway of the game. They scored twice in the first, twice in the third, nine times in the fourth and five times in the fifth. George Bennett, Newton third base man saved his team a shut out by opening the last half of the second inning with a clean home run to right centrefield. Bobby Ott, B. C. high centrefielder, hit for the circuit to open the fifth.

Newton scored its second tally in the fifth with two down. Doucette singled to left, moved to second on a bad throw by the pitcher to catch him off first, took third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch. In the seventh Fine struck out but reached base on an error. McCarthy, batting from the backstop, McCarthy, batting for Elrod, singled down the right field foul line to put Fine on third where Stromborn ran for him, scoring on another wild pitch. Doucett filed to centre and Litchfield to the third baseman. Meanwhile McCarthy had stolen second. Bennett hit to the short stop who threw wild to first, scored McCarthy scored. Hildreth singled, putting Bennett on third, and stole second but Rhodes fanned to end the rally.

The visitors' eighteen runs came as the result of some of the weirdest baseball imaginable. Harvey, the first man up in the game, singled to left and stole second. Hildreth, who was catching as both Fine and Champagne become ineligible next week to leave the team without an experienced catcher, threw over Doucette's head and Harvey continued to third. Doucette retrieved the ball and threw it over Bennett's head to let Harvey score. Ott, who followed, drew a base on balls and completed the circuit on two errors. With one down in the second Riley singled but Bleiler, attempting to sacrifice, popped up a little fly to Kraber, who started in the box for Newton, and Riley was easily doubled at first base.

Kraber was pitching a fair brand of ball but got no support from his teammates. In the first he mixed up two passes with three strikeouts after the two runs had scored. In the second the double play cut off any rally. In the third B. C. high scored two more runs on a couple of errors. In this inning Kraber fanned two. In the fourth he got into deep water with two singles and a sacrifice putting two runners in position to score. Kraber passed the next man to fill the bases and then Bennett muffed Ott's grounder to let one run in. Chipman took Kraber's place and passed the first man he faced to force in a second run. This was the start of the big parade for the Boston team. Chipman hit Wise to force another run over and Dalton took over the burden. Hildreth going into left field and Champagne behind the bat. Elrod tried hard on a running catch of Softie's fly but dropped it and another run came over. A scratchy infield hit and three clean singles accounted for the remainder of the nine run spurge. Ott's homer in the fifth began another rally which put the visitors' total at eighteen. Tommy Rhodes, Newton freshman, pitched the last two innings and was not scored on. In the last inning he hit Softie and Mahoney got on when Doucette dropped the ball on a force play at second.

CENTRAL CHURCH WOMEN MEET

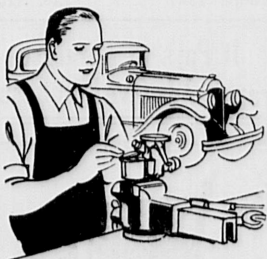

Circus talent which Ringling Brothers have evidently overlooked was revealed at the Play Day festivities of the Woman's Association of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville held in the church parlors on Wednesday, May 7. After the luncheon, served at one o'clock to 180 members and guests, the fun started with the circus parade, under the direction of Mrs. S. L. Sholley who proved to be a very competent ring master.

A kitchen band, consisting of Mrs. Ralph W. Conant, Mrs. G. W. Aury, Mrs. J. F. Shattuck, Miss Isabelle Chute, Mrs. H. M. Waybright, and Mrs. E. L. Nichols, contrived to make music with various culinary and household implements, a carpet sweeper and mop forming a harp.

Constitutional meeting in the audience when Mrs. Arthur M. Ellis wife of the pastor, had her pocket picked by Mrs. J. W. Byers, but Mrs. F. M. Blanchard, in the role of policeman promptly made the "pinch." No sooner had order been restored when Mrs. M. S. Giles and her obstreperous son Mrs. C. W. Davidson, created another disturbance whereupon Mrs. Blanchard removed them.

Mrs. P. E. Woodward as Venus De Milo was wooed by Mrs. Samuel Thurbur, a clown, who was soon joined by other clowns in the persons of Mrs. F. R. Clark, Mrs. H. B. Sherman, and Mrs. A. H. Burdick. Mrs. Sherman proved to be the clown of clowns. Betty Bobyns as a bareback dancer was drawn in a chariot by Mrs. Robert C. Kelley, dressed in a gypsy costume.

Donald Rust and Richard Kemper did a tumbling act which was the feature of the afternoon. Mrs. H. P. Patey and Mrs. W. E. Strong appeared as the groom and bride respectively with Miss Barbara Lounsbury as train bearer. Leighton Harris exhibited the smallest camel in captivity, and Mrs. W. B. Hanna personified a bear led by Mrs. J. Walter Allen as keeper. Mrs. R. C. Ashenden appeared as the hand organ man with a monkey, and other well known circus characters were Mrs. J. A. Brickett as a collapsible man and Mrs. D.

Feeling Thrifty?..

WANT to cut car costs? Who doesn't, on occasions! We know how it is... so does Goodrich, whose tires we sell.

Goodrich, you see, realizes that all of us like a bargain now and then. But they can't see why a bargain tire can't be a good tire.

So their engineers got together awhile back. Set out to build an outstanding tire at a sensationally low price. A tire that could carry the name Goodrich. A tire that would live up to Goodrich standards on the road.

Result... the Cavalier. Big and husky. Oversize in air cushion. Thicker and tougher in tread. Built to fight off rough roads and high speeds and take its own sweet time about wearing out.

But—built to sell at prices that beat even ordinary tires for real savings.

We've got a full stock of Cavaliers on hand right now. All sizes... including a couple for trucks. And as our contribution to this money-saving party, we're offering them at special prices. Cutting the figures even lower than they usually are.

We want you to see this tire. Want you to look over our prices. Come in... see what we've got... and you'll walk out with a nice saving in your pocket!

Newton Tercentenary PAGEANT PARAGRAPHS

By RALPH COOLIDGE HENRY

Editor's Note: The author of this article is Chairman of the Committee on Scenery of the Newton Tercentenary Pageant, which will be held on the Newton Centre Playground June 3rd, 4th, and 5th. He is a prominent architect, a member of the firm of Henry & Richmond, successors to Guy Lowell, and a member of the Boston Chapter American Institute of Architects. He was the architect for the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, among other noted structures, and has been selected by Mayor Weeks as architect of the new South Side Junior High School.

"Let us project our thoughts, in imagination, to the middle of next June. Among other conversations we shall then be apt to hear is the following:

"Did you see the Pageant at the Newton Centre Playground on June 3rd, 4th, or 5th?"

"You may be sure I did. It was an outstanding success and captivating in its beauty throughout." "There is nothing more fascinating than the natural grace and the self-conscious charm of youthful dancers well trained and well-costumed. I understand they were all girls from the Newton Schools. The book of the Pageant was beautifully conceived. I had not realized that there was so much of dramatic interest and of historic importance attaching to the beginnings of our home city. Ned Childs made a convincing Moderator. The music was appropriately chosen and extremely well-rendered."

"Among the replies to the above question we shall not be apt to hear, is—"No, I had not heard there was to be a Pageant."

"It is the purpose of this brief article to give you some idea of the scheme of the stage settings. It will be followed by other articles on other phases of our common enterprise.

"The site chosen for the staging of Mr. Drummond's beautiful Pageant was not without great natural charm as such modifications and embellishments as it seemed wise to effect were strongly suggested by the existing conditions. Here was a natural amphitheatre of generous proportions, with the ground sloping gently upward toward the south, needing only adequate seating accommodations and such rectification of the greensward as would provide a level lawn for the foreground stage and a suitable footing for the dancers. Here also was a beautiful natural brook near which grow remarkable groups of ancient willows of enormous size and placed by one of nature's more fortunate accidents, in an almost ideal relationship, to the brook and the general setting, to form a monumental outdoor proscenium, or frame of the stage picture. The brook lacked only a sufficient breadth to make it convincing and this has been accomplished by the simple expedient of damming its flow at the requisite level.

"Beyond the brook the raised stage has been created through the use of grass-decked mounds in the forward banks of which are embedded natural rockeries and live trees grouped as the various picture episodes require. The background is also of a host of natural trees in simulation of the early forests of Nonantum, 'ere white men came to touch its loveliness to greater beauty."

"For such later scenes as bring our

Pageant within range of living memories, the settings are appropriately painted upon canvas-covered frames introducing only such elements as require conventionality in their treatment if we are to have a fitting background of such episodes as the Town Meeting, the Grandfather's scene and the final Garden scene.

"For the Modes and Manners scene of the third episode, historically of the first half of the nineteenth century, we find the little old red schoolhouse at stage-right and the Church at stage-left. The sentinels which our fathers built to guard the freedom bought with a great price, the setting for such stirring events as immediately antedated the Civil War.

"Our effort has been to create a scene, or series of scenes, which shall reflect that natural, rather than artificial, beauty of field and river and hill and tree which has always been an outstanding and almost unique characteristic of this Garden City of homes.

"This is the rich heritage which all right-thinking Newton citizens are zealous to preserve and this is one element to which Mr. Drummond's Pageant gives bold relief, lest we forget."

In the coming three-cornered contest for the Republican nomination for district attorney for Middlesex county, we shall support the candidacy of the present first assistant district attorney, Warren L. Bishop. Mr. Bishop was for four years second assistant district attorney and on the advent of Mr. Bushnell in 1923 as district attorney, became the first assistant. He has thus had a splendid experience in that office, and is justified in having an ambition to succeed Mr. Bushnell as district attorney. Mr. Bishop's candidacy is favored by the jurors who have served with him in the criminal courts and by thousands of lawyers and prominent citizens.

We do not understand the right or the reason why the Newton assessors oppose legislation increasing the present exemption on personal property from $1000 to $1500. The proposed legislation was unanimously reported by the committee on Taxation and was approved by both branches of the Legislature. It was vetoed by Governor Allen on the ground that the increased exemption would entail an additional tax on real estate. In effect therefore, the action of our assessors in opposing this legislation was to favor one class of tax payers as against that of another. Regardless of the merits of the case, and there is much to say in favor of the increased exemption, we believe it is no business of the assessors to take sides on matters of this sort. Theirs is an administrative office—not legislative. Let us merely call attention to the fact that an exemption of $1000 twenty years ago was of far greater benefit to the tax payer than at the present time, due to the decreased value of the dollar. We call the attention of our readers to the discussion of this matter in our exclusive feature "Under the Gilded Dome."

Republicans who voted for Senator Walsh in 1928 are probably very much pleased with his vote on the confirmation of Judge Parker.

By Edw. H. Powers

Mrs. Ella Mason, retired police matron, will in the future obtain a pension which will be $672 annually instead of the meagre $300 she has been getting. This increased pension for Mrs. Mason, as well as increased pensions for other retired city employees, resulted from a bill which was introduced in the Legislature by City Solicitor Bartlett after having received the approval of the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen.

Complaints are being made in Newton about a smoke nuisance resulting from the improper combustion of oil fuel used in the power plant of one of the factories there.

The thousands of friends of former Mayor Edwin O. Childs sympathize with him and his sisters in the death of their mother, Mrs. Caroline A. Childs.

Mayor Weeks' buddies had a royal time last Saturday night at Dover when they gave him a testimonial dinner and presented him with a desk set. The men who served under the Mayor in B Battery of the 191st Field Artillery evidently think well of their former commander.

The Newton police should turn their attention from autoists who fail to STOP before entering Washington street to drivers who fail to slow down when they observe cars which are entering the through way from side streets. A large percentage of selfish operators of motor cars speed along Washington street and force other drivers who are well out onto that street, coming from side streets, to apply brakes quickly to avoid collisions. A car which is entering a through street has the right of way over a car approaching from the left when that car is any distance removed. But it is a common occurrence for drivers 200 or more feet distant to continue on at unchecked speed when they observe some other autoist emerging from a side street. Such road-hogs use through streets for speedways.

At 12:45 last Friday noon we started to cross Centre street, opposite the Newton Library. No automobiles appeared approaching as we started to cross the street. But as we emerged

Silver Hoard Put Away

by Romans Unearthed

At Caerleon in Monmouthshire, where, a Roman legionary fortress stood to keep the Welsh marches for the Caesars in the Third century, excavators digging there unearthed some interesting secrets.

The one that is the oddest is that of the three centuries of the Second Augustan legion whose names, Quintinus Aquila, Vibius Proculus, and Vibius Severus, have been newly found. One of them must have been a hard-faced man who had done very well out of the war (like some men of a later day).

Whether it was hidden by Quintinus Aquila or by one of the two named Vibius we may never know; but beneath the floor of the quarters of one of these three centuries was a hoard of 280 silver coins. They may have been wrung from the neighboring Britons. Perhaps they were part of the military chest of the soldiers.

Some of the companies of the legion about that time appear to have been given marching orders for the north, where they were to take part in the work on Hadrian's wall.

Untimely End to Lives

of Brave Adventurers

It is remarkable how few of the eminent men of the discoverers and conquerors of America died in peace. Columbus died broken-hearted, Roldin and Bobadilla were drowned, Ovando was harshly superseded, Les Casas sought refuge in a cowl, Ojeda died in extreme poverty, Encisco was deposed by his own men, Nicuesa perished miserably by the cruelty of his party, Vasco Nunez de Balboa was disgraced by being beheaded, Narvaez was imprisoned in a tropical dungeon, and afterward died of hardship, Cortes was dishonored, Alvarado was destroyed in ambush, Almagro was garroted, Pizarro was murdered, and his four brothers cut off, and there was no end to the assassinations and executions of the secondary chiefs among the energetic and daring adventurers.

Floral Barometers

The sturdy marigolds which enliven our gardens are splendid weather prophets. If the flower is tightly closed in the morning, you may rest assured that there is rain to come, but with true intuition they seem overbold just now in spreading their petals. The scarlet pipernel is also sensitive to rain, and even an approaching shower will send its petals curling in. From this peculiarity the pipernel takes its name of the "poor man's barometer." Contrary to these flowers, when the dandelion closes up its petals in the morning, a fine day lies ahead, because it does not like too much sun.

Cause of Hailstorms

The causes which fall during ordinary hailstorms measure from one-eighth to one-half inch in diameter, their size depending upon the violence of the upward columns of air that produce them. Hail, like rain, is caused by the vertical circulation of the air. Rain is formed by the condensation of drops of moisture in cooling air which grow larger as the air rises until they are heavy enough to fall. Each of the drops rises and falls at least once. Hail, which is frozen rain, is caused by the drops being tossed higher.

Electrons in Atom

Physicists of today state that there is evidence that all atoms known have in them a certain definite number of negative electrons and exactly the same number of positive electrons. For instance, the lead atom consists of a positive nucleus charge of 82 units about which 82 electrons revolve; zinc, a nucleus charge of 30 units with 30 revolving electrons; helium, a nucleus charge of 2 units with 2 revolving electrons; sulphur, a nucleus charge of 16 units with 16 revolving electrons; platinum, 78; gold, 79; radium, 88, etc.

Magnetic Poles

The geographical poles are the points at the imaginary ends of the earth's axis of rotation, lying 90 degrees north and south latitude. The magnetic poles are the points on the earth's surface where the lines of magnetic forces are vertical. They are the ends of the axis of the earth's magnetic polarity. The north magnetic pole is located in latitude 70 degrees north, longitude 97 degrees west, and the south magnetic pole in latitude 72 degrees south, longitude 153 degrees east.

First Milk Bottle

The earliest milk bottle known was the hide of a goat, with the openings tied up to prevent the escape of the fluid. It is said that butter was first made accidentally when milk in a goat-skin bottle slung across a camel's back was bumped and sloshed during the weary miles across the desert wastes. It is a long process of evolution from this crude churn to the modern motor-driven churns in our up-to-date creameries.—Burdette Service.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Of more than ordinary interest to Newton is Governor Allen's veto of the bill to increase from $1000 to $1500 the amount of exemption that local assessors may grant on household furniture and other personal effects. Some weeks ago Chairman Murphy of the Newton Assessors and City Solicitor Bartlett, together with legislators from this city, appeared before the Taxation Committee and said that an increase in exemption on household furniture, etc., would mean an annual loss of many thousands to this city. A bill was reported by the committee, however, increasing the exemption from $1000 to $1500 and it was passed by both branches. Governor Allen thereupon vetoed it and his veto was sustained by the House last Tuesday. On the question of passing the bill notwithstanding the veto of the Governor there were 94 yeas and 125 nays. Representatives Luitwieler, Baker and Thompson voted with the Governor on rollcall. The Governor said in his veto message:

"May 2, 1930
"It is very necessary to consider the sources of revenue of our cities and towns in the Commonwealth before granting further exemptions from local taxation. If this measure became law, the resulting loss in income would have to be replaced. The cities and towns could do this only by increasing the tax on real estate. Some of our municipalities have already reported that if the bill became law it would result in the loss of a substantial amount of revenue.

"There is ample statutory authority under judicial approval for lifting the burdens of taxation from all those unable to contribute fully toward the public charges. Judicial sanction has also been given to so much of the existing law as exempts wearing apparel and $1000 worth of household furniture, as well as farming utensils and tools of a mechanic which are treated as a part of the means of earning one's daily bread. There is also sanction for certain other exemptions for such classes as are considered less able than most persons to contribute toward the expenses of government."

When the veto came before the House, Representative Perry of Belmont, for the Taxation Committee, made the only speech. It was in explanation and will be of interest to Newton readers. He called attention to the fact that the bill was unanimously reported from committee and passed after full debate by the house. For 109 years there has been exempted $1000 of the furniture of residents. Since then other exemptions have been added, mechanics tools, fishing tackle and other things. There has since, however, grown up an entirely new type of mechanical equipment, washers, vacuum cleaners, etc. In farmers' tools, many are exempted, while other tools similar are not. A mowing machine is exempt, while a lawn mower is not. The bill as proposed would say that all furniture and personal effects would be exempt up to $1500, which certainly was comparable to the $1000 of a century ago.

In the opinion of Tax Commissioner Long this actually would yield a large revenue, not. He declared that the general tax bill soon to come is one with absolutely no favors to special interests and he believed the governor had been misinformed as to the present bill. There was no great merit in either sustaining or defeating the veto, so the committee did not ask that it be passed over the veto, said Mr. Perry.

By a rising vote of 80 to 27 the House rejected a bill providing for the trial of civil motor vehicle cases in the Superior Court by special justice of the district courts.

Arguing for the measure Representative Leonard of Watertown said the legislation had been recommended by the Judicial Council and a special commission. It provided, he said, for 15 special justices to sit on such cases in order to relieve the court docket. The situation is rapidly becoming intolerable, said he, and soon cases will have to wait from two to four years for trial. The congestion, he declared, is due almost entirely to motor vehicle accident cases. Special justices, said he, are now sitting on the criminal side of the Superior Court thus greatly relieving the docket.

Representative Baker of Newton said that the special commission had recommended it as a temporary measure but that there was nothing temporary about the bill. Passage of such legislation would act as an incentive to people to insist on jury trials and this would greatly increase the cost to the State. Every reasonable method would be resorted to before passing the bill. All that the bill does, said he, is to appoint 15 more justices to the Superior court. The pay suggestation of $25,000 for the celebration. The committee had made drastic reductions from the amount originally estimated and had brought the total to be expended from $25,000 to $19,000. The committee in charge of the affair has given freely of their time and energy in arranging the many details and the appropriation of the sum asked for is reasonable.

Alderman Mansfield advocated the appropriation saying:

"I think that the programme as outlined here shows very clearly that the amounts asked for that constitute this $4,000.00 are very reasonable, and it seems to me that if we very readily appropriate $38,000.00 for street betterments, and are willing to spend $47,000.00 for the correction of a heating plant in the High School, that an affair of this kind well warrants the expenditure of an additional $4,000.00."

"It seems to me that an affair of this kind does a great deal to give us an idea of good citizenship. I think this $4,000.00 will do a great deal more to develop good citizenship than money expended in boilers, street betterments, etc., which, though necessary, will not do as much to develop the ideal of good citizenship."

A vote was then taken on the appropriation. Those who voted in favor were: Aldermen Ball, Bowen, Collins, Gallagher, Gordon, Greenstein, Chandler, Floyd, Chase, Mansfield, Murray, Jamieson, Prior. The aldermen voting in the negative were: Hart, Hawkins, Holden, Powers, Pratt, Smith, Temperley and Woodcock.

Hearings listed on the docket included these on a petition for the laying out and accepting of Woodchester road under the General Law and the following streets under the Betterment Law:—Bennington, Bonwood, Nottingham, Stoneleigh, Colbert, Ellis and Wessex roads, Mayflower terrace and Larchmont avenue. Among those who favored the Larchmont avenue petition were John Collaway who stated that the street is a mudhole in Spring and Fall, and Ira Conant who told of water draining onto his land.

Arthur Burnham of 712 Chestnut street opposed the petition because he believes the method of apportioning the expense to be unfair. He thinks the street is in fairly good shape. Robert Nichols of 316 Woodward street also protested against being made to pay for part of the cost of the improvement.

Daniel Harvey of Wessex road objected against his land being taken to widen this street.

Upon the favorable report of the Licenses Committee the Board voted to grant a common victualler license to Alfred Jolly at 1288 Washington street. John McLeod was refused a common victualler license at 419 Lexington street on the recommendation of the Licenses Committee. Barbara Simpson was refused an intelligence office license at 2061 Commonwealth avenue and Ellen Sullivan was refused a similar license at 64 Webster street because these locations are not in business zones.

Once again the Licenses Committee reported adversely on a petition for a permit for 10 bowling alleys at 25 Bacon street, Newton. The petition this time was presented by the Newton Mortgage Company, owners of the building. Alderman Hawkins, chairman of the committee stated that a permit had been granted in this building for an automobile service station against the protests of adjoining property owners and the bowling alley was opposed by these same owners.

A permit was denied the Waterman Greater Shows who want to operate a travelling "merry-go-round" and Ferris wheel in this city.

Appropriations made by the Board included—salary for night watchman at City Home, $450; additional award to Riverside Sand & Gravel Company for land taken for school purposes, $759.71; additional award to James Welch for land taken for city hall site, $500; award to Ernest Henley for land taken to widen Washington street near Beacon street, $429.75; additional award to Joseph Keefe, trustee, for land taken to widen Watertown street, $250.

Another additional claim was received from DeChristofaro Brothers for work done on the Cold Spring drain. This claim is for $18,760.

Lewis & Valentine presented a petition to be allowed to use a house, barn and land at 1266 Commonwealth avenue for a nursery business. Master & Wells ask for a renewal of their license to manufacture black gunpowder at Needham street, Upper Falls.

The efforts put forth by Alderman Temperley the past two years to induce the Aldermen to take additional land for school playground purposes at the Emerson School in Upper Falls seem to be assured of success. The Board voted to order a hearing at the May 19 meeting on the matter of taking this land.

SURPRISE PARTY

On the eve of joining her husband who has transferred his business to Fort Fairfield, Maine, relatives and friends of Mrs. Harry Gammons gave her a surprise party on Wednesday evening, April 30, 1930. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. M. Herlihy of West Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Temperley, and Mr. John Marshall of Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. A. Fox of Auburndale; Miss C. Gitman, and Miss M. Antonelli of Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. G. Quarrre of Chestnut Hill; Mr. and Mrs. W. Fisher of Melrose; Mr. and Mrs. G. Dawley of Somerville; and Mr. and Mrs. H. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. I. Webster, Miss Eva Porter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Porter and Mrs. E. Porter of Waltham.

After bursting in on her at her home, 280 Cabot street, Newtonville, the evening was spent with song and music and a general good time was had by all. As a token of good will, success, and happiness in her new home, and as a remembrance of the many good times those present have had in the company of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gammons a fitted week end case was presented to Mrs. Gammons. After a collation was partaken of by all the evening closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

ASKS DAMAGES FROM CITY FOR HORSE BITE

Mrs. K. V. Pinkham of 66 Goddard street, Newton Highlands, has entered a claim against the City of Newton for $26 to pay for damages to clothing belonging to her son. Her letter to the Board of Aldermen concerning the claim reads:

"On April 25, last, my son was nipped at by one of the city horses. The accident took place at the corner of Hartford and Boylston streets, Newton Highlands, near eight o'clock."

"The horse was brown and was hitched to a tip-cart. At the time, however, he was standing near the curbing while the driver was on the sidewalk talking to a woman."

"A city employee, by the name of Bunny Golden, evidently witnessed the sight because later on in the day he told my son that the horse had nipped other people and that he had been muzzled since the occurrence of the morning. Charles Melsaas was walking with my son on their way to school and he also saw the horse nip him."

"In the morning the horse was not muzzled, as the city foreman told me at my home, but he was muzzled after biting my son. I reported this matter to the foreman of the street department and he referred me to the city clerk."

"I wish to make claim for two sweaters and one shirt, the latter being badly strained when my son had to pull away from the horse. The two sweaters were torn beyond repair. Enclosed you will find a bill for the damaged clothing."

"Immediate action will be appreciated."

Fourteen Girl Scouts of Mrs. Hovgaard's troop at the Stearns School centre, Nonantum, gave a demonstration last Monday evening of some of the things they have learned during the course in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick conducted by Miss Norcross, instructor for Newton Chapter, American Red Cross. The affair was witnessed by the Girl Scouts Troop Committee and the mothers of the children.

The stage was set up with a bed, equipment for dressing and bathing the life-sized baby doll and first aid materials. The class showed how to make and strip a bed to receive a patient and how to change the sheets with the patient in the bed and the patient made comfortable. At the same time on the other side of the stage the "baby" was bathed and dressed. In the stage centre two patients received artificial respiration, others were bandaged, had splints put on and were carried on a blanket stretcher.

At the completion of the demonstration three pupils were presented prizes. A text book on home hygiene and care of the sick, the gift of the Red Cross, was awarded and two first aid scout kits were presented by the Scout Committee.

After a program of singing, refreshments were served.

Those taking part were Betty McCrudden, Lillian Allen, Ida Polsell, Anna D'Angelo, Mildred Burke, Helen Cormier, Annie Barisano, Alice Damiani, Helen Allen, Rena LeBlanc, Mildred Ladd, Rosa Volanti, Josephine Lupo and Margaret Cormier.

Letters To The Editor

INTERESTING HISTORY

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:
Built in the middle of the past century to serve as an elementary and South Side high school the frame building (commonly known as Crane's Shop) located on Rogers street, and extending toward Crystal Lake, Newton Centre will end its span of varied usefulness as an auto repair shop.

The demolition of the old shop will give an adequate approach and setting to the bathhouse now building on Crystal Lake shore.
The structure originally stood in the Mason school yard, Newton Centre, about across from the present Methodist Church on Langley road. It was erected, I am told in 1852 for the purpose of serving the youth of the South side and adjacent sections of Newton as an elementary and high school. Accommodations were afforded for about 100. Pupils attended the school from the Mount Ida and Waverley avenue sections of Newton, among whom was the late Mayor Henry E. Cobb. Enrolled upon the records of the school at that time were such names as Smith, Brackett, Ward, Wood, Kingsbury, Rice, and Loving—and many of the youth bearing them in the days of '61-'65 drilled upon the training common in front of the present Rice School prior to going into the Civil War.

The coming of more peaceful days, coupled with Newton's growth, found the building too small to house the spreading circle of youth, besides a central high school in Newtonville of growing importance made it advisable to merge the then High School at West Newton and the South Side High School.

Somewhere about the year 1870 the building was sold to the late Moses G. Crane and moved by him to its present site in Newton Highlands, after another and much larger edifice had been erected to serve Newton Centre. The west shore of Crystal Lake was then graced with spreading Chestnut trees, youths disrobed under them—and there being few houses—often disported themselves in the popular bare skin bathing trunks.

Mr. Crane fitted up the building for the use of the Gamewell Fire Alarm Company of which he was a leading figure. Unlike the present day owners of mills and shops who operate an industry in one town and live miles away from its activities, Mr. Crane lived but a few hundred feet from his shop. Its operators and their welfare were of lively concern to him. The Gamewell shop in 1892—having grown with the years—built a larger plant at Newton Upper Falls, and the old school building was for the time without a tenant. But not for long. A son of Mr. Crane, who was gifted with some of his sire's inventive genius, for a period conducted chemical research within its walls which led him into the realms of photography; later other men mechanically inclined busied themselves about the premises; one firm made for awhile a sort of portable automobile turntable, useful in jockeying autos about in a crowded garage (such a contrivance might well be given new life and help serve some of the jams sometimes occurring in parking areas); a friction cone maker used the building for a number of years previous to the present auto repair shop, which activities in a week or two will probably be transferred to a building on Needham street.

It has been believed generally by residents in the Crystal Lake neighborhood that the one-time building would sometime be razed—that day has arrived. One however, may hazard the guess that perhaps no structure in the Garden City has had a more useful or more varied period of usefulness than this wooden building which was opened as a school-house and goes out of life as a hospital for revivifying ailing autos.
JOHN TEMPERLEY,
75 Union Street,
Newton Centre.

KEEP NEWTON CLEAN

To the Editor:
I am reminded of the generous offer of the City to take all sorts of refuse the following week in an effort to make Newton a clean City. This is very commendable and should be taken seriously by all the citizens. The question that occurs to one's mind is what will the City men do with all this refuse. One would presume the obvious would be to "DUMPS."

Now "DUMPS" are one of the house-keeping problems of any City and need special care to keep such from the public gaze. Several years ago it was the order that all the ashes and the other refuse such as paper and burnable material be kept in separate receptacles. This order now stands, I believe, and the citizens are doing the separation faithfully. But what is the observation of the traveler? They are mixed together in the same common dump with the result that fires and other nuisances pervade the atmosphere. I presume that originally it was intended that the papers and such should be kept separate and baled for sale. Possibly this did not pay the City thus the change to the common dump.

The approaches to the City are not only over the highways but on the railroads and any entrance over the railroad lines should be as sightly as over a highway; any dumps near a railroad should be covered and taken in hand that all unsightly impressions would be removed.

Several years ago I remember traveling in England and noticed the pleasant back yards of the people, not a dump or the like for the stranger to see. The gardens and what we would call back yards were very pretty with the care that was put into them by the individuals.

A railroad can keep its own property in order but the traveler's eye does not only see the right of way of tracks but beyond. It is the beyond that is offensive.

I wonder if the good offices of the City can be extended to the dumps as

VACATION DAYS AT THE WEST NEWTON COMMUNITY CENTRE

During the past weeks, when the members of the clubs have been having Spring Vacation, special trips have been planned by the West Newton Community Centre, so that each club group enjoyed a day out-of-doors.

The members of the Ten of Us Club, the Blue Bird Club, the Busy Bee Club, the Young Club, the Merry Makers Club and the Jolly Juniors have taken advantage of the opportunities offered at the Girl Scout Reservation, "Cedar Hill," Waltham. Here volleyball, base ball, and other games were played. No picnic at Cedar Hill would be complete without cooking "hot dogs" and toasting marshmallows over an open fire. Nor would the club members be happy without exploring the mysteries of the Maze.

The boys and girls in the Jig Saw and Star Clubs spent a day at City Point, visiting the Aquarium and exploring Castle Island.

The trips of the past week have been a forerunner of the summer recreation program which is carried on during the month of July by the West Newton Community Centre.

PARAMOUNT—NEWTON

The Spring Jubilee of the Public Theatres is being celebrated throughout the country during the month of May. The Paramount Theatre, Newton, is offering high class programs of pictures. The first half of next week Buddy Rogers and Jean Arthur in "Young Eagles" is the feature. It is a story of aeroplanes combat during the World War. On the same program is "The Second Wife" with Conrad Nagle and Lila Lee.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday music lovers will have a treat in hearing Lawrence Tibbets in "The Rogue Song." It is the talking picture debut of the internationally known Metropolitan Opera star and a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production. It is filmed entirely in technicolor and is directed by Lionel Barrymore. The picture, the first approach to an operatic film, is considered one of the outstanding productions of the year. The scenario, based upon the operetta, "Gypsy Love," was written by Frances Marion with dialogue by John Colton and music by Franz Lehár and Herbert Stothart. The lyrics are the work of Clifford Gray. Besides Tibbets's songs there is an aria by Elsa Alsen, Wagnerian soprano, with a women's chorus and numbers sung by Wallace Macdonald, accompanied by a large male chorus. There is also an Albertina Rasch ballet.

On the same program will be Gertrude Lawrence in "The Battle of Paris," a snappy story of that city in a new form. Special music has been prepared for Mother's Day and a special invitation matinee for mothers on Monday afternoon.

RADIO CABINETS MADE BY SPECIAL PROCESS

Considerable advancement is being made in the combining of the art of cabinet making with the manufacture of radio receivers. A decade ago when sets were cumbered with many knob controls it was practically impossible to make a receiver that would be an acceptable piece of furniture. The Stromberg-Carlson Company, through the "Karvart" process, is now making cabinets with the appearance of delicate and expensive hand carving without the expense that actual hand carving would involve. In the "Karvart" process the wood is subjected to great pressure and heat in a steel mold with a resultant perfect design. It is often found nearly impossible to tell the original hand carving from a duplication in "Karvart." The use of wood rather than metal gives an appearance of warmth and depth to the set. Wood construction also permits the use of finishing stains that give pleasing contrasts and natural wood shadings.

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Community Club

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Club was held on Thursday, April 24th, in the Underwood School Hall. Previous to the business of the afternoon, those present enjoyed viewing the beautiful Flower Show, which was arranged around the hall and in an adjoining room. The exhibition was a credit to the members, who contributed many attractive and unique displays.

First prize in Class A, awarded to Mrs. Ralph Hall, was a tall black vase holding Easter lilies and mixed flowers. Honorable mention in this Class went to Mrs. Charles Beason, for a green vase, holding pink tulips, which had been arranged by Mrs. Fred Loveland.

In Class B: "Breakfast table set for two," the beautiful pink lustre ware, with centrepiece of mayflowers, received first prize, having been displayed by Miss Elizabeth Loveland. In Class C, Mrs. Ralph Hall's antique table and old pewter, with white tulips, received first prize, while "Granny's Corner," so named by Mrs. Isaac Dillingham which was unusual and quaint, received honorable mention.

In Class D, Mrs. Joseph Gerrity's, red maple in bloom was the first choice; while in Class E, the very beautiful pitcher-plant in bloom, in Jardiniere, displayed by Mrs. Victor Cutter, carried first honors. Mrs. George Emery's miniature bouquets received much praise as well as honorable mention, and among others who had attractive and lovely exhibits were Mrs. Frank Day, Mrs. Frank Aubley Day, Mrs. Harold Moore, Miss Nora Soule, Mrs. Fred Loveland, Miss Margaret Ball, Mrs. Paul Sykes, Mrs. Henry P. Curtis, and Mrs. Vernon Sweet. The judges were Mrs. William Paxton, Mrs. C. S. Emmons, and Miss Dorothy Emmons.

Very brief reports were given by the recording and corresponding secretaries, treasurer and auditor, as well as chairmen of standing committees, after which the chair proceeded to the business of election of officers for the next year, all of whom were unanimously elected.

The ballot for 1930-1931 was as follows: President, Mrs. Henry P. Curtis; first vice-president, Mrs. William W. Colton; second vice-president, Mrs. Chester A. Drummond; third vice-president, Mrs. Samuel N. Braman; recording secretary, Mrs. Laurence W. Kattelle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marvin Perry; treasurer, Mrs. George L. Parker; auditor, Miss Margaret H. Aubin; director, term expiring 1931, (to complete term of Mrs. William G. Lennox, resigned), Mrs. Royal C. Warring; directors, term expiring 1933, Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs and Mrs. Louis J. Hunter; nominating committee for 1931, Mrs. Carl Peirce, chairman; Mrs. G. Albert Aston, Mrs. Raymond G. Coppins, Mrs. Joseph W. Gerrity, and Mrs. William A. Somerby.

A delightful hour of entertainment had been planned to follow the business routine, which included two groups of piano solos by Miss Ethel Hutchinson who is such a finished and beautiful musician her contributions always give great pleasure. Mrs. Y. Bruce Davis had two groups of short readings. The first included all the beautiful thoughts which the awakening of Spring brings forth, while the second added the joys of Easter season and Resurrection to its theme. Mrs. Davis had many new and original verses, all of which were read attractively and graciously given.

The afternoon rounded out a splendid Club year, each program in itself a worthwhile afternoon, and as a whole a credit to the Newton Community Club.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY

For the past nine years May 12th has been designated as National Hospital Day. May 12th was selected for this observance because on that day Florence Nightingale, "The angel of the Crimea" and the "lady of the lamp" of Longfellow's famous poem, was born. On each anniversary of this day the hospitals throughout the country join in an endeavor to acquaint people with their activities by setting aside certain hours to receive the citizens of their respective communities. The Newton Hospital will welcome visitors from 1:30 to 4 P. M. on Monday, May 12th, 1930. It is just one year since the opening of the new building, and this will afford an opportunity for those who were unable to visit the hospital at that time to inspect it now. Guides will be provided, and it will be arranged so that the greater part of the hospital will be available for inspection without disturbing the patients or interrupting their care. Visitors are asked to come to the main entrance of the new building.

On Wednesday, May 7, the Newton Nurses Alumnae met at the hospital. The speaker was Miss Dora M. Cornelissen, field representative of the American Journal of Nursing, the official organ of the American Nurses' Association. On Monday evening, May 5th, the Know More Kokki met at the hospital. The doctors presenting papers were Dr. Harold G. Giddings of Newton Centre, and Dr. Lewis H. Jack of West Newton.

Annual Meeting

Members of the Newton Y. M. C. A. turned out in large numbers to attend the Annual Meeting and Banquet of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association held on Monday evening, May 5th.

The Guest and Speaker of the evening was Dr. Russell H. Stafford, Minister of the Old South Church, Boston. He made a stirring appeal for more intelligent interest in Social and Community affairs and suggested that the young men read more of the many good books on the important problems of the day. Dr. Stafford spoke of the Y. M. C. A. as the right arm of the church and said this relationship imposed a very great responsibility on the leaders of both the church and the "Y" toward the boys and young men of the community.

At the Business Meeting, Frederic D. Fuller was elected President for the ninth consecutive term. William H. Rice was re-elected Vice-President, E. O. Childs, Clerk, and Walter C. Wrye, Treasurer. Seven Directors, Ralph W. Conant, F. Ashley Day, S. T. Emery, J. W. Blaisdell, Dr. Warren W. Marston, Charles Wood Bond, and Walter A. Barker, were elected to serve for three years. Two Trustees, James E. Clark and Fred R. Hayward, were elected to serve for four years. Reports from members interested in various activities were given as follows:

Wrestling, Mr. Simmons; Baseball, George Hokanson; Business Men's Group, M. B. Perry; Tennis, Wesley M. Dynes; Boys' Groups, William Earle; Gym Group, E. Leo Frazier; Sunday School Basketball and Church Groups, John Graham; Senior Group, F. B. Eastman; Younger Boys' Group, Marvin Perry, Jr.; Round Table and Public Speaking Classes, Dr. Geo. N. Abbott; Camp Frank A. Day, James Hunter; Fellowship Club, Edw. C. Spencer; Basketball, Richard Lee; Swimming Teams, Ray Millard; Cooperation between the Scouts and the "Y," Lawrence Jump; Hi-Y Clubs, Philip Layten; Foreign Work, C. D. Kepner.

Mr. H. W. Bascom, the General Secretary, in introducing the Speakers, called attention to the fact that on April 30th there were 797 men and 416 boys in the membership, a total of 1213. He mentioned that during the past year Endowment Funds had grown materially, more land had been purchased for use of the boys at Camp Frank A. Day, and that the Association had closed its fiscal year with all bills paid.

A Trio from the New England Conservatory of Music rendered some very fine music during the Banquet.

Mr. D. W. Anders, Chairman of the Social Committee, was in charge of arrangements.

Ladies Night

One of the largest assemblies of Knights of Columbus, their families and their friends gathered Tuesday night at the Newton Centre Women's Club for the annual Ladies Night program. In spite of the terrific heat, the main hall and lobby were taxed to capacity. The main feature was the Filene Fashion Show, sponsored by the Clothing Information Bureau showing a number of tableaux of fashion.

For the first time in any of their fashion shows, Filene's showed men's sports styles covering general vacation wear, golf, bathing, tennis, Charles E. Coyne, Assistant Advertising Manager, lectured on the importance of men's fashions, their occasions for wear and the increasing clothes consciousness of men who wish to be well dressed.

Miss Beatrice Bowers, Lecturer for the Clothing Information Bureau, assisted by ten models, described the women's fashions. Dresses for afternoon and evening, sports and dress coats, lounging and beach pajamas, bathing suits, riding habits, golf and tennis clothes were shown. For an hour and a half the fashions were paraded before the audience, arousing a keen interest and appreciation in the fashions. The two novel fashions shown included a peplum suit bought in Filene's in 1913, now shown in comparison with the 1930 style of youthful peplum. The wide velvet hat with hat pin, dust gathering skirt, long, full lined coat aroused much interest. When the 1890 bathing suit was shown with the 1930 swim suit the audience howled its approval of the 1930 idea.

Following the Fashion Show, Miss Alice Donahue, sister of the famous Jack Donahue, opened the entertainment program with a military buck and wing. Scott and Douglas, favorites with Newton Council audiences, followed with a Spanish tango. Miss Marcia Bell, formerly of "Show Girl," followed with an aesthetic dance. Miss Donahue contributed a fast tap dance number; Scott and Douglas performed in a whirlwind waltz number. Miss Bell sang musical comedy successes. Miss Donahue in a dress suit costume danced a novelty tap number and Scott and Douglas closed the program in the hall with a novelty acrobatic and whirlwind dance number. Every number on the program was given tremendous applause.

Refreshments were served in the lower hall after which Eddie Welch's orchestra of nine pieces played for general dancing. At midnight the crowd left declaring the K. of C. Ladies Night program was the most extensive and enjoyable in history.

Grand Knight Coyne and Lecturer Edwin C. Heislein were ably assisted by a committee: Paul Fitzgerald, Paul Thomas, Walter Connor, John F. Gallagher, Percy Keating, Louis Mullens, Frank Murphy, John Casey, John Mulen, Thomas Waters, Kerrins Conroy, Mrs. George Brophy, Misses Florence Geegan, Eleanor Gallagher, Mrs. Carl Peaslee, Mrs. Charles E. Coyne were the women's committee assisting.

COLLEGIATE DEBATE

When Hon. Leverett Saltonstall, Speaker of the House of Representatives, raps the gavel Sunday night, May 18, at the Newton High School auditorium, marking the opening of the fourth annual Holy Cross-Boston College debate sponsored by Newton Council, Knights of Columbus, he will start the forensic fireworks on the most timely, most discussed (outside of prohibition) subject in the public eye. The Crusaders and Eagles from the Heights will debate the subject, "Resolved: That the United States should enter the world court under the terms of the Root protocol."

The primary campaign of Illinois between Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormack and Senator Charles Dineen was fought out at the polls on this subject. The Hearst papers throughout the country have discussed the subject for months. President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson are ready to submit the Root protocol to the United States Senate for ratification, both having signed it previous to Senate action.

With Holy Cross maintaining the affirmative and Boston College the negative Newton Council members and all other residents of Newton who are cordially invited to attend are due for a real treat. The rivalry of the two leading Jesuit colleges in debating, as well as on the athletic field, is traditional. Both debating societies, Fulton at the Heights and Pitton from Holy Cross have excellent records this year. Boston College is undefeated in thirteen starts defeating such teams as Dartmouth, Princeton, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Fordham. Holy Cross has a similar record against the same calibre of teams.

The members of the Holy Cross team will be: Edward Haniff, '33; Daniel J. O'Neil, '31; Owen P. McGivern, '31. The members of the Boston College team will be Edward F. Connelley, '31; Edward A. Hogan, '30; John J. Wright, '31.

The method of debate will allow each speaker 17 minutes for one speech, except the first speaker of the affirmative who will have 12 minutes and a 5 minute rebuttal to close the debate. The judges will be announced later.

Grand Knight Charles E. Coyne is being ably assisted by a general committee with the following chairmen: General Chairman, Edwin C. Heislein; Arrangements, Edward Thierreault; Tickets, Walter Connors; Prizes, William Dorrety; Reception, Mark Crocker, Jr.; Judges, Atty. James P. Gallagher.

The debate is open to the public without charge.

"AARON SLICK FROM PUNKIN CRICK"

Next Wednesday evening the Service Club of the Lincoln Park Baptist church will present a rural comedy in three acts entitled "Aaron Slick From Punkin Crick" in the church parlors at West Newton.

The play has been coached by Mrs. A. L. Jordan and managed by Mrs. A. V. Jonah. Mrs. J. S. Franklin is property manager. Miss Mabel Norton is the pianist and Miss Helen Cary is in charge of the make-up. A quartet program has been prepared by Mrs. A. V. Jonah and Mrs. Wellesley Jonah.

Those taking part in the cast are: Frances Jonah, Charlotte Sharp, Annabelle Grant, Lillian Eschebach, Kitty Jonah, Ruth Arch, Alice Furbush, Barbara Franklin, Gladys Kersting, Laura Henley, Edith Dower, Marguerite Whitney, Annebelle Livingstone, A. V. Jonah, Wellesley Jonah, Henry Kersting and George Dower.

The Mather Class

Prof. Kirtley F. Mather spoke on "Modern Translations" last Sunday morning at the regular weekly meeting of the Mather Class at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

This was the eighth lecture in the series on Biblical Scholarship. In the preceding talks on this subject, Prof. Mather has taken up the history of Biblical literature, and now he has reached the various modern translations of the Scriptures. When he undertook to find out what has been done in this line, he was amazed to find more than five times as many modern translations as he supposed there were. He brought a very few samples to show the class.

The Twentieth Century translation of the New Testament is about fifteen years old.

James Moffett made a translation. The Riverside edition of the New Testament by Valentine is in such a form that it looks like a novel.

Weymouth's attempt to do something or other with the New Testament is not a translation at all. It is a paraphrase.

Mrs. Montgomery did the Century translation. She is a notable scholar and one of the few women intellectually qualified to do difficult translation work. This edition is cut up into sections, with chapter heading and half-titles.

At the University of Chicago, Dr. Goodspeed translated the New Testament into American English. This makes Goodspeed more readable to Americans than Moffett. He translated the Bible into Scotch English. There is quite a difference. Dr. Goodspeed's associates, under the leadership of J. M. B. Smith, collaborated to get out a translation of the Old Testament.

The question is sometimes asked, why anybody should think it worth while to translate the Bible all over again. What is the matter with the magnificent work of the past? Why not leave good enough alone? Furthermore, many people have learned parts of the King James version in their childhood and have not the slightest notion of changing just because somebody calls himself a scholar and prints a new version.

Modern researchers have dug up a lot of manuscripts, which were unknown to the King James translators. Many of these manuscripts have nothing at all to do with the Bible, but they are thought to throw a more or less light on the customs and habits of Biblical times and particularly on the language that was prevalent among the common people.

The scholars of King James' time knew the classical Greek of Homer perfectly, but Prof. Mather does not think that they were so well posted on common, ordinary, Greek, and the New Testament was written in common Greek, not classical Greek.

Prof. Mather gave no facts or anything else to substantiate his assumption that the King James experts overlooked this distinction and went right ahead and translated what was not classical Greek just as if it were the classical Greek with which they were thoroughly familiar. How did it happen that those learned scholars did not know common Greek when they saw it? And if they really had been as ignorant as Prof. Mather thinks they were, why didn't they hustle round and find out about it before trying to translate it? Prof. Mather most significantly sidesteps this problem and talks about something else.

There are some dignified, high-sounding phrases in the Bible that look as if they have a religious meaning. Modern investigators try to make out that these expressions mean nothing more than our phrase, "very sincerely yours," on the end of a letter. The way they go about it is like this. They dig out of the waste baskets and ash heaps of antiquity a conglomerate of common, ordinary letters, written by people of no consequence whatever. They then hunt diligently until they find a chance word or two that looks enough like something in the Bible so that they can claim that that sheds some light on a similar word or phrase as used by Paul, one of the most intellectual men of all time. Prof. Mather read one letter from a wife bawling out her husband for not sending home enough money. Another letter was from a spoiled school boy in a tantrum, showing how saucy and impudent he could be to his father, who evidently was intending to go somewhere without taking the boy along. Both letters show unthinking, uncontrolled, irresponsible emotionalism, expressed in extremely common language. It is material of that sordid type that so-called modern scholars use in their attempt to make clear the Word of God. The measure of their success is dramatic.

Their success is dramatic. Illustration of the existence of the great majority of these "modern translations," until he made an intensive search to dig them out of obscurity. Very few people outside the ministry and the theological institutions know as much about these matters as Prof. Mather, and he knew nothing of many of them.

The English language is, of course, always changing. Occasionally meanings of words change so that explanations are in order as century follows century. The King James version has a marvelous rhythm and beauty and sense of high value. As a translation it is extraordinarily accurate and gives the meaning of the author with great care.

In Psalms 119:147 the King James version says, "I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried; I hoped in thy word." Prof. Mather said that this means, "I got up before sunrise and prayed to God." The verb "prevent" was used 300 years ago to signify "anticipate" or "precede." There are 176 verses in this Psalm, and a perfectly clear explanation of each one of them would be quite an undertaking.

Prof. Mather gave one cautionary bit of advice. Care should be used to watch for individual theological preferences, which are almost sure to creep into a translation made entirely by one person or group of congenial spirits. It is practically inevitable that any one person must color his translation with his own ideas. This should of course be discounted. Valentine's personal theology shows up frequently in his translation. Too many diverse minds were concerned with the King James version to let in that particular error.

Much of the Bible was written originally not primarily or exclusively as theology but because of a local and temporary demand and for particular and specific purposes.

In Paul's exhortation to think of whatsoever things are lovely he was trying to harmonize the discordant elements of a particular church. The members were bickering and having a terrible time. Paul wanted them to get along together in harmony so he told them to think of the good in their fellow members.

The Hebrews had a sacred word, "Jahveh," for God. The word "Elohim," was more commonly used. Only the consonants appeared in early Hebrew. The English in the 14th century, took the consonants of the Hebrew "Jahveh" and distributed the vowels of "Elohim" and got "Jehovah," which became very easily our familiar "Jehovah."

We read the Bible today for ideas, not as mental gymnastics, and we need all possible help in getting at the ideas concealed in difficult language.

The Class Banquet comes May 21, at the Twentieth Century Club, 21 Joy Street, Boston.

Next Sunday Prof. Mather will speak on "Man's Social Destiny," in his series on "The Trend in Science."

Nature's Wisdom

Workers Live Longer. Really Big Figures. British Worry. Sodom and Gomorrah.

A report published by Mr. Frederick H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, concerning 19,000,000 industrial policy holders in the United States and Canada, shows that workers are living longer than they used to. Thanks to science and prosperity, the death rate among wage earners has diminished. Mr. Ecker's statistical bureau shows a new low death rate of 9.4 per 1,000 during March. More adults that live, fewer babies that die, is a good programme.

If big figures fascinate you, read about an extraordinary bridge game, thoroughly authenticated, in which the man of Glastonbury, England, held a hand.

Each partner had thirteen cards of the same suit.

The man with 13 spades made a big slam. Mathematicians say the chances against such an occurrence are two thousand two hundred and thirty-five million trillion to one.

The British trillion is a million multiplied by a million multiplied by a million. With us it is only a million multiplied by a thousand multiplied by a thousand.

Britain has a new worry in India—fear of treachery among native troops.

Only a few British are in India, less than the population of a small American city, among 300,000,000 Hindus. To what extent native troops and police can be relied on, in view of intense national feeling, is a serious question.

The British are shifting native troops, official reports referring to "unsatisfactory conduct," which means that natives would not obey orders to shoot their own people.

Cost of travel by air and rail between New York and the Southwest is reduced to less than regular railroad and Pullman car travel.

Flying from New York to Dallas, Texas, or Oklahoma City, you save $6.24 in cash, 18 hours in time.

And these cuts are made by the Pennsylvania Railroad itself.

Wise General Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania, decides that if he must have air competition, he will own the competition.

Archaeologists, according to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, have discovered ancient Sodom and Gomorrah, buried in the ashes of a fire that destroyed, and pushed a wickedness with fire and brimstone. Father Mellon, scientific priest, made the discovery.

In the ashes were found skeletons of wicked men and women. Implements discovered show that the city, destroyed twenty centuries before Christ, was in the Bronze Age. They had not learned how to use iron or steel.

When fire and brimstone, as you remember, destroyed the wicked cities near the Red Sea, only Lot and his wife escaped. And she, poor thing, was turned into a pillar of salt because she disobeyed orders and looked backward.

In the Middle Ages bishops and others testified that they had actually seen Mrs. Lot, made of solid salt, still unchanged by the rains of three thousand years. They even furnished extraordinary biological data of periodic events, to prove the sex of the salt statue.

Nobody has seen the statue recently.

Dr. Kuhlmann, Norwegian scientist visiting Mexico, carrying letters from high government officials, visited in Holy Week the remote Indian village of Amozoc.

At his request, Indian children directed him to a bathing pool.

A young Indian mother, Avelina de la Rosa, seeing him with the children, spread the report he had come to cut off their heads and boil their bodies to get oil for driving machines.

The Indians, driven to superstitious frenzy, immediately stoned the unfortunate man to death.

Of all curses, superstition is the worst. It has butchered, burned alive and tortured millions. And its hold is still fixed solidly on more than one thousand million human beings.

In daylight saving regions the clock is advanced one hour. For some that means an extra hour of early work. For others it means another hour's play. For the majority it soon becomes routine. The clock is watched, as usual.

Unconsciously, a majority have actual hours added to their days and ears to their lives. The automobile, saving time, adds to it.

The telephone, trebling time's possibilities, has created a new, infinitely more efficient type of business man. A man who dies at eighty, having saved the new time savers intelligently, will have lived, actually, the equivalent of 240 years, instead of 80.

A PROBLEM

(Not your problem, but—)

Which shall it be? Which shall it be? Milk for the kids, or beer for me?

Joe says, "Come to the bootleg's cellar. And Joe is sure one great good fellow. But payment's due on the new Ford car!"

So there you are!

The boys say, "Come for a great joy ride."

With lots of dough to blow in on the side!"

SPRING ACTIVITY IN NEWTON

Alvord Bros. are reporting that Elizabeth P. Gordon and Anna A. Gordon of New York have recently sold their large Colonial house at No. 162 Grove street, Auburndale, to Frank S. Lane of Newton, who buys for investment. There is over an acre of land with the estate which is assessed at $9050.

Alvord Bros. also report that property at No. 222 Homer street, Newton Centre, for several years owned by Winthrop B. Greene of Philadelphia, Pa., has been sold for him to Frank S. Lane of Newton, who buys for investment. A large twelve room house with 7000 feet of land and assessed for $6000.

Alvord Bros. further report that in one of Newton's beauty spots on the northeasterly side of Plymouth road, Newton Highlands, a lot of land containing 8000 square feet, more or less, had been purchased by Harry A. Gilman of Roslindale. The seller was Elizabeth T. Finn, of Newton. This land is valued at $3000. The purchaser will build a single brick house with a two brick garage. Aubrey S. Langille has been given the contract and will start construction at once.

All of these transactions were consummated through the office of Alvord Bros.

TO HOLD "OPEN WEEK"

The second annual "Open Week" of the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., will be held from Monday, May 12 to Saturday, May 17. Throughout the week, activities will be open for parents and friends to visit. No special programs are planned because it is the wish of the Community Centre that the public should see what goes on regularly from week to week.

If one is particularly interested in children's groups, club activities for boys and girls are carried on at the Portable Club House, Eden Avenue Playground, every day but Wednesday, after school hours. Folk Dance and Game Groups are held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in the Game Rooms of the Davis School. Another club of girls meets on Wednesday afternoons at the Peirce School, in the cooking room.

The Quid Nunc Club, for high school age girls, meets Monday nights from seven to nine o'clock at the Club House. On Wednesday nights, the T. N. T. Club of older boys, play basketball in the Boys' Game Room of the Davis School.

Although the class season has already closed, members of the Red Cross First Aid and Home Hygiene groups will demonstrate various phases of the instruction they have received throughout the winter. This demonstration will be held in the Club House Tuesday, May 13, at eight o'clock.

The Moulton Club will entertain the members of the Newaba Club and other friends at the Library, Monday night, May 12. The Moulton and the Wenecocomo Clubs are two of the adult groups meeting at the Community Centre.

Although the Pre-School Kindergarten will be open the entire week for visitors, Friday morning, May 16, is to be designated as Pre-School Kindergarten Day. The kindergarten is conducted at the Memorial Library in West Newton for boys and girls just under school age. How much can be accomplished with these little tots may be readily seen on a visit to the Library Friday morning.

The big day of the week, as far as the children are concerned, will be Saturday, May 17, when Play Day will be held on the Eden Avenue Playground. Games, Races, a May Pole dance, and special Folk Dance numbers will complete the program.

A great many people may not know that there is a Community Centre in West Newton. Next week is a splendid opportunity for them to find out about it.

The season for trips to camp and overnight hikes is on. It began in real earnest last week, when, on Monday, 115 Scouts from the Junior Troops went to Camp Mary Day to help get it in readiness for the summer. They raked up underbrush, washed windows, swept out the cabins and did all sorts of odd jobs which improved the appearance of camp tremendously. Because of the fire hazard, they could not build an outdoor fire, but roasted their venicetes at an open fire in the camp house—and they tasted just as good. After lunch, their working hours were ended and they had a glorious game of Capture the Flag.

On Wednesday the Senior Scouts went to Camp Mary Day to their share of cleaning up, and Troop 21 of Newton Highlands stayed all night, being the first overnight campers of the season.

Tuesday, April 29th, the Annual Meeting of Metropolitan Division was held at Cedar Hill. Newton had 7 delegates present, representing the Newton Local Council and Troop Committees.

Troop 3, Miss Ordway's troop, of Newton Centre, had a day-time hike at Camp Mary Day on Thursday, May 1st. They did their trailing and mapping for the Pathfinder Merit Badge on this hike.

Friday morning, Troop 15, West Newton, under the leadership of Captain Bigelow, arrived for their overnight hike. The day was so warm that they were able to have the first swim of the year in Nonesuch Pond.

May 3rd, Newton took 215 Scouts to Cedar Hill to participate in the "talking pictures" being taken of scenes from the State Review, which will take place in Boston Gardens, May 17th. About 170 Scouts went over for lunch, which they ate in the Council Bowl; they then practised the Tercentenary Hymn which they sang for the "talkies." Pictures of the massed flags, which will constitute the finale of the State Review, and of the Newton and Lexington Bugle and Drum Corps were taken. Some still pictures were also taken, which, it is expected, will appear in the papers either Saturday or Sunday of this week.

A meeting of the Captains and members of the Council of Awards was held on Wednesday evening, May 7th, to plan the Merit Badge Schedule for next year.

At the Annual Bugle and Drum Corps Day held April 26th at the Cadet Armory, the Newton Corps ranked in Class B. Only one Corps was placed in Class A, the Holyoke Corps. Elizabeth Hovey, Troop 21, Newton Highlands, tied for first place in the individual Bugling Competition.

SPRING FLOWER SHOW

The Newton Centre Garden Club will hold a Flower Show on May 19th at the Library under the leadership of Mrs. Roy Hewitt.

Tulips, lilies, hyacinths and other flowers will be shown. A feature of the show this year will be an exhibition by the Junior Garden Club. Mrs. Edwin S. Webster of Chestnut Hill, Mr. Ward Cornell and Mr. Arthur H. Fewkes of Newton Highlands and Mr. James B. Riggs of Abundantdale are to be the judges.

Assisting Mrs. Hewitt are Mrs. E. L. Robinson, Mrs. E. A. Andrews, Mrs. Frederick C. Rising and Mrs. Bond. It is hoped that all members will enter exhibits from their gardens.

A very interesting lecture on wild flowers was given the Junior Garden Club at the Library on Wednesday. Helen Whitmore introduced Miss Richardson, the speaker of the afternoon. The Junior Club presented the Senior Garden Club with a dog wood tree to be known as the children's tree. Mr. Roy Hewitt was sponsor for the Lecture which was enjoyed by both clubs.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Mrs. Kojiro Tomita, of Jamaica Plain, whose husband is the eminent Japanese authority at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, will speak on Sunday, May 11, at the Children's Museum, of Boston, Olmstead Park, Jamaica Plain, on "The Day of the Carp," or the Japanese boy and his festival, which is now at its height in Japan. Admission is free.

Wriggling in the breeze from the Museum porch is a giant carp fish, the emblem of this festival. Inside the Museum an extremely beautiful Japanese boy's festival scene is on display, arranged with story labels which explain the symbolism of each object.

"The Honey-Makers," the story of bees, is the subject of the motion picture talk Saturday, May 10, at 3:00, by Miss Madeline B. Sawyer of the Museum Staff. Admission is free.

All bird lovers are urged to join the Museum bird walks on Saturdays at 8:00. Twenty-four varieties of birds were seen last Saturday. The walks are free, and offer delightful experiences on fresh spring mornings. They last until the first of June. Try one, once, and you will like it. This week the Museum is issuing its annual appeal for new members and for funds to cover an appalling deficit. For its small membership fees the Museum offers ten-fold value. Join now and share in the joy of watching a unique and fascinating project grow.

The First Telephone

"Beginning of Telephony" says that the telephone was exhibited and demonstrated at the centennial exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. The experiments of Alexander Graham Bell had been crowned with definite achievement when in March, 1876, he made himself heard over a telephone wire for the first time.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

A Ward 1 resident suggests that persons living in the neighborhood along Centre street, between Church and Franklin streets, would be freed from considerable annoyance if a different type of cover were used for manholes. Some of the covers now in use are convex in shape and automobiles travelling over them cause much noise.

Residents of the North Side of Newton in West Newton, Newtonville and Nonantum, would appreciate the termination of the use of the powerful horn which broadcasts fire alarms in Waltham. This horn sounds frequently during the late night and early morning hours, awakening hundreds of persons in this city. Perhaps, there would be fewer false alarms in Waltham if a less noisy signal were used in that city.

How would you like to travel over 50 miles every working day to go from your home to the place where you are employed and then return again at night. This is what many of the employees at the Saco-Lowell shops in Newton Upper Falls must do. A couple of years ago this company closed its shop at Lowell and many of the men who had worked there were given jobs at the Newton Upper Falls plant. Every working day these men travel either in busses or private automobiles from Lowell to Upper Falls to be at work at 7 a. m. Their day's work ends at 5 p. m. and then the long journey back to Lowell must be taken. When the shop is running full time, about 200 men make the long round trip daily from Lowell.

An individual in New York City was fined $50, for annoying a neighborhood with a loud speaker on a radio set. This information may be of interest to some radio fans in this city who reside in thickly settled districts and make a practice of keeping loud-speakers in action until midnight and after.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

There will be a Family Party out at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill, on Tuesday afternoon, May 13. It might also be called a Get Together Party, as only members and members' families may participate. It is to be a progressive auction bridge and as its name or names denote is to make the members and their families known to one another.

Mrs. William T. Goode and Mrs. Robert S. Wayland are directing the affair. Other sponsors are Mmes. Alphon M. Boothby, D. Earl Brackett, Roy F. Chamberlain, William H. Danforth, Leo F. Emerson, Joseph A. Galvin, Wilford D. Gray, Alex R. Keltie, Harry E. Moore, Charles E. Murnan, Merrill C. Nutting, Maurice E. Parsons, Albert E. Stevens, David C. Theall and Estelle E. Workman. As with other card parties given during the season, the Disabled Veterans and the Fatherless Children of France will be the beneficiaries.

ALL-NEWTON HISTORICAL ART EXHIBITION

On Wednesday morning a meeting was held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club to project an All-Newton Historical Art Exhibition to be held in conjunction with the tercentenary exercises in this city.

This exhibition will be open to the public from June 1st inclusive in the Newton Centre Woman's Club. Different women's clubs throughout the city are sponsoring the project and asking fellow Newtonians to assist them in locating antiques of 100 or more years.

Mrs. W. J. Freethy of 69 Pontiac road, Waban is chairman of the exhibition.

LASELL SEMINARY

The fifth Pupils' Musical Rehearsal was held in Bragdon Hall on Wednesday, May 7.

The vesper speaker on Sunday, May 11, will be Miss Alice E. Carey, who will describe her work in the Neighborhood House in Osaka, Japan.

On Tuesday afternoon, May 13, from 2:30 to 7:30 p. m., over two hundred girls will stage a mass Field Day. Competitions will be between Blues and Whites, classes and individuals. Individual ratings will be credited to classes competing for the Field Day Champion. Field and track events will be included. Supper will be served on the Athletic Field.

Pupils of the Dramatic Course will give Recitals on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 14 and 15. The one-act play, "Spring," will be staged by Helen Jordan, Scarsdale, N. Y.; Kathryn Law, Hartford, Conn.; Betty Jane Davis, Toledo, O.

MOTHER TO PREACH ON MOTHER'S DAY

The Service Club, an organization of young matrons of the Lincoln Park Baptist church, will have charge of the evening service there on Sunday evening, Mother's Day, Mrs. Barbara St. Denis Franklin, a member of the club and wife of the pastor, will preach the sermon, "Saving Service." The Scripture lesson will be read by Mrs. A. V. Jonah and the prayer given by Mrs. Thelma White. The ushers will be Miss Helen Zeller, Miss Marguerite Whitney, Mrs. Arletta Neal and Mrs. Laura Henley, Mrs. Lillian Eschelbach, president of the club, and other members will form a choir, singing as the special anthem their organization hymn, "In the Service of the King." The service will begin at eight o'clock. Mrs. Franklin is a graduate of the Newton Theological Institution where she received the degree of Master of Religious Education in 1928. The Service Club, which is sponsoring the meeting, was organized by Mrs. Mary Ford, wife of a former pastor, Fred B. Ford, in 1927.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Annual Business Meeting of the Norumbega District Council of Religious Education was held last Tuesday evening, and plans announced or made for the coming year.

Officers for 1930-1931 are to be as follows: President, Dr. Mark H. Ward of Newton Highlands; Vice-President, Mr. Earle W. Taylor of Belmont; Treasurer, Mr. R. O. Walter of Auburndale; Recording Secretary, Miss Erma Steeves of Waltham.

The Training Schools of the District, held last year in Newtonville, Newton Centre, Belmont and Watertown, will be held next Fall in the same locations. All will be on Monday evenings. Prof. O. W. Warmingham has been engaged for Belmont and Watertown, and other plans are being made to include in the faculty the best possible instructors.

It was voted to accept the invitation of the Newton Theological Institution to hold the Church School Exhibit at that institution on May 24 and 25. The committee appointed to make definite plans for this Church School Exhibit was as follows: Earl W. Taylor, Eva J. Viles, Natalie Ham. In addition to handwork for display at this exhibit, there will be a program on Sunday, the 25th, which will include Bible dramatizations, demonstration worship periods, etc., in which boys and girls and young people of the District will participate.

The purpose of this Church School Exhibit is two-fold: 1. That we may learn from each other the types of handwork found valuable in church school teaching. 2. That we may supply to boys and girls a motive for carrying on certain types of handwork that help to clarify Sunday School lessons.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

With all the inventions to save time and trouble as well as many large and trifling annoyances there is still one thing that needs the attention of a genius. Maybe it need not be a genius of the highest grade, although the problem has existed for such a long time that the smaller of the resourceful inventors seem to have passed it up. It is possible that they have been too busy with other matters. I hardly daresay that it has stumped them. Yet the whole thing is still hanging over and until we find a solution we'll still be fussing over it.

Now then what is this vexatious matter? Simply this, the inability of a great many people to find a five-cent piece in their pockets or pocket-books at the moment they wish to patronize a telephone paystation. How often have you been asked, "Got two nickels for a dime?" I want to use the telephone. And how frequently have you yourself, in seeking to be obliging, gone through the various places where coin may be lurking on your person?

Possibly I should put this example the other way round and ask if you haven't been in a position yourself when you wanted to call up from a paystation and couldn't raise anything less than a quarter. A time person hesitates to walk into a store and ask that the clerk change the quarter into nickels. Of course if one is known as a regular patron that makes a difference. But, rather than brave the scornful look of a clerk with whom he has never, many a man will buy a stick of gum or something for the sake of having a nickel handy.

All this means a loss of time. The first loser is the man without a nickel, who must spend several minutes getting one, thus delaying his call. The second is the clerk or proprietor who must suspend waiting on profitable trade merely to be obliging and thereby lose both time and money. The third, in my modest opinion, is the telephone company which would get more business if it could manage to get more nickels in circulation.

A popular lament among those who enjoy the theatre is the apparent decline of interest in the so-called legitimate stage. Some of the largest theatres in Boston, seldom if ever used for screen productions, were closed for weeks at a time during the height of the theatrical season now drawing to a close. "The show business is shot to pieces", theatrical people, reviewers and playgoers agree. "The talkies are getting all the business".

Managers explain that their troubles are due to their inability to determine "what the public wants". They deplore the fact that the best actors in the country were secured to perform the best plays available and that people will not attend. Some shows make a hit and achieve a comparatively long run, but this is the exception rather than the rule.

It is not fair to criticize the "talkies" when you consider what you get for your money. The outlay on the average screen production would appall the ordinary investor. Settings are arranged at tremendous cost, a group of high-salaried players, musicians, etc., are engaged and then comes the enormous cost of making the picture. All this you are given for a price that ranges anywhere from 25 cents to $1, with some exceptions that run to $1.50 top.

Now these performances, if not continuous, are started on time and run through a lengthy program without interruption. But what often happens at the old-fashioned theatre? You are fortunate if you can get good seats for $3 each. The hour for beginning is announced as 8:15 p. m. It is more often 8:40 before the curtain rings up. There are long waits between the acts and the final curtain is down about 10:30. If the show is longer the price of tickets is higher.

It seems to me a simple problem that confronts the legitimate producer, so called. He asks too much money for what he gives. People do not like to sit around for a half-hour or so, waiting for the curtain to rise, neither do they like to pay so much money for seats. After all, entertainment is entertainment with the majority. Those who compose discriminating audiences, who look for the "finer things" in the theatre will spend their money for what they consider the very best shows. But they are not the backbone of theatre patronage. The stage is all right, but it is not handled as it should be. It is not made attractive to the masses as far as the cost of tickets are concerned. The "talkies" give a lot for your money. On the other hand the theatre with stage plays, unless a popular priced house, expects something it has not the right to receive and that is the long end of an unfair business proposition.

Remember they used to say that boys whistled in the dark to keep their courage up? Boys, I suppose, are no different than they used to be and a long walk alone on a dark street has the same effect on those of today as it did on their fathers and grandfathers. When unaccompanied almost anybody has to summon reserve bravery to meet the night gloom. Young and old must be careful not to let it get on their nerves. We all understand the feeling.

Now here's something that I've discovered which in a way upsets this theory. Courage, in a certain definite form, will come with darkness. Let me explain first that I am not referring to the individual but to the human race when a group of its members, large or small, is assembled for social purposes. The precise thought I have in mind is the way people flinch in the brightest kind of light from singing. You know the kind of occasion—a good supper has been enjoyed and then a "community sing" is in order. Printed sheets with the choruses of old and fairly recent popular songs are handed out and a leader announces, "Turn to number 21". With that the pianist starts off and there is a chorus. Oftentimes it is feeble and the singers have to be urged repeatedly by the leader to lift their voices. "Now, don't be afraid", he urges, "let everybody join".

Not until the other night did I learn how one director got more out of his melody or volume out of his chorus. Instead of passing copies of the words around he had prepared a series of lantern slides. The good old stereopticon, which I had not seen for a long time, was brought into use. There had been a splendid supper and all hands were in excellent spirits. The lights were suddenly extinguished, except those over the "exit" signs, and above the music rack of the piano. On the screen was flashed the words of the chorus of "The Sidewalks of New York". The musical attack was engineered by the pianist was direct and sharp. There was a challenge for everyone to do his best.

The effect of darkness on the singers was remarkable. A lot of people, who in the brilliance of the best Edison current would have kept their mouths shut, immediately became vocalists of power. As long as nobody could see them they were ready to exercise their vocal resources to the full. The leader had an easy time of it. Everybody, save one or two who were suffering from throat trouble, was ready to raise the roof. The only way to stop them would have been to turn on the lights. But nobody did until the singing was all over. As far as I can see the moral is: Anybody can be a John McCormack or a Mary Garden under the cloak of darkness.

From personal observation I am convinced that physicians are modest. Therefore, failure in past years to pay them deserved tribute such as the "old family doctor" has received of late from State and city officials, newspapers and others, may have been due to their own reluctance at stepping before the camera. They are now getting it plenty and all the praise bestowed is more than well deserved.

The only thing that I don't quite understand is why a doctor must become a nonagenarian or at least an octogenarian or approaching that stage, before the public shows its appreciation. However, as long as some sign of gratitude has appeared I suppose the entire profession may share in the glory. At least, they are entitled to it and I hope that they may.

We have heard how the doctor in a rural community has been forced to drive miles and miles at all hours of the day and night and in all kinds of weather to administer to the sick and dying. The same thing applies to those in cities, whose opportunities for larger fees and hospital work perhaps have added to their success. As far as I have been able to learn one of the hardest things a doctor in the country and the city, too, has to do in connection with his practice is to collect the money due him for services. A movement now to encourage the payment of doctor's bills would probably be as satisfactory to the medical profession as anything. If as much consideration was given old doctors' bills as has been accorded old doctors I think there would be enough enthusiasm as to make it a part of the tercentenary celebration.

Where the public has benefited from the activities of the medical profession has been a doctor's devotion to his labors. Let him get interested in a complicated case and he is quite as apt to forget the matter of a fee as are some of his patients. Progress has been marked, due to all forms of research, specializing, etc. with the result that we know more ways to keep well and deprive the doctor of a fee than we ever did. He is applying himself all the time to preventive methods which, of course, is giving the public a big break.

Many of the best friends I possess are doctors. As much as I like their company I prefer to meet them when I am fully dressed and in a neutral place rather than when they approach me with a stethoscope and a clinical thermometer. But how good it is to see them when you are obliged to, and how welcome their reassurance and cheering words. I'm for giving them an annual recognition in whatever form they prefer instead of putting it off until they are ready to retire.

Several readers have communicated their ideas based on what this column recently said about those who walk on other people's lawns. "If the spirit of destruction was limited to grassplots it would not be so bad," one woman writes. "By generous use of grass seed and frequent sprinkling with the hose, one may keep ahead of those who persist on cutting across well-kept lawns on which nobody is supposed to wander. My experience has been that trespassers start, as your article in the Graphic says, when the grass begins to turn green in the spring and that they continue their misdeeds until the snow flies."

Continuing, the same writer says, "There doesn't seem to be a time that any growing thing is actually free from molestation. Take it now when trees and shrubs are blooming out. The trees and shrubs that possess beautiful blossoms are quite as likely to suffer as the front lawn. Once torn to pieces they are doomed. I have seen not only children but grown up men and women tearing off peace blossoms and cherry and apple blossoms. In their eagerness they have practically destroyed the trees. Personally I have pleaded with them, threatened them and even telephoned the police, but it hasn't made any difference. These destructionists are nimble enough to keep out of the policeman's way. If you catch them at it yourself you will only be insulted for these people do not seem to fear anybody except the police."

Another correspondent says, "I wish you would write about the people who so boldly come on to other people's places for the sake of robbing the garden. I have seen beautiful flower beds ruined. It is almost heartbreaking to find the flowers you have carefully raised torn up by the roots. Anything you can do to prevent this will be appreciated by many people, I am sure."

HAS AUTO LICENSE SUSPENDED

Charles J. Baima of Nonantum had his license suspended Wednesday by George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles. Baima was teaching Antonio Shawheen of Boston to drive a car. Shawheen, driving in a thickly settled and heavily travelled district, lost control of the car which went on to the sidewalk at the corner of Massachusetts and Harrison avenues, Boston, and ran over Walter Hill and his two small children, causing serious injuries to them. Registrar Parker issued this warning:

There have been several accidents recently in this state of this same kind, in which a licensed operator has permitted an unlicensed friend at the wheel to lose control of the car and cause serious injury both to other motorists and to pedestrians. Apparently many operators do not realize the heavy responsibility which they assume when they permit an inexperienced and unlicensed person to drive under their charge.

This action in the case of Baima and Shawheen is taken to warn all our Massachusetts motorists that, so far as the office of the registrar is concerned, those who fail to recognize that responsibility will be penalized to the fullest extent of the law and will be taken off the highways. No operator should undertake to teach an inexperienced, unlicensed person to drive or permit another to drive under his supervision without being absolutely certain that he can control the car and stop it, if necessary, in order to prevent an accident.

Shawheen's right to operate a car was revoked. Registrar Parker's action should serve to discourage persons from using heavily travelled streets as places to teach inexperienced drivers.

STOP—LOOK—LOAN!

A feature of the coming Tercentenary celebration in Newton which is exciting widespread interest is the exhibition of antiques to be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House, from June 7-10. You have some article which would be of interest. Will you loan it? Each of the Newtons is having a separate section and there is already considerable rivalry as to which shall excel. It is up to you that it shall be your section. You have a local chairman, if you do not know her name, call Mrs. W. J. Freethy, 69 Pontiac road, Waban, and she will advise you. Old prints, paintings, and manuscripts are needed, as well as furniture, dishes, etc. Police protection will be afforded at all times over the collections.

Seven Horses Lost In City Stable Fire

Officials Believe Blaze Started By Cigarette

The large brick stable on Auburn avenue, West Newton, used by the Street Department of the City of Newton was the scene of a serious fire last Friday night which seriously damaged the building and caused the deaths of seven horses. Six of the animals were buried and the seventh had to be shot after it had been struck by an automobile. The fire was discovered at 10:35 p. m. by Leonard Farrell of Crescent street, Waltham. Farrell was changing a tire on his car, which was parked on Auburndale avenue when he noticed flames in the upper windows of the barn. He ran to a fire alarm box, sounded an alarm and then hastened back to the stable where he informed Michael McCarthy, the watchman, of the blaze. McCarthy managed to release eleven of the seventeen horses in the stable, being assisted by Joseph Whelan of West Newton. The terrified animals galloped across fields to River street, continuing on to Star road, William street and other sections of that neighborhood. One of the animals collided with an automobile operated by Alfred Church of 59 Judkins street, Newtonville. Church was told by a young man who seized the horse, that the animal was not injured, and proceeded on his way. The horse, however, had a leg broken and was shot about 30 minutes later by Dr. Boutelle.

The next day, Church conferred with Inspector Shaughnessy of the police and agreed to pay $250 to the city for the loss of the horse.

Daniel Cronin of Sheridan street suffered an injury to his left leg while leading the horse which was injured. He was treated by Dr. Fred Lowe.

When Deputy Chief Boothby arrived at the fire, he ordered a second alarm sounded. In addition to extra Newton apparatus, this alarm brought assistance from Waltham. Hosemen Edward Keegan and Frank Babin of the Newton Fire Department were slightly injured when a ladder on which they were standing broke, hurling them to the ground. They were taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment.

A conference was held by City Officials Monday to determine the cause of the fire. Michael McCarthy, the watchman on duty was commended by Chief Randlett for his work in saving the eleven horses from the blaze.

Questioned by the chief, McCarthy stated that during the night he had gone out to place detour signs on streets but had been in the building for some time before the blaze was discovered and was making out report slips. McCarthy, in answer to a question by Chief Randlett stated that he had not been smoking prior to the fire and whenever he did smoke it was near the outer door and never near where any of the hay was stored. McCarthy stated that he had seen no one in the stable that night except one man who had departed long before the blaze started and who had not been near the box stall, in the vicinity of which the fire commenced.

According to the investigation, the blaze started in, or near this stall, worked up through the hay chute and ignited the hay in the loft, causing the blaze to spread rapidly.

Chief Randlett was of the opinion that fire was started either by some one smoking, or by some person who entered the building without the watchman's knowledge and set the blaze.

The loss on the building was estimated by Buildings Commissioner Chadwick at about $20,000. The seven horses destroyed were valued at $550 each. The building was not insured.

Census Returns Show Big Gain Here

Garden City Has Population Of Over 65,000

Based on the figures of the recent United States Census, Newton's present population is 65,295, an increase of nearly 20,000 persons since the last federal enumeration, according to official preliminary announcement made today by Joseph J. Murray of Newton, supervisor of the 9th Massachusetts district.

The figures show an increase of approximately 42 per cent. in the city's population since 1920 when the population was 46,054. The principal growth of the city is on the South side, in Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, and the Waban districts of Newton, and is caused by the popularity of the "Garden City" as a residential community. Some increase was expected, but the percentage of growth, the largest in 50 years, was a surprise to city officials. The figures for the 1910 census were 39,806, and for 1900 the figures were 33,587, so that the city population has almost doubled since the beginning of the century.

Supervisor Murray stated yesterday that 32 enumerators began work in Newton on April 2 and completed the preliminary work to the last detail yesterday. There were 143 enumerators at work under Mr. Murray's direction throughout the 9th census district. There were 44 farms enumerated in the Newton area.

The population by wards announced by Mr. Murray is as follows: Ward 1, 6,856; Ward 2, 11,878; Ward 3, 10,905; Ward 4, 6,127; Ward 5, 12,507; Ward 6, 12,375; and Ward 7, 5,547. The greatest growth was in Ward 5, where an increase of 4985 persons were recorded over the last federal census. The smallest growth was in Ward 7, which showed an increase of 972 persons during the last 10 years.

INCREASED BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF CHAFFIN FUND

Mayor Weeks has announced the new personnel which comprises the trustees of the Chaffin Educational Fund. At the request of the Mayor the Legislature passed a bill authorizing the number of trustees to be increased from five to seven. Mayor Weeks added to the trustees Robert Loomis of Forest avenue, West Newton and Frank H. Stuart of Woodchester road, Chestnut Hill. The five original trustees are—Levereit Saltonstall, Edwin O. Childs, Donald McKay, Guy Winslow and George H. Tracey, the latter acting ex-officio as Chairman of the School Committee.

Rev. Henry Sherrill will give the address at the graduation exercises which will take place on May 28 at the Misses Allen School.

Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs Elected President of Chamber of Commerce

Governor Allen, Speaker Saltonstall, Mayor Weeks And Others Speak At Annual Meeting

The annual meeting and dinner of the Newton Chamber of Commerce was held Wednesday night at the Brae Burn Club, West Newton. Following the dinner which was enjoyed by 125 members, President Ira S. Roe conducted a brief business meeting. The report of Treasurer Harold Young showed that the financial condition of the Chamber had advanced from last year. Horace W. Orr, reporting as chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of names for officers of the Chamber during the ensuing year: President, Hon. Edwin O. Childs; 1st Vice President and chairman of the civic division, Judge Thomas Weston; 2nd Vice President and chairman of the industrial division, George J. Martin; 3rd Vice President and chairman of the mercantile division, Fred D. Bond; 4th Vice President and chairman of the building division, George A. Haynes. Directors—Frank L. Richardson, G. Wilbur Thompson, Thomas L. Goodwin, Richard I. Dwyer, William T. Halliday, Dr. Frederick M. Sears, David C. Theall, Ira S. Roe, Frederick J. Driscoll, Cecil C. Chadwick, Harvey W. Schaschke.

President Roe introduced former Mayor Edwin O. Childs as toastmaster and the latter presented Mayor Sinclair Weeks as the first speaker. Mayor Weeks lauded the work done by Chambers of Commerce as distinctly worth while and valuable to every interest in the city. He gave the information that unofficial census figures just compiled show that Newton's population has increased from 46,000 in 1920 to 65,130, a gain of about 33 1-3%. The population in 1910 was 39,000. The Mayor commented that this growth shows that Newton is regarded as a very desirable place in which to reside. He referred to the many complaints he has received about the large increases in water bills this year. He had examined a couple of hundred bills, taken at random, and found that about 10% of the increases were due to increased consumption of water last summer. 25% of the increases was occasioned by the higher rates now charged for water in Newton.

Mayor Weeks told of the work which is being and will be done on the streets of this city this year. Double the amount of money ever before appropriated will be spent. This will be used to surface parts of Beacon, Washington and Centre streets and to make Commonwealth avenue a two-way street, opening the north roadway for west bound traffic and using the south roadway for east bound traffic. On January 1st of this year 55 petitions were on hand asking improvements on and acceptance of streets under the Betterment Law. It is expected that work on these 55 streets will be done this year in accordance with the petitions. The Legislature had passed and the Governor approved of the bill which allows Newton to borrow $750,000 outside its debt limit to build a new City Hall in the near future. The Soldiers' Memorial will also be erected at the triangle. Mayor Weeks welcomed Gov. Allen to the city and thanked him for his presence.

Mr. Childs introduced Speaker Saltonstall of the House of Representatives as a direct descendant of Sir Richard Saltonstall, founder of the adjoining town of Watertown. He referred to Mr. Saltonstall as a "thoroughbred" and yet the personification of democracy. Mr. Saltonstall dwelt on the matter of Taxation which has occupied so much of the Legislature's time. The bill to revise the system of taxation in Massachusetts has passed several stages in its progress through the Legislature, but the Speaker doubted if it will be passed this year. It is probable that a committee will be appointed to give it further consideration this summer. The move to revise our method of taxation is the result of the clamor to correct inequalities and relieve industries of oppressive taxes.

Explaining the financing of the Commonwealth's expenses, Mr. Saltonstall stated that the Budget of the State for 1930 is $62,000,000; of this amount $20,000,000 will be spent for welfare work, $13,000,000 on highways, $10,250,000 on education. For ten years the State practiced a "pay as you go policy." Massachusetts leads the country in welfare work. In 1928 it expended $3.42 per capita in this activity; New York, the second state, expended $2.39 per capita; Ohio spent $1.29 per capita. Massachusetts is the only state which has an institution for the care of cancer victims. Referring to the bill for "old age pensions" which is being considered by the Legislature, the Speaker said that he thought Newton's representatives reflected the sentiment of the city when they opposed this bill. He commented that "old age pensions" in some form are coming but the start should be made in a safe direction. The bill which is under discussion resembles the "old age pension" acts passed by California and New York. The only states which have this law. In these states 70 is the minimum age fixed for pensioners but an amendment was tacked onto the bill here to reduce this age to 60 for women and 65 for men. The Speaker hopes that 70 will be the age determined on, as we do not know the expense of this undertaking and we must feel our way. We must not burden business too much as this will redound to the disadvantage of the workers of this State.

Mr. Saltonstall mentioned that real estate now bears 79% of the tax burden of Massachusetts. It must be relieved but we must go slowly in radical tax changes with business in mind.

RHODES PITCHES FIRST LEAGUE WIN

Tom Rhodes, Newton high freshman pitcher, twirled Newton high to its first Suburban league victory of the season last Saturday when his teammates knocked Francis Escott, Somerville southpaw, off the mound with a barrage of hits for a 10 to 2 victory. Somerville touched Rhodes for nine hits but he was seldom in trouble. He fanned five, three in the second inning, and issued five passes. Punzo, Somerville centre fielder, reached third in the first inning on his single to centre, and a sacrifice, and an infield out but was left when Bettencourt fouled to Butler. After passing the first batter in the second Rhodes fanned the next three. Although Punzo reached first on Doucette's error after one was out he was left stranded in the third. Bettencourt singled to start the fourth, took second on an infield out and was tagged out by Bennett at third on Howie's rap. With one down in the fifth Corbett got a scratch hit to shortstop but Litchfield made a pretty catch of Punzo's fly to short right and Rhodes tossed out Vitello at first. Somerville got one run in the sixth after one was down. Bettencourt singled to Doucette with a double play in sight and both were safe. The two runners moved up a notch when Fine let a ball get by him and Bettencourt scored on Chesterfield's single to centre. A double play saved Rhodes in the eighth with one down and the bases full. Ryan hit to Barry who tossed to Doucette retiring Chesterfield at second. Doucette pegged to Butler to get Ryan at first. Somerville's second tally came in the ninth with one out. Punzo drew a walk, took second on a wild pitch, Vitello fled to Litchfield, Escott walked, and Bettencourt singled to centre to score Punzo. Bettencourt legged for second on the throw home but Escott was there and he returned to first base where a peg from Butler, who intercepted the throw to the plate, to Litchfield who came in to first to cover the base tagged him out.

Meanwhile the Newton players, for the first time this season, found their batting eyes and clouted out fifteen hits, including a home run and three doubles. The first Newton run came in the first inning after Doucette was safe on the Somerville shortstop's error. Colby fanned but Litchfield drove a two-base hit down the right field foul line to score Doucette from first. In the third two more runs trickled across with Doucette leading off with a double to left. Again Colby fanned and Litchfield was tossed out at first but Bennett drove a long fly to right which Chesterfield got his hands on after a long run and then dropped it to let Doucette score from second and Bennett reach the key-stone sack. Hildreth hit a roller to second which trickled through that baseman's legs. Butler singled to right to score Bennett and Hildreth went to third but Barry grounded out to end the rally.

The big splurge came in the sixth, although Newton filled the bases with two down in the fifth, with Doucette again opening the fireworks. This time he hit a home run to left field. Colby was safe on the shortstop's error, Litchfield sacrificed, Bennett singled through short and Hildreth doubled to left to score both Colby and Bennett. Hildreth took third on the throw to the plate in an attempt to get Bennett. Butler dropped a bunt to squeeze Hildreth over with the fourth run and reached first when the first baseman dropped the ball. Barry and Fine were infield outs.

Just to make the game more certain the orange and black put three more runs over in the seventh to bring their total to ten. Rhodes was first up and he grounded out to the third baseman. Doucette singled to centre, his fourth hit in five trips, stole second and came home when Colby hit a slow roller through the pitcher's box that went for a hit as nobody fielded it. Litchfield singled to centre to put Colby on second base and Escott gave way to Lynch. Bennett singled to score Colby and while Somerville was throwing the ball around Litchfield reached home. In the eighth inning Fine singled with one down but was forced by Rhodes who went to third on Doucette's fifth hit, a single, but Colby fled out and no runs counted.

Exeter Academy lost its first game of the season when St. John's prep school handed them an 8 to 0 shut out at the Exeter field on Wednesday. Frank Spain, captain, collected three hits, one a triple, but failed to score as his teammates although getting ten other hits failed to produce them at the opportune time.

NEWTON SECOND AT HARVARD INT.

The Newton high track team placed second in Class B last Saturday at the annual Harvard interscholastic meet. Boston English high school won the class for public high schools with 20 points while Newton's sixteen points placed it second, ahead of Lynn English and Brookline with 13 each, Lowell with 12, Brockton and Malden, 7 each, Lynn Classical 6, Medford and New Bedford Voc. 5 each, Dorchester 3, and Boston Commerce 2.

Walter Holmes of Newton, after winning his trial heat over Hootstein of Brookline and Bloom of Lynn English and taking third in the semi-final behind Jannell of Lynn English and Woods of Boston English, won the final of the 100-yard dash. Jannell was second, Woods third, Hootstein fourth and Bloom fifth.

Alfred Mouser won his trial heat in the 220-yard dash, took second in the semi-final and then failed to place in the finals. In the 440-yard run Richard Jarrell of Newton was fourth in the second heat. Point winners were decided on times made in the two heats with the winner of the second heat only getting a fifth place as the first heat, won by Manuel Gerstein of Boston English was nearly two seconds faster than the second heat.

Charles Hall of Newton took third place in the half-mile which was won by James Bowden of Medford in the fast time of 2 minutes 4 seconds. Lindsay Brogham of Brookline was second.

Milton Green was high scorer for Newton. He took second place in the 120-yard low hurdles after winning his trial heat and taking second in the semi-final. He was nosed out at the tape in the final by George Lavelle of Lowell. Green then took a fourth in the broad jump with a leap of 19 ft. 7 3/4 inches. There was but five inches between the winner of this event, Yanki of New Bedford, fifth place winner, Littman of Brookline.

James Colligen brought Newton's total to sixteen points with a fourth in the shotput with a heave of 42 ft. 3-8 in.

Norman Harris, former Newton high tennis player, is playing tennis with the M. I. T. freshmen. Newton Man Sets Speed Mark

Francis D. Beard of Newton set a new mark for standard speed boats of the 28-foot class last Saturday when he took his "Sea Gal II" into New York from Boston in 9 hours and 34 minutes. Leaving Boston at 7 on Saturday morning he sailed up to the pier of the New York Yacht Club at thirty-four minutes past four in the afternoon. The weather was perfect and but for a little trouble while off Narragansett Pier better time would have been made. The reason for the trip was to provide a record mark at which other speed boat owners of the 28-foot class could shoot at. The distance is 270 miles and the average speed was a fraction more than 28 miles per hour.

Spain Stars For Exeter

Exeter Academy handed the Harvard seconds a 12 to 2 beating on the Soldiers field diamond last Saturday with Captain Frank Spain featuring the prep school attack with a home run and two singles. His circuit clout came in the sixth inning with two runners on and went clear into the varsity infield from the second diamond, one of the longest hits in Harvard history.

Town Team Wins

The Newton Town team defeated the Waltham Athletics last Sunday at Waltham, 17 to 4. Waterman, one-armed pitcher, allowed Waltham but four hits while his teammates were collecting twenty-one off the Waltham twirlers. The Newton team scored in every inning except the first, fifth and eighth.

Corpus Christi Wins

The Corpus Christi team won a 10 to 6 victory over the Newton Police nine last Sunday on the Ashburdale playground. Sutherland and Murphy were the Ashburdale team's battery while O'Connor and Murphy pitched for the police with Charlton behind the bat.

Cronin Hitting .364

Bill Cronin, Newton youth with the Braves, is batting for .364 for the fourth best average of any Boston national league player. He has played in six games, been at bat eleven times, has scored three runs and has four hits and one sacrifice hit.

Kollmyer First and Second

Hamilton Kollmyer won first place in the 440-yard run at the Harvard freshman intercollegiate track meet on Monday afternoon and also took second in the 220-yard dash.

Souther Pitches Win

George South of Waban pitched the Bowdoin varsity to an 8 to 2 victory over the Bates College nine on Monday at Brunswick, Maine. Bates was leading 2 to 1 until the eighth inning when Bowdoin scored seven times to clinch the victory on four hits and four errors. Souther was hit six times, eight times. He fanned six and passed none.

Johnson Wins and Loses

Henry L. Johnson, Jr., won and lost in the Dartmouth-Yale tennis match on Tuesday which the latter won handily, 8 to 1. Johnson, after losing to Frank Luce, Yale star from Dorchester, teamed with Macdonald to win Dartmouth's only point in a doubles match with Ryan and Luce.

OUR LADY NINE WINS AND LOSES

Last week Friday the Our Lady High school team won its fifth straight game of the Catholic high school league season by defeating St. Mary's high of Brookline at the Brookline avenue grounds, 10 to 8. On Tuesday of this week the local team suffered its first defeat of the season at the Marcella street grounds in Roxbury at the hands of the Mission Church High school team, 4 to 3. The victory for Mission enabled that team to climb into a first place tie with Our Lady, each having five victories and one defeat. St. John's, Cambridge, has games with St. Clement's of Medford and Cathedral of the South end to complete the first round of the league series.

In defeating St. Mary's last Friday the local players continued their heavy hitting by collecting thirteen hits for nineteen bases. Cannon led the attack with a single, double, and triple in five times up while O'Neill hit a home run and a single and Taboldi caught a triple and two singles.

The Newton team took the lead with one run in the first and two more in the second. In the last of the second St. Mary's sent Lombardi to cover with a barrage of hits that brought a five run rally and put the Brookline outfit in the lead. Murphy took over the pitching duties and kept the hits fairly well scattered so that St. Mary's scored but one more run in the sixth and two more in the eighth after the Newton team had taken a safe lead with two more runs in each of the third and fourth innings, a five run rally in the sixth and a single tally in the seventh. In the innings which Murphy pitched he fanned eight and passed none.

Tuesday's game with Mission was close and exciting all the way. John Egan, Mission pitching ace, pitched fine ball throughout the game and allowed but five hits with McArdle, Cannon, Galligan, O'Neill and Taboldi getting one apiece. Murphy was touched for eight hits although he fanned five. He issued three bases on balls.

Egan drove in Mission's winning tally in the seventh with a left field single. Going into the eighth Mission led 4 to 2 when Gramzow got on and his mates worked him around to score but Mission retired the side before further damage could be done.

Rising, a Bowdoin senior, took third place in the 220-yard dash for the Polar Bears while Cole, a sophomore, was second in the broad jump to score three points for the Jumbo team. His leap of 19 feet, 9 3/4 inches was just a shade ahead of Briggs of Bowdoin.

Hill Beats Johnson

The Harvard tennis team blanked the Dartmouth netmen in an eight match contest last Saturday at Hanover, one doubles match being called off. The feature match of the day brought Malcolm T. Hill of Harvard and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Dartmouth, both Waban youths and cousins, together. Hill won from his former co-partner and co-holder of the junior national doubles title, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. Hill then teamed with Frame to win the doubles match from Johnson and McDonald.

Lose In Ten Innings

The B. U. freshmen lost a close game to Brockton High last week Friday when the Shoe City team put over a run in the tenth frame to nose out the Hub out, 5 to 4. Captain Art Wilson, B. U. third baseman and former Newton star, scored one run and got one hit in five times up. In the B. C. '33 victory over the B. U. '33 team, 8 to 4, on Saturday, Wilson got two hits, one double and scored one run.

Kollmyer Second in Quarter

Hamilton Kollmyer of the Harvard freshman track team was second in the 220-yard run at the annual Harvard University handicap meet last week Friday. The former Newton and Exeter sprint man was at scratch with Vernon Munroe, the varsity star who ran a wonderful leg in the Penn relays to bring a Crimson victory a few weeks ago. Munroe won with Kollmyer second and Boches, a twenty yard handicap runner, third.

MALDEN TOPS NEWTON 7-1

Malden defeated Newton high 7 to 1 at Malden on Tuesday afternoon with George Beaman, Malden twirler, holding Newton to six scattered hits. Chipman started for Newton and issued five passes which with five timely hits in the six innings he worked gave the home team a 5 to 0 lead. Newton counted its only tally in the seventh and Malden added two more in the eighth with Kraber in the box for Newton.

Colby's hit with two down in the first was followed by Litchfield's strikeout and then Malden took a three run lead. Chipman passed the first batter. Mulery singled to right with Kranetz taking third. Noseworthy drew a pass to fill the bases. Beaman hit a bouncer between first and second which Butler let go by him. Doucette came over fast but fumbled the ball and Kranetz scored, leaving the bases still filled. Kelley fled to Colby but Crowley smashed a solid single to left that scored two runs, Crowley taking second on Litchfield's vain throw to the plate to get Noseworthy. Ritterhaus fled to Elrod who doubled Crowley off second to end the rally.

In the second inning two more Malden runs counted as the first run had little control. The first two batters were easy outs but Kranetz drew his second pass. Mulery got another hit to right to put the base-runner on third. Appleyard, playing third in place of Bennett who became ineligible on Monday, fumbled Noseworthy's hard rap and the runner scored. Beaman forced Noseworthy at second by a rap to Doucette.

Until the seventh Newton had gotten but one hit off Beaman's delivery, that by Colby in the first. In the seventh Litchfield led off with a single to left. Hildreth, who caught a fine game as both Fine and Champagne had gone on the ineligible list with Bennett, hit to the pitcher and was thrown out at first. Litchfield taking second. Butler hit a slow roller down the third base line and was safe when the third baseman failed to come in for the ball as Litchfield came to third. Barry fanned but Appleyard came through with a single off centre to bring Litchfield home. McCarthy batted for Chipman and was thrown out by the third baseman at first.

Country Day On Short End

Country Day school was on the short end of a 12 to 10 baseball game with Roxbury Latin school last week Friday at the latter's field. The game was marked with free hitting and loose fielding. Roxbury Latin scored five runs in the first inning with White in the box for the Newton team and the Newton team tied the count with a five run rally in the fifth. The sixth inning brought another six-run rally for Roxbury Latin and White gave way to Francis Gleason. With one run in the fifth and four more the seventh Country Day again made a game of it but Roxbury Latin put its twelfth tally over in the eighth and Country Day went scoreless the last two innings. Bentley got a two-base hit and Labouchere a three-bagger to aid in Country Day's attack.

Scheinfain At Third

Everett Scheinfain who has been playing the outfield for Bridgton Academy has returned to his old position at third base for the Maine prep school team.

SPORT NOTES

Country Day Wins

Country Day School won a 9 to 4 victory over Rivers School on Tuesday when the latter team contributed eight errors. Foster, Rivers' pitcher, struck out 15 Country Day batters and allowed but six hits. The local school counted once in each inning up to the seventh when it tallied three times to bring its total to nine. Rivers scored three in the third and once in the seventh and touched Francis Gleason for but seven hits while his teammates supported him with two exceptions.

Ebelhare Ties For First

Edward Ebelhare, former Newton high track star, and now high jumping for Cornell University, tied for first in that event in the dual meet with Penn last Saturday which the Quakers won 67½ to 63½. Ebelhare tied at a height of 5 feet 10 inches with Berlinger, versatile Penn athlete who featured the meet with a first in the javelin, a tie for first in the pole vault, and seconds in the shot and discus in addition to his tie in the high jump, for a total of 18 points.

Scott Wins for Brown

Dave Scott, former Newton high athlete, won his singles match and teamed with Rutan in doubles to win two points for Brown in its 7 to 2 victory over M. I. T. in tennis at Providence last Saturday. It was the fifth consecutive victory for the Bear.

Play 14-Inning Tie

Boston and New Hampshire Universities played a 10 to 10 tie game last Friday at Nickerson field the game being called at the end of the fourteenth on account of darkness. Carleton McCullough got a three bagger and a single to aid in the Hub attack.

Floring Breaks Durham Marks

Bill Floring, Newton Centre youth who captained and starred on the Huntington school indoor track team this past winter, is continuing his fine work on the cinders. At the annual New Hampshire University interscholastic meet at Durham last Saturday Floring set new marks in both the high and low hurdles. These were two of seven records that fell. Huntington with 39 points was second in the out-of-state prep school class which Hebron won with 47. Floring's time in the high hurdles was 16 2/5 seconds and in the low hurdles 26 1/5 seconds.</ its present condition. Intangible wealth has grown five times as fast in the last ten years as has real estate wealth. Something must be done to relieve the mills of this State from taxation which makes it impossible for them to compete with mills in other States. He said that cities must make a drive to reduce their expenditures.

Mr. Childs next introduced James R. Chandler of Waban, who was presented as "the only comedian ever to be a member of the Board of Aldermen." Mr. Chandler amused the gathering with some of the humorous stories for which he is famous.

The next speaker to be introduced was Gov. Frank G. Allen. He agreed with Speaker Saltonstall that it is wiser to postpone the passage of the bill which will revise taxation until next year. One objection the Governor has to the bill in its present form is that it is planned so as to bring in about the same amount of revenues now obtained. This is unwise, as we can't anticipate future needs. He doubts if the time has arrived to change the whole method of taxation. He vetoed the bill to increase exemption on tangible property from $1000 to $1500 because such a change would mean tremendous losses in taxes to many cities and towns in the State and would have necessitated more burdens being placed on real estate. This is just what the proposed changes in the method of taxation is supposed to correct.

The Governor referred to the "dollars and cents side of government," and he deprecated those carpers who contend that Massachusetts is losing its prestige as a great industrial State. He asserted that while we have lost some industries, new industries have more than made up the losses—in 1928 the gain in industry in this State was $50,000,000 in value. Governors and Legislatures of Massachusetts have guarded the welfare of the industries. Governor Allen told of Massachusetts "pay as you go" policy, no bonds having been issued for several years and the net debt of the State having been reduced from $40,000,000 in 1919 to $18,000,000 this year. Although we are spending much more, the State tax on cities and towns has been greatly reduced; this year it is but $7,000,000. The aim is to run the Commonwealth's political business as nearly as possible as private business is efficiently run. In the cost of conducting the government of the State, Massachusetts has the best record in this country. As compared with the pre-war cost, this Commonwealth shows an increase of 72%; the next best record is 101% and one State has increased its cost 847%; this State is North Carolina.

Gov. Allen commented that when he first went to Beacon Hill as a member of the Legislature he thought that government was determined by the matter of dollars and cents. Now he believes that the humanitarian aspect of government is the most important. He believes in going as far as possible in bettering the conditions of the people without imposing tax burdens that will injure our industries. Massachusetts takes care of a larger percentage of its inhabitants than does any State in the Union. He mentioned the new $6,000,000 insane hospital at Waltham. When completed it will make the 16th institution for the care of mentally ill in this State. By preventive clinics for those mentally ill, it is expected that 25% of cases that otherwise would have to go to institutions will be cured in the future. By spending more money now to treat those mentally ill, the State will save money in future years by decreasing the number of those who would have become insane. The same policy is being pursued in our social welfare and health departments. Tuberculosis clinics have reduced the death rate from this disease from 187 per 100,000 to 85. The Governor announced his policy of extending a helping hand to the needy. In conclusion he lauded the type of men Newton has sent to the Legislature.

PARAMOUNT—NEWTON

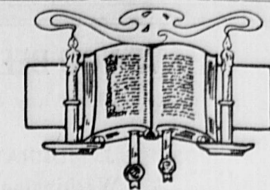

Again the patrons of the Paramount Theatre will have the pleasure of seeing William Powell in another thrilling detective story next week beginning Sunday "The Benson Murder Case." This is another S. S. Van Dine story and is said to be better than "The Canary Murder Case" or the "Green Murder Case." Mr. Powell is more convincing than ever as the suave, silk-hatted amateur sleuth, Philo Vance and his side partner Eugene Pallette as Sgt. Heath is a riot. Van Dine's story is filled with gripping climaxes that twist and turn as the police fumble with the misleading clues.

On the same program will be seen Ford Sterling and Louise Fazenda in "Spring is Here." As on the stage the story deals with young love in its emotional and disturbing stages without attempting to teach a lesson. Supporting members of the cast are Lawrence Gray, Inez Courtney, Natalie Moorehead, Frank Albertson and Gretchen Thomas. There are seven new songs sung everyone of them very popular.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday John Boles in "Song of the West" will be the feature. It is photographed entirely in natural colors and is a story of the Gold Rush days of early '49. A great cast includes Joe E. Brown, Sam Hardy, Eddie Gribbon, and others together with a chorus of 100 trained voices. On the same program will be seen Richard Dix in "Lovin' the Ladies," lauded as one of the most entertaining and enjoyable films he has ever made.

DOG BITES MAN

Carl Hicks of Freeman street, Brookline, complained to the police on Sunday that a dog owned by Daniel Lyne of 75 Beacon street, Chestnut Hill had bitten him. The dog was ordered restrained and Dr. Boutelle was notified to examine him.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Signs of summer are seen not only in the weather and in the beauties of nature, but also in the forward-looking plans being made in this district for Daily Vacation Church Schools. Watertown, Newtonville and Newton Centre are to conduct such vacation church schools as community projects. The Newton Upper Falls M. E. Church is to have a school, and possibly one other church may decide to undertake the project.

Definite promises of handwork for the Church School Exhibit have been received from a dozen or more churches; doubtless many others are planning to participate. This Church School Exhibit is to take place on May 24-25, Saturday and Sunday afternoons, at Colby Hall, Newton Centre, with a program of demonstration, worship services and Bible dramatizations on Sunday.

Types of handwork to be on display will include notebooks, maps, posters, models, sandtray cut-outs, articles made for sending to settlements or mission schools, etc. It is not necessary to have week-day classes and clubs in order to do handwork; careful planning will make possible many kinds of handwork in the Sunday School class, directly connected with the regular lesson topic.

Last Sunday the District Executive Secretary visited two church schools, as is her custom; in one place she was invited to substitute in a class, and in the other place she made plans to meet with the Junior Christian Endeavor in the near future and assist the leader there. She also visited recently a teachers' meeting at the Newton Upper Falls Church, in the interests of the vacation church school movement.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NORUMBEGA C. E. U.

Last Tuesday evening over 75 young people of Norumbega Union attended the annual meeting of that organization at the Waltham Baptist Church, a delicious supper being served by the members of the entertaining society. 7:45 Rev. John Shide Franklin of West Newton concluded his series of "Progressive Endeavor" classes, an officers' conference being held simultaneously under the direction of the Union president, Edward Simpson. As the two groups reassembled, Miss Mildred Isakson of Waltham gave several piano selections. Annual reports were read by each local society president, each telling the work accomplished by his young people this year. The report of the Union superintendent, compiled by Miss Mildred Wickens, the Union secretary, followed. Mr. Franklin Woodward of Waltham then gave an interesting talk on "North-field" bringing back to many of the Endeavorers fond memories of classes, prayer groups and recreation at the annual C. E. Institute each August.

A memorial devotional period, in memory of a former Union counselor, Rev. Robert L. Rae, who died Easter Sunday, consisted of hymns of which he was fond, and a period of silent prayer.

The annual election of officers was conducted by Ralph Colby with the following results: Edward Simpson, president; Dorothy H. Jones, Mildred Isakson, Franklin Bronson, vice-presidents; Emily Dolber, Nellie Seward, secretaries; Harry Woodman, treasurer; George Forbes, auditor; Bessie McCassie, missionary; Douglas Sinclair, quiet hour; Walter Upham, campaign; Dorothy Colby, junior; Rose Kinney, intermediate; Helen Lassman, literature; Mildred Simpson, yearling; Evelynne McNeill, music; Virginia Linton, recreation; Rev. John S. Franklin, Mr. John Scammon, counselors.

The evening concluded with a splendid message by Rev. E. L. Washburn of the North Avenue Baptist Church, Cambridge. Mr. Washburn took for his subject, "Success, Ltd.," his talk starting with the humorous problems of Amos and Andy, ending with the advice to lay a good foundation if success is to be found.

The Fellowship Cup and Attendance Shield were awarded to the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton. Among the other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Blair of Belmont. Mr. Blair is field secretary for the Massachusetts C. E. Union.

World Good-Will Day will be observed next Sunday by the members of the Newton North Congregational Church when Louis Voulleumier will take for his topic "What Are the Causes of War?"

Six members of the new Young People's Society at the Newton Upper Falls Baptist Church were present at the annual meeting of Norumbega Union last Tuesday evening in Waltham.

ANNIVERSARY WEEK AT THE PARAMOUNT

During the week of May 26th The Paramount Theatre will celebrate the First Anniversary of the Publix Theatres management, the actual date of the opening was May 29th last year. The celebration of this birthday cake will be given the patrons and a silver loving cup to the first child born in the Newtons on May 29th together with many other novel features. During the week the theatre will entertain as their guests the old folks of the city who have never seen a talkie picture. The program for the week will be featured with Dennis King and Jeanette MacDonald in "The Vagabond King."

The theatre will be beautifully decorated inside and out and have all of the earmarks of a real birthday party.

TEACHERS HONOR MISS BRAGG

On Wednesday evening the members of the Newton Grade Teachers' Club held a banquet at Longwood Towers, Brookline, in honor of Miss Mabel C. Bragg. Miss Bragg, retiring Assistant Superintendent of the Newton Schools, has accepted a position with Boston University. A delicious dinner was served to about 300 guests, during which time music was furnished by the Irene Forte Trio. The program opened with greetings from Miss Teale, the Club President, followed by the reading of a tribute to Miss Bragg, by Miss Gertrude Swartz, who composed it. Several cleverly written songs, with words written especially for the occasion, expressing the love and appreciation of the members for Miss Bragg, were sung during the evening. A well-received speech by Superintendent Ulysses G. Wheeler was followed by a few words of appreciation from the guest of the evening. The President, in behalf of the club, presented Miss Bragg with a handsomely fitted travelling case. This was followed by an interesting address by Rev. James Gordon Gilkey, D.D., who spoke on "Debts and Credits in Modern Life." The affair was in charge of the Club President, Miss Alice M. Teale, and assisted by Miss Florence M. Cook. Since coming to Newton 15 years ago to take up her work in the Newton schools, Miss Bragg, with her tireless energy and kind understanding has won the love and respect of all who came in contact with her. She plans to continue with her lecture work throughout the country, in addition to her work at Boston University this fall.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The annual meeting of the Hunnewell Club was held on Monday evening with one of the largest attendances in several years. The meeting was preceded by an enjoyable dinner served by Sellar and enlivened by community singing, solos, quartet selections by various members and by several selections on the ukelele by Wallace Webber.

Following the dinner reports from the various committee chairmen, secretary, and treasurer were received and accepted. The secretary's report showed a slight gain in membership while the treasurer's report was the most encouraging for some time. The purchase of the club from ex-president Freeman O. Stanley through a first mortgage and a second mortgage bond issue subscribed to by the members was a feature of the club's year. The increased use of the bowling alleys and other social activities of the club was reflected in the income from these sources which, with the exception of tennis, showed a gain over that in the year ending April 30, 1929. The net deficit of the previous year was cut by more than half.

President Curtiss, in calling for the various reports, expressed the appreciation of all to the time and interest the chairmen and their committees had taken in doing their part. The nominating committee presented its report and the following were elected to office for the coming year: President, Henry P. Curtiss; vice-president, Harold Moore; secretary, Massey H. Stone; treasurer, Harry L. Dexter; directors for two years, Edward O. Loring, Julius Hollander, Warren K. Brimblecom; membership committee, Everett L. Olds, chairman, Carlos T. Pierce, Dwight Colburn, Roger B. Tyler, James B. Melcher; auditing committee, Henry D. Lloyd, chairman, Fred A. Gay, M. W. Dennison. The first four named officers were re-elected. The meeting was then adjourned.

A meeting of the executive committee was called and the following were appointed committee chairmen: Daniel A. White and Julius Hollander, finance; Harold Moore, house; E. O. Loring, bowling; Julius Hollander, billiards; William H. Blandy, tennis; Dr. Sterling O. Loveland, entertainment; Warren K. Brimblecom, whist and publicity.

AUBURNDALE CLUB

The Annual Banquet of the Bowling Committee of the Auburndale Club was held at the Club House on May 12th. The presentation was made of a handsome cup with the names of the winning team engraved on the cup. The members of the winning team were: W. Ward Jones, Captain; John Carter, Ralph Shaw, Henry L. Goodnam and Edward Gray.

The entire Club was divided into two leagues the National and the American. Teams made up of five men each competed with each other in the various leagues.

The losing team served as waiters and wore the usual costume of waiters for such an occasion. These were: Herbert McGill, Warren Bucknam, Theodore Dearborn, Arnold Jenkins, Harold Knowlton.

The winning team sat in the centre of the auditorium and received many congratulations from the seventy-five bowlers in attendance. Ralph Weston entertained the group with his reading of the famous "Casey at the Bat" and "The Three Trees." After which, entertainment was furnished by a few of the theatrical stars of Boston. Bowling and card playing completed a most successful evening.

The entire program was in charge of Mr. Herbert Althams, Chairman, Wilbur Gilpatrick, Jack Holmes, William Jarvis, Theodore Dearborn, Eugene Smith and Bradley Hill.

NEWTON POST 48, AMERICAN LEGION

All arrangements have been completed by Newton Post 48, American Legion to stage their fifth Annual Welfare Concert at the Newton High School Auditorium, Walnut street, Newtonville, on Friday evening, May 23, 1930. A large committee headed by the chairman, Francis J. Barry, is endeavoring to make this concert the most successful of which the Post has ever presented to the public.

These concerts are run each year to secure funds for Welfare Work among needy veterans and their families, and to assist the Post in its Community Service Program. Newton Post does not believe in Poppy Drives, and once each spring stages their Welfare Concert to secure funds.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks, a past commander of Newton Post, is the honorary chairman, and Mr. Will White, former manager of Norumbega Park and now the manager of Playland in New York, will be the master of ceremonies at this year's concert.

There will be ten acts of vaudeville and entertainment, furnished by leading actors and actresses of Greater Boston, and one of the acts will be furnished by members of Newton Post No. 48, who have been rehearsing under the direction of Dr. Thomas Dowd; it is a one act comedy entitled "A. W. O. L." and was written by Daniel Wilkerson, Henry Dath, Edward Geraci, William A. Davidson, Joseph Beattie, Richard Capstick, Russell Viles, Donald H. Hill, Frank R. Giv, J. Edward Therault, Herbert Gleim, and Dr. Thomas Dowd.

LOCAL WOMEN ELECTED

Miss Florence Bigelow, principal of the Walnut Hill School, Natick, and a member of the Boston Branch of the American Association of University Women, very graciously entertained the members of that organization at luncheon, preceding the annual meeting last Saturday afternoon. An important feature of the occasion was the formation of a State Branch of the American Association of University Women. Miss Margaret McGill of Newtonville will again serve as vice-president. Mrs. B. A. Thresher of Waban will continue her valuable work as Boston chairman of the Million Dollar Fellowship Fund, while Mrs. Herbert S. Kimball of Waban will continue to serve as chairman of the Boston Alumnae Fellowship committee.

BUNDLE DAY

On "Bundle Day" May 19th, the fire and police stations in Greater Boston will be the scene of much activity. On every station there will appear a large sign signifying that bundles of clothing can be left there to help out the people in the Near East, especially the children who are in dire need. They need the garments, which we who are accustomed to good clothes have little use for and perhaps store away in the attic, little dreaming that the people in less fortunate circumstances are going without the proper clothing with which we could supply them very readily.

"Bundle Day" is held to call our attention to this fact and to remind us that we can be of great service without sacrificing anything that we need. This is charity that will be appreciated as much almost as money, and yet those of us who would be unable to give the actual cash are enabled to help just the same.

Leave a bundle of old clothes at your nearest Fire or Police Station on Monday, May 19th, and help to clothe the children of the Near East.

Our readers are probably aware that the state has had for the past six years a Judicial Council composed of nine prominent lawyers appointed for the continuous study of the organization, rules and methods of procedure and practice of the judicial system of the Commonwealth. It is needless to say that the recommendations of such a body should receive careful consideration and, in most cases, prompt action along the lines suggested by the Council. While some excellent legislation has been accomplished it is apparent that when the recommendation is on a controversial matter it is usually ignored, either by the Committee on Judiciary, always composed of lawyers or, if, by some ledgerdemain, favorable action is taken by the committee, the Ways and Means Committee find that expense is a more important matter than correction of existing evils. We are led to make this comment because a recent recommendation of the Council, to relieve congestion in our courts, received favorable action by the Committee but was killed on report of Ways and Means that the expense was excessive. We are sorry to note that Representative Baker took a prominent part in this action of the Ways and Means Committee.

While old age pensions or "assistance" appeal to one sentiment their adoption means additional taxes and a further unnecessary burden on the average tax payer.

The Christian Science Monitor is publishing a most interesting and comprehensive series of articles on the subject "Is Prohibition Worth Keeping." It is by far the most outstanding discussion of this vexed question.

It is a matter of regret that the companies controlling the gas filling stations in this city have deemed it advisable for publicity purposes to transform their neat and attractive stations into hideous blotches of color. We suggest that the Chamber of Commerce might find this a field in which to work for a return to previous conditions.

We have received many words of commendation for the Newton War Memorial which has just been published by the Graphic. The handsome binding with its gold star has appealed to a large number of the subscribers to the book.

LEGISLATIVE PRINCIPLES

Congressman Robert Luce is the author of a third volume in the Science of Legislation, entitled Legislative principles, a history, description and criticism of representative government so far as lawmaking is involved.

No other book covers so exhaustively all three aspects of the subject. Mr. Luce begins with a study of the nature, origin, and development of law, goes on to the origin and development of representative institutions, takes up organic law as embodied in the American Constitutions, and discusses constitutional conventions. The rest of the volume is devoted to the methods of enacting into statute law the will of a people. The style is scholarly, but lightened with anecdotes and reminiscences.

Mr. Luce has written two other volumes, Legislative Assemblies and Legislative Procedure which have already taken their place as the standard books on the science of Legislation.

These books are published by the Houghton Mifflin Co.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

A strenuous effort was made by Senator Hollis to have the Senate pass the bill for the construction of sidewalks on State highways. He contended that it was greatly needed as a safety measure and insisted that if it resulted in the saving of a single life it would be worth while. He called attention to the record of motor vehicle fatalities and pointed out that the majority were pedestrians. He maintained that it was the duty of the Legislature to pass such legislation. Opponents of the bill argued that no matter how generally and how well the sidewalks were built many people would continue to use the highways. The Senate voted by roll call, 16 to 14, to refer the matter to next year's Legislature.

Representative Baker has returned to his duties after a slight indisposition which forced him to remain at home for several days.

The third veto of the present session to be sent in by Governor Allen aroused something of a small-sized tempest and found a number of staunch Republicans in strong opposition to His Excellency. The bill was that "to increase the maximum amount of State reimbursement of cities and towns for care of certain sick persons." It would have increased the maximum amount of reimbursement paid by the State for the care of these persons from $10.50 to $16 per week, an increase over 50 percent. The Governor in his message said, "Massachusetts at present bears a far greater share than any other State of the total cost of care of the sick and the indigent within its borders. In 1930 total appropriations by the Commonwealth for the care of the sick and the indigent comprise $21,152,140, constituting 34 percent of the total appropriations. The Commonwealth is one of the very few States which assumes the total cost of the care of the mentally ill, thus relieving the cities and towns of this burden." These and other arguments put forth by the Governor did not seem to convince a majority of the House members. There were several speeches in favor of overriding the Governor's veto and when it came to the question of "passing the bill notwithstanding the veto of the Governor" 118 voted yes and 99 nay. This made a majority of 19 in favor of overriding the Governor, but in the case of a veto it is necessary that two-thirds of those present vote to override. Thus the Governor was sustained. Representative Luitwieler voted with the Governor while Representatives Baker and Thompson were not recorded.

After considerable debate the House passed a bill to provide for the payment of old age assistance, or, as the title puts it, "providing for adequate assistance to certain aged citizens." It is the result of many annual attempts to obtain the passage of some form of old age pension legislation. The House Ways and Means Committee last week reported the bill which made the age 70 for both men and women before they could receive assistance and provided that they must first prove that "kindred" were unable to support them. Then came the fight in the House to make the ages 65 for men and 60 for women and to strike out the "kindred" provision. By roll call, 117 to 109, the age limit was changed to 60 for women and 65 for men and by voice vote the "kindred" provision was struck out. Then the bill was advanced by roll call, 202 to 19. Representative Luitwieler fought against the bill all the way. He was bitterly assailed by one of the leading Democrats for his attitude. Mr. Luitwieler voted against amending the bill and also against passing it. Representatives Baker and Thompson were not recorded. The bill contains a provision that the State Tax Commissioner shall make an investigation for the purpose of determining various sources of revenue to make the law operative. Amusements, proprietary articles and luxuries are on the list which the Tax Commissioner is expected to look into for the purpose of learning how best the money may be raised.

Two well known figures in the State House for a number of years have passed on. Executive Councillor Alvin E. Bliss of Malden died suddenly at his home and Former Sergeant-at-Arms James A. Beatty of Waltham died after an extended illness. Funeral services for each were held last Friday afternoon and delegations from all departments attended. There will be a joint convention of the Senate and House during the coming week to fill the vacancy in the Executive Council caused by the death of Mr. Bliss. The Councilmen from that district has always been a Republican so that the matter of selecting a new Councillor can and no doubt will be settled by the Republican leaders before the joint convention is called.

Under the provisions of a resolve signed this week by the Governor an unpaid commission of seven members will be appointed by the Governor to inquire into the use in Massachusetts of habit-forming drugs "and other potent medicinal substances with a view to the formulation and adoption of such measures as will most effectively protect the people of the Commonwealth from the terrible consequences of drug addiction."

A bill to provide for the payment of $100 to the mothers of certain veterans who made the supreme sacrifice and whose bodies are buried in foreign territory is now before the Joint Rules Committee on the question of admitting under a suspension of the rules for consideration at this session of the General Court.

With a large number of the most important bills relating to gas and electric companies having been reported by the Power and Light Committee and with taxation bills the only bills of more than ordinary importance awaiting committee action, the possibility of adjournment before June seems more probable. Prorogation has been definitely set for the last of this month but it is not certain that it will be reached by that time although leaders are extremely hopeful.

SCHOOL NOTES

LEVI F. WARREN JR. HIGH

The assembly of May 7th began with the usual opening exercises, and Robert Cotton read a few announcements. Then Warren Tris gave "Content of the Jungle." Part of a film on Refrigeration was the shown. Some of the things that were shown were how ice was cut, how artificial ice is made, how ice is shipped, and other interesting facts. We then had a good old-fashioned sing and sang "America, the Beautiful," "Annie Laurie," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "Old Black Joe," "Old Folks at Home," and "Love's Old Sweet Song." The assembly closed in the usual manner with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Thrift

Last week, we had 100% in thrift. 674 pupils were present that day. All banked. $173.43 was deposited.

The Annual Red Cross Convention

On May third two boys and our principal, Mr. Scarborough, left for Washington to attend the National Red Cross Convention held from May 5-8. President Hoover opened the convention, welcoming the delegates and expressing his wish that the convention would be successful. The delegates, Paul Felt, Billy Durbin and Mr. Scarborough attended the Junior sessions, the boys taking votes on the speeches and the business of the convention. Many good times were planned among them being a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon and Arlington where wreaths were placed on the tombs of George Washington and the Unknown Soldier. The convention was a great success and the delegates from our city had a wonderful time.

RALPH WALDO EMERSON SCHOOL

Health day was observed at 11 o'clock on Thursday, May 8, with an appropriate program in the school hall which was witnessed by all the pupils, visiting parents, and special guests that included Miss Mabel C. Bragg, general director of health education in Newton. The program opened with "Greetings and Good Will" by Vaughan Shedd. Then came the "Creation" sung by Grade Seven. This was followed by a "Health Exercise" combining song and motion in representation of a variety of games and was contributed by a group of selected girls.

"The Trial of Johnny Jones," a health play, was the principal program number and was presented by 50 players, all in costume. The principal characters were "King Joy" taken by Charles Wasilewski, "Queen Happiness," by Virginia Pinkerton, and "Johnny Jones," by Martin Daley. There were groups of "Sunshine Fairies," "Oatmeal Girls," "Milk Girls," "Toothbrush Brigade," "Vegetables and Fruits Impersonators," and "Clock, Bathub, Weight and Drinkwater" individual impersonators. All combined to furnish a very delightful major number.

Miss Mabel C. Bragg made an address to the children which was listened to with much interest by the entire audience. In it she reviewed the high accomplishment of the children in health considerations, paying special tribute to the 9 classes with a perfect record, 100 per cent, in teeth.

Miss McLean presented pins and badges to the boys and girls in each of the second grade who had been chosen as best in posture for the year. Some were second year awards and one was a third year.

Salute to the Flag and "America the Beautiful," by the entire school, concluded the well-rendered program.

Miss Marion D. Bassett returned to service this week from a 3-months leave of absence touring many foreign lands. Her itinerary included the countries of Spain, Algeria, Sicily, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Syria, Palestine, Egypt, France and Switzerland. Miss Bassett has been collector for the school of interesting post-card and other material. She will give her first travelogue at the Assembly on Monday May 19.

Twenty pupils of the class of Miss Hardy presented an interesting play at the Assembly on May 12. The play bore the title, "Thrill and Spendthrift" and contrasted the attitudes, habits, and results in two opposite kinds of homes.

CONTINUES TIRE BARGAINS

Continuing his radical reductions in the prices of discontinued lines of tires, C. M. Evans of the Evans Tire Co. at 52 Mt. Auburn St., has greater bargains than ever in sizes that will appeal to the motorist who desires to fit his car with new rubber for the coming summer touring. Prices on new Goodyears in either Pathfinder or All-Weather tread also remain remarkably low for the tremendous mileage which these tires give.

FRANCES M. CAHILL

Frances M. Cahill, daughter of Mrs. Ellen Kerrivan Cahill and the late James E. Cahill, died on Tuesday night at her late home, 739 Watertown street, West Newton. She was born at Upper Falls, Miss Cahill was a member of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Daughters of Veterans. She is survived by her mother, a brother, Fred A. Cahill, and two sisters, Mrs. Grace Carey and Miss Mae G. Cahill. Her funeral service was held this morning at St. Bernard's Church and burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

SERVICE IS MOTHER-PREACHER'S THEME

Mother's Day was observed Sunday at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton with a service conducted entirely by young women. The preacher for the evening was Mrs. Barbara St. Denis Franklin who took for her sermon the topic, "Saving Service." With a clear, ringing voice that was heard easily throughout the crowded auditorium, Mrs. Franklin presented the ideals of service that are so characteristic of Motherhood. Perhaps it was modesty that prevented her saying much about motherhood itself, for in the paragon just across the church lawn her own little son was sleeping peacefully while she spoke.

The message of this twenty-six-year-old mother-preacher was in part as follows:

"As most of you know, preaching is not my familiar role and so to make myself more at home I am going to start by telling you a little story. As you know, the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea are made of the same water. It comes from the same high mountains to the north. The Sea of Galilee makes beauty of that water for it has an outlet. It gets to give. But the Dead Sea with the same water makes horror, for with no outlet, it gets only to keep. By this little word-picture we can all see that in order to enjoy anything we must share it.

"The New Testament writers realized the peril of a passive response to the Truth. Jesus brought not only a message to be heard but also a deed to be done, as Harry Emerson Fosdick points out in his 'The Meaning of Service.' His gospel rings out with the challenge, 'Everyone that heareth these words of mine and doeth them not shall likened unto a foolish man who built his house upon the sand.' Paul said, 'Not the hearers of the law are just before God but the doers.'"

Using the life of St. Paul as an illustration, Mrs. Franklin closed the first section of her sermon with this statement, "Paul was saved to serve and serving saved himself." She next spoke on the inequalities in various folks that make it impossible for all to serve alike. By the story called "The Place of Honor," she showed that the true measure of service lies in the spirit and motive back of it.

Continuing with the thought of the humanities to a life of service, Mrs. Franklin pointed out that it is the little things which spoil our service for God, our conceit, pride, self-seeking and conceit. "On the side of Long's Peak in Colorado there lie the ruins of a giant forest monarch. Scientists tell us that it is four centuries old. It was a seedling when Columbus landed on San Salvador. It had been struck by lightning fourteen times, it has withstood the avalanches and storms of four centuries, yet it lies in ruins today, killed by little beetles that you and I could crush between our fingers."

After summing up her first three points, Mrs. Franklin closed her service with the four-fold challenge of Christian Service in the realms of the physical, mental, moral and spiritual life. She spoke of changing emphases and methods in the service of God and referred to the new freedom and privilege of young people and the ever-increasing closeness of the world's peoples as especially testing our generation. She said in conclusion:

"In the new contacts lie the possibility of endless wars and friction or the possibility of organized fraternity. We must be pioneers again. Our old spirit of service is challenged with new tools and new methods but with age-old results.

'New occasions teach new duties; Time makes ancient good uncouth; They must upward still and onward, who would keep abreast of Truth. Lo! Before us gleam her camp-fires; we ourselves must pilgrims be; Launch our Mayflower, and steer boldly through the desperate winter sea, Nor attempt the Future's portal with the Past's blood-rusted key.'"

ABOUT TOWN

by Edw. H. Powers

This week a policeman was placed at Watertown and Pearl streets to protect the many children who cross at this place from the heavy traffic which speeds down Watertown street. For the past several years many requests have been made to have a policeman stationed at this corner. Recently a count was made of the number of children who cross Watertown street at this point. A boy scout counted 302 crossings made by small children going to and coming from the Stearns, Eliot and French parochial schools. This would seem to indicate that the demands for police protection for the children were not unwarranted.

The meek and lowly males are commencing to emulate the females, by wearing less clothing. Dartmouth students have announced their intention of discarding trousers and wearing "shorts" for the remainder of the college year. "Shorts" is a high-toned name for a garment which, in former years, was mentioned cautiously. Some of the young men who will wear shorts possess lower limbs that will rival in pulchritude those of some of the young women who wore abbreviated skirts. But a larger percentage of males in Dartmouth and out of Dartmouth have shanks that are more attractive when concealed. And apart from the aesthetic effect, we will wager that after the mosquitoes and midges get in their work on the exposed legs of the Dartmouthites, the wearing of "shorts" will become less popular.

Governor Allen, at the meeting of the Newton Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday night explained why he vetoed the bill which would have increased the exemption on tangible property from $1000 to $1500. To increase this exemption amount, so the Governor stated, would have placed additional burdens on real estate taxation. Had this bill been enacted into law, the City of Newton would have had to exempt $3,206,450 more tangible property than is now exempted. The loss to the city on such increased exemption would have amounted to over $87,000 in taxes.

The resurfacing work on Washington street at West Newton necessitates a detour for traffic over Highland and Temple streets to Commonwealth avenue, or vice versa. Temple street is carrying more traffic than it ever has since it was constructed.

One large corporation, which operates many gasoline filling stations, seems to have "turned green with envy" over the success of some of its rivals, if the lurid change it has made in the color scheme at its stations is any criterion. Daunting filling stations with vivid hues will not increase business. The quality of the gasoline sold and the quality of the service rendered—is what brings trade.

A number of boys from the F. A. Day School went to the East Boston airport on Tuesday and enjoyed their initial flights in the air.

Notices to contractors asking for bids on the filling and grading of four acres of land at Boyd Park and the construction of a culvert were sent out on Wednesday. The culvert will be 927 feet long, 6 feet high and 12½ feet wide, to be constructed of reinforced concrete. This improvement has been sought for years by residents of Ward I and when completed will evolve Boyd Park from a playground area of little value to one which should afford excellent playing facilities to children who reside in one of the most thickly settled districts of the city. Mayor Weeks stated in his inaugural address that he would endeavor to have this improvement made this year and he has kept his promise.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

The work the rivers do in wearing away our land is the subject of the motion picture made by Dr. W. W. Atwood, famous American geographer, which will be shown at the Children's Museum on Saturday, May 17, at 3:00. Admission is free. A laughable motion picture called "Felix in the Swim" will wind up the program.

Miss Mildred E. Manter, Director of the Museum, announces the formation of a nature club open to all boys and girls. The club is under the direction of Miss Anita Neu of the Museum Staff. Meetings take place Thursdays at 4 and Saturdays from 9 to 12. Registration should be made promptly. General nature study, correlating with bird walks in preparation for summer field trips is the underlying purpose of the club, and a special project is the collecting and planting of a wild roof garden by the children themselves. The subjects to be taken up begin with flowers and small plants, and include reptiles, trees of Olmsted Park, birds and bird nests, insects, animals, minerals, and a Nature Trail.

A complete and fascinating little journey through India is packed into "From the Ganges to the Brahmaputra" one of the May school talks being given almost every day at the Museum by Miss Sawyer of the Museum Staff.

While the older grades are enjoying talks on India, birds, famous scenes and men of early Boston, men and deeds of early England and the life stories of toads and frogs, grades I to IV are learning from Miss Donna B. Polant of the Museum staff all about how the children of the Philippines who climb ladders to their front doors, sleep on bamboo pillows and eat sugar cane for candy. As with India, a story-telling exhibit showing just how the people live brings these seven thousand islands, in reality so far away that it takes a letter about three months to get there, very near to the children. Miss Polant dresses up for each class in a native costume. Lantern slides also clarify geography book accounts.

POLICE NEWS

A mistake in the delivery of a suit of clothes which was returned from a cleansing firm caused serious consequences to Bruno Rizza of 40 Aiden place, West Newton, and Joseph Givens of Armory street, West Newton. Mr. Givens, a young colored gentleman, is representative in this district for a Roxbury cleansing establishment. He returned to Salvatore Medaglia of Oak avenue, West Newton, a suit of clothes which had been cleaned. The suit, however, was not the one owned by Mr. Medaglia and naturally he objected to taking a suit which was not his. An argument ensued Wednesday morning between Mr. Givens and Mr. Medaglia and Motorcycle Officer Goddard went to the Oak avenue residence to act as arbitrator in the dispute, which had waxed hot.

Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Givens, having found the right suit to deliver at Oak avenue, and mindful of the strained relations which existed, went to police headquarters and asked for a guard to accompany him on his second visit to the scene of hostilities. House Officer George Kilmain, the Solomon of the department, who combines diplomacy with businessness, was assigned as escort to Mr. Givens and the trip to Oak avenue was taken. Givens was the first to alight from the delivery auto. He was met, not by the indignant owner of the suit, but by Bruno Rizza, who apparently injected himself into the affair as paladin for Mr. Medaglia. Unfortunately for Mr. Givens and Bruno Rizza, Officer Kilmain remained invisible to the reception committee of one because of the screen of suits which hung in the car. Givens alighted first and simultaneously with his exit from the car, Mr. Rizza, according to Officer Kilmain, without any oral prelude executed a right swing which started near the ground and ended on Mr. Givens' mouth, causing the latter to lose his equilibrium. Rizza was promptly arrested by Kilmain and taken to police headquarters. He appeared in the Newton court yesterday morning and his case was continued until May 16.

Troop 4, Wellesley Hills, Boy Scouts held an informal meeting on Thursday evening in St. Mary's Parish Hall. The boys played a few games of Kick the Pin, after which they separated into groups and Scout Master Golvay escorted the first class scouts to the Parish Hall and gave the boys extensive instruction in compass reading, map making, and judging. Francis Ellis instructed the remainder of the boys in their respective work. After this William Murphy and Orlando Murphy were awarded their Tenderfoot pins, which were awarded to them at the recent Court of Honor. Dues were collected and Scout Master Golvay concluded the meeting by reading serial story and Scout Benediction.

By L. D. G. Bentley

Nothing, in my opinion, will arouse a wider public interest in the purpose for which Memorial Day was set aside by the Nation than the form of observance Newton plans for this year. The sacrifices of the veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish War and the World War will be the dominating feature, while the turning-out of civic bodies in the afternoon parade will not only remind us that this is the year of the Tercentenary of the Massachusetts Bay Colony but will emphasize our deep obligation to the soldiers, sailors, marines, nurses and all the brave men and women whose courage we recognize but sometimes forget in the great whirl of everyday things.

It should not be necessary to remind each year the people of a city that Memorial Day was established for the decoration of the graves of departed heroes and for the holding of fitting services in honor of their memory. And yet I am afraid that from year to year only the living soldiers and their families and the surviving kin of those who have passed on are mindful of the day's true significance. Of course a number of our other good citizens appreciate the reason for which Memorial Day has been declared a holiday. They, however, are not called upon to perform any service by which they may express their feelings except to observe as spectators the memorial exercises.

This year we are certain that a larger number of men and women will take part. Instead of submerging the glory of the lives of those who fought for their country it will be brought fresh to our minds. We will be reminded that it is an occasion which demands a tribute from all classes of citizens and we will learn of the history of earlier times when others displayed the same fortitude and bravery that gave us a Nation to uphold and defend.

The people of Newton should not have to be urged to cooperate in this splendid movement. I for one have faith in my fellowtownsmen and believe firmly that the response will prove that we in Newton are thoughtful and grateful.

How the warm weather brought out the haircuts! Many a pair of barber's scissors must have gone dull and demanded immediate attention of the grinder with all the youngsters blowing for a trim. I noticed in my favorite barber shop how the juvenile patronage had jumped. Half-dozen boys at a time waiting their turn. Most of them seemed to like it, but some of them did not. I was in for considerable attention from the beauty expert—he earns his money in my case—so I had time to watch. And I've observed them before, many a time.

It has always been a notion of mine that the youngster's behavior in a barber shop gave you a sort of index to his nature. Take the kid who comes in with his mother and seems to have been coaxed or bribed in order to get him to undergo the operation. He sits uneasily among the waiting customers. His mother frequently whispers to him, tries to amuse him and put him in good humor, but without success. He fidgets and squirms and no doubt wishes it were all over for him. The other customers do, anyway.

Finally a chair is empty. The barber reaches for one of those small seats that are fitted in the big chair and smiles at the mother. All is in readiness. The kid begins a fresh protest. "I don't want to," he whines. "But you must," says the mother. "It won't take long. See, the nice man is waiting for you."

Reluctantly the youngster permits himself to be lifted to the chair. He doesn't feel comfortable and complains. The barber tries to adjust the chair and puts on the long sheet. Another howl from the boy. More talk by the mother, with now and then a reassuring word from the barber. Then there is a moment's quiet and the barber begins. He has a tough job. The mother goes back to sit down and the boy turns his head around to watch her. The barber, being a professional and used to this sort of behavior, avoids stabbing the little lad with the scissors. As the process is continued there are several such narrow escapes but finally the hair is cut and then comes the water or smelly liquid to make it lie down. Again the boy fusses, but the barber beats him to it and the first thing the cloth is drawn aside and the boy is back safe in his fond mother's arms.

The next boy isn't a bit bashful and is all ready for a trimming. His mother, however, seems to have an idea that the barber has never before cut a child's hair and so she begins to direct the operation. "Not too high in the back" she commands. "I don't want so much to have the hair removed as to make it look neat and trim. I think if you were to apply the scissors to the side and the top it would be much nicer, if you know what I mean."

I pity the barber. He must remember that "the customer is always right," although he knows that in this case she is wrong. But under the supervision of the mother the barber goes ahead on a job which consumes more time than it takes to clip a collie dog and make him appear like a smugified lion in appearance. Another kid will come to the barber shop with two or three of his young pals. They all need haircuts but only one is to receive the barber's attention. It is a sort of lark. The boys grin and chuckle and make whispering jokes to each other and then when the lucky boy's turn is called there is a great laugh all around. It puts the whole shop in good humor and makes every man wish he was a youngster again.

I remember that I was a nervous little wretch myself. The first time I was shorn of my curls didn't bother me at all as I was very young; but when I was a little older and began

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D.A.R.

The annual meeting was held at the Chapter House on Monday, May 12th. Work for the Veterans occupied the morning hours and at one o'clock a box luncheon was served with the following hostesses: Mrs. J. E. Masters, Chairman; Mrs. E. J. Fessenden, Mrs. C. N. Fitz, Miss Harriet Fitz, Miss E. H. Freeman, Mrs. A. P. Friend, Mrs. J. W. Gerrity, Mrs. W. E. Gill, Mrs. E. P. Goodman, Mrs. Wm. H. Gould, Mrs. L. E. G. Green and Mrs. W. F. Gregory.

At 2:30 p. m. the business meeting was called and reports of officers and delegates given. Mrs. Frank M. Sherman spoke of her impressions of the Continental Congress, and Mrs. Gardner I. Jones described Constitution Hall. An election of officers was held and the retiring corresponding secretary, Miss Emily F. Jordan, who has served for 12 years, was presented with flowers which will be followed by an emblem pin, the gift of the executive board and the house committee.

The newly elected officers are: Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. John W. Byers; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Ralph E. Hatch; Directors, Mrs. J. Frank Dunleavy, Mrs. George B. H. Macomber, Mrs. Henry P. Richmond, Mrs. Warren D. Thompson, Chairman of nominating committee, Mrs. Charles N. Fitz.

As the new members were initiated, the regent, Mrs. Liverus H. Howe presented them with small flags. The last card party of the season will be held at the home of Miss Nella J. Pearson on Tuesday, May 20th.

NEWTON LEGION BAND

The third meeting of the Newton American Legion Post Band Committee and the first rehearsal of the Newton Post Band was held last Monday night at the legion quarters in the City Hall annex under the direction of Harold D. Ames, chairman. The committee was organized with the following officers: Harold D. Ames, manager; Dr. Thomas F. Dowd, treasurer; Edward Ennis, secretary; Frank J. Barry, publicity; Russell Viles, custodian of property and quarters; Robert Cunningham, librarian.

Traffic Officer Thomas M. Cummings was elected drum major of the band. During the war he was leader of the 301st Infantry band. Thirty five men are rehearsing and every indication is given that the completed roster will make a band of from fifty to sixty pieces. The committee takes pride in announcing the fact that the material available will make it unnecessary to seek outside musicians and in the fact that every member of the band, the majority of whom are of the working class, are financing the purchase of gold and silver instruments of the first class.

As the band will include only members of the Newton Post no special uniforms will be required other than the regulation American Legion outfit. The band has the backing of the Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Weeks and Chief of Police Burke. It expects to be ready for the National Convention of Legion posts in Boston in October.

HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB SINGS IN BEVERLY CONTEST

Last Saturday afternoon and evening, the Highland Glee Club participated in the Sixth Annual Singing Contest and Combined Concert of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs. The affair was held in the High School Auditorium, Beverly, and was attended by many Newton people interested in the Highland Glee Club.

The purpose of the Federation is to help preserve and promote a love for and appreciation of the best in the art of singing and the members of the local club obtain much enjoyment and satisfaction each year in being a part of this worthy movement.

to realize that the scissors were an implement of death I faced the barber with fear and trembling. I know that I must have been a torment then or was on one occasion at least. The barber, a grouchy old fellow, hissed in my ear. "If you move your head again I'll cut your ear off." And I believed him. I sat, frozen in terror, through the rest of the operation.

Every time after that I behaved like an angel because I firmly believed that if I misbehaved I would be in a bloody victim of a barber's wrath. Recently I told a barber how I had been frightened and asked him what he thought of that method of keeping a child quiet. Said he, "If we said that to a boy today he would only laugh and answer, 'If you get fresh with me, barber, I'll bust your old nose for you.'"

Kids have changed, the barber declared. Well, maybe so but I have my doubts.

I am well aware that most of us are fed-up on the Boston police situation. As one privileged to enjoy the friendship of the new Commissioner, Eugene C. Hultman, and also as possessor of knowledge of the circumstances under which the Governor appointed him, I cannot resist an opportunity to write of Mr. Hultman.

Personally he is a likeable individual, not because he has the attributes of a politician, but because he is a straight-shooter. He has even been called "Straight-laced" and if such a man is not needed in Boston at this time I'll back down as gracefully as possible.

Physically, you might call the new Commissioner a giant, but he isn't gruff or surly like the storybook giant and is always genial and courteous. He is a stickler for running the job as it should be. In my long observation of officials and their conduct of their office and duties I have never seen anybody who more readily commanded my respect for his integrity and his industry. Back in the days when the ordinary folks were worrying over the prices of fuel and food you would find Mr. Hultman, as chairman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life, striving his utmost to see if these costs could not be lowered to the advantage of both dealers and consumers.

I happen to know that he incurred the bitter enmity of a number of people, including prominent politicians. And I also know of my own knowledge that it didn't disturb him in the least whose toes were tread upon as long as he felt he was in the right and serving the people. Nothing that he did was superficial. I have seen him with a mass of statistics before him, figuring out the solution that would bring justice to everybody. With pressure from certain quarters that many men would find it difficult to resist, Mr. Hultman stood his ground. Here's a man with the courage of his convictions if ever there was one.

It is a simple matter to criticize. Those who seek to accomplish something worth while may be certain of an avalanche of criticism. A man who can withstand that and proceed to do his duty as he sees it has a right to expect public indorsement. He doesn't always get it—at first. Eventually his most severe critics find they are "all wet." Whatever you may have heard or read, take it from me Mr. Hultman will make good on his job.

Isn't it strange the sort of things people will dig up for topics of argument? I have never tried to classify them for the purpose of seeing which subject was the most popular, but I assume that the weather is far in the lead. When that has been exhausted we always have politics. Most anybody can readily suggest a dozen more age-old themes that can provoke dispute, more or less heated, and end, sometimes in hard feelings, if not a rough and tumble fight.

But a new one came to my attention this very week. Several of us stepped off an elevator at the floor where one had his office. Two or three of the party spoke to the elevatorman and said, "Thank you," thereby acknowledging their safe transportation, I suppose. You know, some of us do that sort of thing automatically, not expecting a response from the operator.

One of the group was plainly vexed. Said he, "Why should you thank the elevatorman? Hang it all, he's paid to do that."

"No harm in thanking him, is there?" one of the polite individuals retorted.

"Of course there is," came the reply. "You are not called upon to thank a conductor when you ask him for a transfer. You don't thank a policeman for telling you where a certain street is. And you don't thank the letter carrier when he delivers your mail."

"I do," remarked one of the group. "I think it's only courtesy."

"What! When these people are paid to do these things?"

I didn't wait to hear the finish. Those kind of arguments are never settled. They're always alive and if you want to start something you have merely to introduce such a subject. Strange, isn't it, that busy people can find time for unprofitable trifles, but they do.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

Wednesday, the 21st of May, is to be the day of color and pleasure for members and friends of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club. From 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. the Club Workshop, at 72 Columbus street, will be a "blaze of glory" in the second Annual Flower Show that is to be staged by the Conservation and Garden Unit, of which Mrs. Harris P. Gray is chairman. Flower Shows have been growing in popularity, and in demand, in the various Clubs, so attractive have they proven, not only because of the loveliness of the exhibits—and this is a treat, indeed—but for the opportunity it gives to contestants to show their skill in arrangements, their knowledge of artistry, and their natural ability for making the most of their material. In the competition for the 21st there are six classes for which prizes and ribbons will be awarded, one of them open to children under 16 years of age, which should have special appeal because it is unusual to give the young people opportunity for displaying artistic ability. Another wise plan of the committee is having the exhibit continue during the evening, for many business men and women will be given a delightful opportunity to view these beautiful flowers.

RADIO. Mrs. George T. Hart, Jr., of the Mothercraft and Child Welfare Department will broadcast "Tercentary Treasures," from WNAC, next Wednesday morning, May 21st, at 11 o'clock. A double quartet from the Reading Woman's Club, under the direction of Mrs. Albert Leman, will be on the air at 11:03, and there will be violin solos by Mrs. Charles F. Ambrose, accompanied by Mrs. Willis Currier. This musicale has been arranged by Mrs. A. W. Hodson, radio director for this Club.

Newton Federation

Attention is called to notice elsewhere in this issue of the all-Newton antique exhibition which is being sponsored by the Newton Federation and which is of city-wide interest. The exhibition will be held in the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse from June 7-10 and is the local organization's contribution to the Newton Tercentary program.

Newton Federation

The thirty-fifth Annual Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs was opened at 10:45 a. m., on Tuesday, May 6th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, with the president,
Mrs. Phister Cowin, in the chair. Mrs.
Cowan spoke a few words of cordial greeting, and introduced Mrs. Walter Hartstone, president of the hostess Club, who welcomed most heartily the members and guests of the Newton Federation.

In replying Mrs. Cowin recalled other happy annual gatherings of the Federation with the Newton Centre Club and expressed the gratitude of the Federation for their hospitality.
Mrs. Horace B. Gale, director of the Twelfth District, an honored guest, was then introduced, and spoke briefly to the presidents of the fourteen Clubs of the Federation who form such a large part of the twenty-two Clubs of the District.

His Honor, Mayor Sinclair Weeks, was then presented, and gave a splendid address. He spoke of the assistance the Women's Clubs had given to all progressive movements in the city, and of the value of the Federation as one of the city's few unifying organizations. He stressed the importance of avoiding duplication of effort, and stated that he felt the work of the Federation along such lines to be particularly valuable. He offered at the end of his address to answer any questions as to the work being done by the city, and in reply to a query from the floor gave an outline of the proposed plan for improving Commonwealth avenue.

The report of the last Annual Meeting was next heard, and this was followed by the annual report of the secretary, Mrs. Harold Moore, which gave clearly and concisely the work done through the past year. Three meetings were held, the Election of Officers, December 5th, at the High School, the American Home Day, February 11th, which was held at the Congregational Church, in Newton Highlands, at the invitation of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club, and the Annual Meeting in session. Exceptionally fine speakers were provided by the chairman of Education, Conservation, Legislation, and Public Health to add interest to the business sessions of the board, and the Civics committee provided at the last meeting an instructive sight-seeing trip to historic points of interest in Newton.
The special Tercenary committees, on Clean-Up under Mrs. J. Mace Anderson, and the Art Exhibit under Mrs.
Wm. J. Freethy, have done noteworthy work. It has been voted to continue the Christmas Seal work for another three years.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs.
Harlan J. Maynard, read by the Auditor, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, in the entire absence of Mrs. Maynard, reported a balance of $1,129.29, of $408.11; income received $383.50; and a balance, May 5th, 1930, of $489.29.

Mrs. William J. Freethy, chairman of the Art Exhibit, reported that the dates had been fixed for June 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, to be open to the public from 10 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. on weekdays and from 2:00 p. m. until 9:00 p. m. on Sunday. No admission will be charged. The exhibit is to include objects of Art and of historic interest, over one hundred years old. The chairman requested that any such articles available be reported to her, C. N. 2236-W, or to the village clerk.

A motion was made and adopted to vote a sum of one hundred dollars toward the expense of the Art Exhibit.

The chair spoke of the entrance of the United States into the World Court, and asked those who were interested to write to Senator Walsh expressing their views on this important subject.

The chair expressed the appreciation and gratitude of the Federation to the Auburndale Woman's Club and to Auburndale people who had given so generously of their time and effort to provide the program for the afternoon.

The ballot of the Nominating committee was then submitted by the chairman, Mrs. A. Shirley Ladd. Nominations from the floor were requested, and tellers were appointed by the chairman.

The absence of Mrs. Bertrand E.
Taylor, Press chairman and Federation secretary, was noted with regret by the chair. A motion from the floor was made and unanimously adopted that a letter of appreciation of her interest in, and long service for, the Federation be sent to Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., then gave an interesting account of the "Mirror of Newton," a book which was published by the Federation in 1907. A number of copies have been brought to light and put on sale at fifty cents per copy. Owing to renewed interest in the historical material contained in the book, many are glad to have an opportunity to secure these books. A leaflet bringing the history of the Federation up to date has been added and included in the price.

Five-minute reports of the Presidents of member Clubs followed, given by the presidents, of the Clubs, with the single exception of the Newton Mothers Club, whose report was read by Mrs. A. Shirley Ladd.

Three minute reports from Associate Organizations were next heard and then the reports of the Standing committees of the Federation. These reports covered a wide range of activities through a year rich in progress and achievement.

The tellers reported the results of the election; the following officers being unanimously elected: President, Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, of the Social Science Club, of Newton; first vice-president, Mrs. E. Payson Upham, of the Waban Woman's Club; second vice-president, Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, of the Auburndale Review

Club; third vice-president, Mrs. Alden
H. Spear, of the Newton Centre
Woman's Club; recording secretary,
Mrs. Harold Moore, of the Newton Community Club; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham, of the West Newton Educational Club; treasurer, Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas, of the West Newton Community Service Club; auditor, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club; Nominating committee: Mrs.
Richard A. Cody, of Newton Highlands; Mrs. Louis S. Drake, of Newtonville; Mrs. John H. Eddy, of Newton-ville; Mrs. A. S. Ladd, of West Newton; Mrs. Arthur V. Lane, of Auburndale;
Mrs. B. D. Miller, of Waban; Mrs. C. Frederick Rogers, Jr., of Newton Upper Falls; and Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., chairman, of Newton Centre.

An interesting fact noted was that almost the exact number of votes were cast as at the annual meeting in 1929.

The retiring president, Mrs. Phister
Cowan, then passed the gavel to Mrs.
Samuel N. Braman. In relinquishing it (this a symbol of office) she compared taking hold of a live organization to grasping a live wire, finding it quite as difficult to let go. She also voiced her gratitude to the officers and chairmen for their co-operation and support, and her pleasure in the high quality of the incoming officers.

Mrs. Braman very ably and gracefully responded, displaying in her answer the modesty combined with high ability which the Federation is happy to find in its new leader.

The morning session closed with a spirited rendering of the Tercenary
Hymn, under the leadership of Mrs.
M. Gulesian.

A delicious luncheon was served by the Social committee, Mrs. Frank A.
Campbell, chairman, Mrs. George G.
Phipps, Founder of the Federation, followed a time-honored custom in asking a blessing. At the close of the meal, Miss Mabel C. Bragg, an honored guest, was presented by the president, who voiced the deep regret of the city of Newton, and of the Federation at Miss Bragg's departure in the fall. Miss Bragg spoke most earnestly and effectively, citing the many times the Federation had assisted the Newton schools in launching some new project. She then gave some of the broad principles which all are most anxious to see worked out, and pointed out the need for the continued interest and assistance of the Women's Clubs in the educational program of the city.

After luncheon the gathering reassembled to listen to a delightful entertainment, supplied by the Program committee, of which Mrs. Stephen Wright is chairman. Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite was given by the chorus of the Auburndale Woman's Club, with Mrs. Charles Lee Briggs as chairman, led by Mr. Gerald Frazee, as director and pianist, while the music was accompanied by charming and effective dances by the pupils of Mrs. Ruth Allen Weston who staged and produced the Fantasy. The Federation is much indebted to the mothers of the children, and to all who assisted in putting on one of the most attractive programs the Federation has been able to present.

The following took part in the entertainment: Four members of the Auburndale Players—Mrs. Graham
Bates, Mrs. John F. Holmes, Mrs. Edwin Prellwitz and Mrs. Clifford Parcher, and children who played the parts of elves, fauns, goblins, bunnies, old-fashioned children, acrobats, and various dancers were: Elvies, Junior Haynes, Borden Mosher; Spring Fay,
Virginia Wilson; Jester, Virginia
Amesbury; Goblins: Bonnie Tower,

Willson, Norman Smith, David Wil-

Elves: Enid White, Constance Hurst, Barbara Felton, May Treat, Sonia Farley, Charlotte Cook, and Thelma dancer, Betty Ferguson; and Chorus:

Ruth Turner, Natalie McKenzie, Marion Wakefield, Virginia Harmon, Betty Weston, and Esther Nichols; Old-Fashioned Children: Virginia Felton,

May Treat.

In the Russian "Trepak" the Acrobats were: Enid White and Peggy Wilson; and Chorus: Coramay Farrier, and Marjorie Clark, with solo dancer, Jean Budding. The Chinese Dance was done by Shirley Ferguson and Frederick Tower; with Coolies: Stur-tarts Stearns and Nathaniel Groby; and Dancers: Caleb Rhory, David Ordway, Edith Nichols, Donald Bertsch, Jean White, Louise Balch, Mary El-

The Mather Class

Prof. Kirtley F. Mather spoke on "Man's Social Destiny" last Sunday morning at the regular weekly meeting of the Mather Class in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

This was the eighth lecture in the series on "The Trend in Science."

We are now to consider man's destiny as an inhabitant of the earth. What is the tendency of the present and what are the goals toward which we are moving?

We should consider all problems with the aid of the perspective of history.

Two great attempts have been made by living creatures to develop organizations and societies. They are the insects and human beings. The highest order of invertebrates are the insects, and the highest order of vertebrates are the warm blooded mammals, of whom man is the most notable.

Living creatures have been gregarious in the past. The fossils show animals associated in groups, and prove that, even then, there was sociology as well as individual psychology.

The bees and ants have what some scientists call an ideal state of society. These insects were highly organized two or three geologic ages ago. Human beings are not yet very highly organized. Some people are actually worried for fear the insects may be superior to man and may become the lords of the earth. There is, however, a big difference between man and the insect. In making a generalization from many facts, care must be taken not to let it be fallacious. Personal desires and prejudices must be kept out.

In man the most valuable product of the entire process is personality, and the best personality is compassionate personality.

Brute force, cruelty, and oppressiveness have triumphed for a brief period and had their day. The dinosaur has been here and departed. His personal safety was the only thing he valued extremely high. Many animals have perished because of the same peculiarity. Nature has tried to achieve success for the animals on the basis of selfish cruelty and brute power, but these attempts have failed.

Man's heritage is from other creatures, whose distinguishing characteristics have been unselfishness, cooperation, brotherhood, and love, the most valuable result of which is compassionate personality.

By the system of trial and error the brutally selfish have proved unfit for long continued existence on the earth. The cooperative creatures have proved fit for a long temporal existence.

The rule of insect societies is one for all. The prosperity of the group is preeminent. Society is safeguarded, but individuals readily sacrifice themselves and one another for the group. The ants place little value on the individual. There is an exception, among the bees, in favor of the queen, which is rated as of great value. We judge the insects by the way they act.

Among human beings it is one for all and all for one. The insects place an increasing emphasis on safeguarding society. Mankind places an increasing emphasis on the value of the individual. Personality is valued to the individual. To be sure, we have a college spirit and a national spirit. Uncle Sam represents the spirit of America, but that is a fictitious spirit. There is no real personality there, for that belongs exclusively to the individual. It took a whole lot of energy to develop personality from promising raw materials. It had to emerge from the muck of creative processes. Jesus emphasized the worth of the individual, and for the last few centuries the world has become more and more aware of the value of personality.

The insects organize their groups into a machine which is intended to run without friction. Individuals are sacrificed ruthlessly and heartlessly so that the machine can run on smoothly. Human society does not mesh in any such way. There is a high degree of social integration which conserves the freedom of individuality. It is not like an army, where everybody has his station and knows what he must do. Man's social destiny is the education of the individual so that, because of his fine, high, compassionate personality and of his own free will he will so determine his conduct that he will benefit the group. He will plan the organization of the community so as to develop personality rather than merely to safeguard life. The law aims to save life and property. Few laws have as their reason for being the development of personality.

The future of mankind is to emphasize personality first and the good society second. Society will prosper when the fine personalities are there. Seek first the Kingdom of God and the other things will be added unto you. The slogan for man is one for all and all for one.

What are the things for which America stands? What meets with popular approval? Prof. Mather gave a remarkable list of four things which he thinks are rated highest in America. The order in which he gave them he says means nothing. This list is Prof. Mather's personal opinion of America, based in part on what he calls newspaper emphasis. America's opinion to the contrary the country and quite adequately shown by its regard for its hero, Lindbergh, as shown by the vast newspaper space which Prof. Mather chooses to ignore.

These four highest things in America are, per Prof. Mather:

1. Physical strength.
2. Personal beauty.
3. Intellectual ability.
4. Financial success.

Not one of these is characteristic of Christianity. Where are the truthfulness, integrity of character, willingness to sacrifice oneself for the welfare of others, and a sympathetic and kindly attitude toward others? Our schools and colleges emphasize the same things as the nation and let the Christian virtues go by. All this makes some pessimists think that civilization in this machine age is on the way to its own destruction.

Newton Community Club

A resolution sent by the General Federation was presented at the Annual Meeting by the Conservation Committee of the Newton Community Club, at which time the Club voted "to go on record as favoring firms which do not advertise on bill boards, which are a defacement of our natural scenic beauty." The women of the Community Club are asked to pledge favor to products which are not advertised on bill boards on Country Highways, providing they can find products of equal value.

Monday afternoon under joint auspices with the Nathan Fuller Chapter, D. R., the Americanization committee conducted a party of fifty-five alien women to Wayside Inn at Sudbury. A detailed account of the trip is printed under the D. R. news.

MOVING PICTURES. The National Committee, which previews moving pictures, has announced as excellent three films, which may be enjoyed by the entire family—adults, adolescents, children—and are suitable for Junior Matinee:

"Across the World With Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson" is reported as an unusually fine type of travelogue picture, furnishing, with entertainment, education in such points of interest visited as Hawaii, Solomon Islands, New Hebrides, South Seas, New Zealand, and Pygmy Land, Belgian Congo, Iuri Forest, White Nile, British East Africa, and many other far-away places.

"Hunting Tigers in India" pictures India as she is today; strange, indeed, to Americans; showing life in the jungles, with the dancers, traveling musicians, and fakirs. Its climax is an exciting tiger hunt.

"Around the World Via Graf Zeppelin" is the high grade of "hey-ye-ye" imagining in the art of production, and the entertainment and educational value of this talking picture of the epochal flight of the Graf Zeppelin can be realized when it is said that one visualizes the eleven days' adventure from Lakehurst, N. J., via Friedrichshafen, Tokio, Los Angeles, and back to Lakehurst.

It is significant to note that all three of these worth while pictures have been produced by the same company, namely, Talking Pictures Epics, Inc.

One other picture reviewed is stated as "good for the family." It is "Through the Deep Depths of Asia" an interesting travel and adventure film, giving the expedition of a Swedish explorer. Age-old religious dances and ceremonials are depicted as well as scenes in unknown countries.

The other stories reviewed are apparently not advised for children. In some cases they are for adults only, even the young people being better off for not seeing them, it would appear. "Adults only" is the verdict on "Chasing Rainbows", "Double Cross Roads", and "Temple Towers". The first is a musical comedy, by Metro, with the old theme of true love unrecognized and unappreciated, with spectacular chorus and scenic effects. The second, by Fox, is a gangster and crook story of contrasts, country and city, church and jail, society and the underworld; lovers involved in deception, with the girl the stronger character, who finally redeems the lad who has been sliding downward. The third, also by Fox, is a melodramatic mystery of a jewel robbery; a sinister masked stranger, interests not only "Bulldog Drummond", investigator, but thrills the audience.

Also for adults, and evidently of no interest for others, was the report on "The Benson Murder Case", a Par-

In the long run there is reason for optimism. Man does learn something sometimes by experience, in spite of the fact that most people go on making the same mistakes over and over. Occasionally there is improvement. When you want to enlist a man's help in a noble cause, you appeal to him on a high level. In the war the appeal to support the cause and sacrifice everything for it was made on as high as level as could be thought of. When you have to appeal to mankind in that way in order to get results, there is some hope for the human race. Man may make good in developing a compassionate spirit.

Mr. E. Clifford Potter has invited the class to spend Memorial Day at his summer home. The chairman of the social committee, Mr. Montague P. Ford, 112 Institution avenue, will supply particulars and arrange for transportation.

The annual Banquet will come May 21, at the Twentieth Century Club, 3 Joy street, Boston, at 7 p. m.

Next Sunday Prof. Mather will lecture on "The Future of the Church" the eighth lecture on "The Reconstruction of Religion". In this lecture Prof. Mather will take a look ahead and endeavor to map out the future of man's religion.

TERCENTENARY NEWS

Newton's Tercentenary program is rapidly being completed, and bids fair to be an event of much interest to all.

Just now, public, private and parochial schools from grades 8 to 12 are busily engaged in writing essays on "The Fathers of New England". A first and a second prize will be awarded. The committee in charge of the Prize Essay is: Frederick O. Holmes, Chairman, Miss Sadie E. Winchester, Miss Helen M. Fales, H. E. Fife, Rev. Timothy A. Curtin, Mrs. Elsie S. Jewett, Miss Merle Ives. The essays are to be judged and prizes awarded very soon.

The prize medals will be made from a die designed by a High School pupil. Several designs were submitted to the Committee for selection. The members of this Committee are: Edward Elwell Whiting, chairman, Fred H. Daniels and Mrs. Louis H. Marshall. The winner of the prize is Evelyn Ernst, Grade X, living at Newton Center. Five other designs were considered worthy of honorable mention, namely: Della Fisher, Grade IX, of Newton Upper Falls; Lawrence S. Killian, Grade X, of Newton Centre; Julia Blake, Grade X, of Newton Highlands; Francesco Gorgone, Grade X, of West Newton; and Helen H. Hallas, Grade IX, of Newton Centre. It is possible that this design may be used for the medals for Athletic events as well as for the Prize Essay.

An Art Exhibit under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs with Mrs. W. G. Freethy of Waban, as chairman, will be held in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House, June 7 to 10. On Sunday the exhibit will be open from 1 to 3:30, on other days from 10 to 5:30. A large committee is to work for this, and hopes to receive many fine antiques to display. The chairman asks for articles one hundred years old or older. These will be carefully protected, will be insured and guarded all the time, so contributors need not fear to loan their most precious possessions. These will be arranged in fitting groups. It is hoped that some especially fine, large piece, as for instance, a grandfather's clock or a wonderful old desk may be loaned for this event.

A cordial invitation is extended to all persons to visit this exhibition, and, of course, admission will be free. It is felt that this showing of antiques be one of the high lights of our Newton celebration.

Beginning June 1, and continuing through the week, Lucy Jackson Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution will open the historic mansion at Newton Lower Falls, corner of Concord and Washington streets, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at a nominal admission fee. Tea will be served. The original two rooms of this old house are thought to have been built in 1630, the present house in 1750. Some years ago this chapter placed a boulder on the site of the birthplace of Roger Sherman, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. This is located on Waverly avenue near Cotton street. The site of the first Post Office in Newton was also marked a short time ago by the placing of a large boulder on Washington street, Lower Falls, across from the Chapter House.

The Tercentenary Committee hopes that old houses throughout Newton may be opened during the first week in June. This is to be done in Boston, especially houses on Beacon Hill and vicinity. Newton has not many such, but if there are some not yet reported it is hoped they will be.

The Woodward House on Woodward street, Newton Highlands will be opened to visitors on June 2, 3, 4, 5, from 2 to 5 p. m. This house is two hundred and fifty years old, during all of which time it has been owned and occupied by a member of the Woodward family. Just across the street lived Ralph Waldo Emerson, who frequently visited at the Woodward House. The Emerson house is no longer standing, but the name has been kept in the Ralph Waldo Emerson School at Newton Upper Falls.

One of the most interesting and colorful events of the whole Tercentenary observance will be the Civic and Military Parade on Memorial Day. It will begin or end (as seems best) at the Newton Centre Playground where the Parade is to be given on June 3, 4, 5. Newton will miss an impressive spectacle if they elect to be out of the city on Memorial Day. Levi Libby, Past Commander is chairman of the Parade and will be assisted by Col. Daniel Needham, Col. Charles R. Cabot, Capt. George Henriks, Hugo Foxworth, and Capt. Russell Viles. All Newton citizens will surely "show their colors" on that day.

Frank H. Damon, chairman of the Committee to mark historical places, assisted by George H. White, C. S. Luitwieler, Edwin O. Childs and H. D. Fuller are making arrangements for marking all places in Newton of historical interest, while Ira A. Roe has charge of marking entrances to the city.

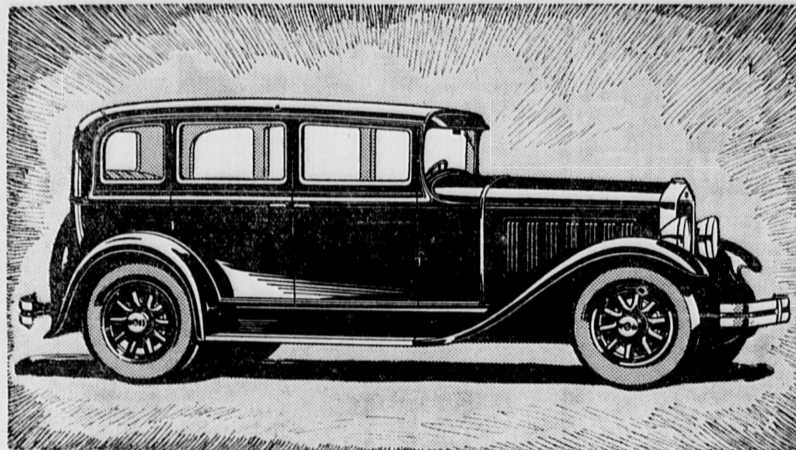

There are other committees whose work has already been reported or will be later.

In April 1929 former Mayor Childs appointed a Citizens' Committee to serve with a Committee from the Board of Aldermen on the 300th anniversary of the settlement of Newton, as follows: William H. Rice, chairman; Hon. William F. Beaton, Joseph W. Bartlett, Herbert E. Locke, Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, John W. Murphy, Alfred Murray, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer.

The Aldermanic Committee to work with these were: the late Walter E. C. North, whose place has been filled by Norman F. Pratt; Joseph J. Murray, and Charles B. Floyd, who was named chairman to succeed Mrs. Worth. The School Board was later represented by Joseph F. Lockett.

This is the official Tercentenary committee of Newton, and has had the appointment of all chairmen and the general charge and direction of all the programs for the celebration. Mayor Childs was asked to serve as Honorary Chairman, but on leaving office gave up that position and Mayor Weeks succeeded him. Mr. Childs has remained on the committee at the request of the members.

Newton Tercentenary PAGEANT PARAGRAPHS

By MR. C. CLARK MACOMBER

Editor's Note: The author of the fourth article relating to the Newton Tercentenary Pageant, which will take place June 3rd, 4th, and 5th, on the Newton Centre Playground, is Chairman of the important committee on music.

"Music is certain to be one of the outstanding features of Newton's pageant. The highest quality of pageant music was assured when Dr. Ralph Maclean undertook the responsibilities of musical director and now under his inspiring leadership, has been gathered the support of the leading musical organizations of Newton and Metropolitan Boston.

"Mr. Maclean is doing a most marvelous work of musical interpretation for the pageant and the effect of his inspiring leadership already is evident in the work of his musicians. He endeared himself to music lovers hereabouts long ago through his work with the Highland Glee Club, the Newton Symphony Orchestra and the choir of the First Church, Newton.

"His selection of themes both for orchestration and for chorus work has been really masterful, involving as it has interpretation for many themes extending from the primitive Indian to present-day modern life. Classic symphonic themes and most simple folk lore themes he has integrated, transposed and moulded into fascinating powerful cloth of music with which the whole pageant is beautifully surrounded.

"For the pageant episode depicting the close of the Civil War, Longfellow's poem—'Sail On, O Ship of State,' provides the theme. For this part, Mr. George A. Burdett, distinguished musician, and a resident of Newton, has contributed a virile setting.

"Mr. Burdett has a splendid musical background and the wealth of his training and experience in this country and in Europe is reflected in the character of his music in this pageant episode. For 25 years he has been a prolific composer and his anthems are in use throughout the country.

"For the solo part of Waban, the people of Newton are most fortunate in having the services of James Houghton, noted baritone.

"An orchestra of 70 pieces, now in regular rehearsal, and a chorus of 100 well-trained voices have been selected to present this wonderfully worked out program. Even at this date it can be said with assurance that the music of Newton's pageant will be an outstanding feature."

This committee has added a large group of Associate members from all sections of the city, has had charge of the apportionment of money appropriated by the city government, and has a general oversight of all the Tercentenary activities.

NATHAN FULLER CHAPTER, D. R.

Last Monday afternoon fifty-five foreign born women who are learning to read and write English in the schools in the various sections of Newton under Mrs. Estelle Seaver were taken on a historical drive to Henry Ford's Wayside Inn in South Sudbury.

The trip was sponsored by Mrs. G. Raymond Lehrer, chairman of Americanization work for the Newton Community Club and Regent of the Nathan Fuller Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, under whose joint auspices the trip was undertaken.

The following members of the Newton Community Club loaned cars: Mrs. Bruce Davis, Mrs. Anna King, Miss Emily Graves, Mrs. Raymond Coppins, Mrs. Roland Jones, Mrs. George Johnson. Members of the Nathan Fuller Chapter, D. R., driving included Mrs. Joseph Limric, Miss Lillian Peirce, Miss Barbara Estabrook, Mrs. John N. Field, Jr., Mrs. Edgar Wilson, Mrs. Herbert Johnson and Mrs. G. R. Lehrer. Many of the last named young women are also members of the Community Club. Mrs. Reginald Bankart, a member of the Newtonville Women's Club, also drove her car.

Each passenger was presented with a beautifully illustrated book from the Boston Chamber of Commerce entitled, "Boston, Massachusetts, a manufacturing and Commercial Community built around a Historic Shrine."

These historical trips have been rapidly growing in popularity since they were begun by Mrs. Lehrer three years ago. This fact is shown by the large increase in attendance each year. For the past two years, these foreign born women have been taken through various historic places in Concord and Lexington. The motive for these trips annually comes as a reward for good attendance at Mrs. Seaver's Americanization classes in English—for only those who attend regularly are allowed the privilege of going on the trip. Consequently these women look forward and anticipate these spring historical trips from early fall. The trip this week was only made possible through the kind generosity of Mr. Henry Ford. The hostesses at Wayside Inn were particularly interested in our group and the women were delighted in having the particular points of interest so carefully explained to them in the famous inn. They showed the greatest concern when they visited the little red school house made famous by "Mammy" in a little lamb." This poem has been translated into nearly every foreign language. As this school was in session, the foreign born women were eager to compare its interior, furnishings, etc., with the modern city school buildings where they hold their own classes. They were very much interested in the old stage coaches and the grist mill.

This trip brings to a close all Americanization work sponsored by the Newton Community Club and the Nathan Fuller Chapter, D. R., until next fall.

NEWTON GIRLS' CLUB

Those participating will be the Newton High School Band and Orchestra, the High School Chorus, and choruses from the Junior High schools of Newton, a total of 700 people. Special music appropriate to the occasion has been prepared. If the weather is unfavorable on June 6, the concert will be postponed until Saturday, June 7, when it will be given either in the High School Auditorium or in the quadrangle, depending upon the weather.

Next Week's Issue To Be Out Day Early

BROOKLINE WINS ON TRACK 42 TO 29

By taking six of the eight first places the Brookline high school track team pinned a 42½ to 29½ defeat on the Newton high track team at Nickerson Field, Riverside, last week Friday. James Colligan in the shotput and John Grist and Sewall Champion, who tied in the high jump, were the only Newton first place winners. Walter Holmes, Newton's star colored sprinter, who was expected to win the 100-yard dash, was declared ineligible prior to the meet and Newton's chances were greatly dimmed.

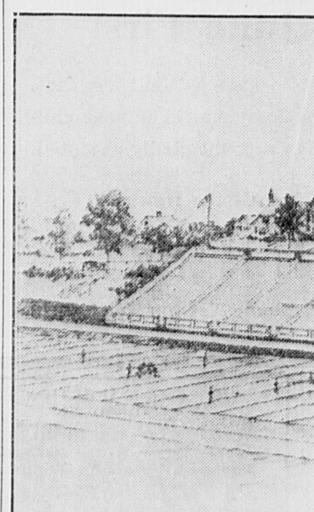

Bernard Hootstein of Brookline was the star of the meet with first in both the sprints and second in the shotput. Milton Green scored ten points for the orange and black in four events, seconds in the broad jump, hurdles and 220-yard dash and third in the 100-yard dash. Charles Hall, Newton half miler ran a nice race, just failing to overtake Lindsay Brigham of Brookline at the end. Vincent Signore of Newton, was third.

Colligan's first in the shotput, Grist and Champion's eight points in the high jump and thirds in the 220-yard dash by Monser, in the hurdles by Hall and a tie for third by Bartlett in the high jump brought Newton's total to 29½. Brookline swept all three places in the quarter mile. Chester Litman of Brookline won both the hurdles and broad jump for ten points.

SPORT NOTES

Cronin in Eight Games
Bill Cronin of West Newton has played in eight games for the Boston Braves and has a batting average of .235. He has been at bat seventeen times, has scored three runs, made four hits, one a double, and has made one sacrifice hit. He has a fielding average of 1.000 with sixteen putouts and five assists.

Roxbury Latin Wins
Roxbury Latin school won its fifth Private Day school league baseball championship in seven years by defeating Country Day school, 14 to 2 on Tuesday at Cabot Field. The visitors pounded a trio of Country Day pitchers, Francis Gleason, Labouchere, and White for thirteen hits, including four doubles and took advantage of ten Country Day errors.

The picture above shows the new Dickinson Memorial Stadium which the city contemplates erecting this summer and which it hopes will be ready for the football games this coming fall. Work is now going on getting the gridiron ready to seed down, drains being laid to care for the surface water and drainage of the field.

The work to be done this summer does not include the cinder track which in later years will probably be the scene of the State interscholastic meets. The stand in its design will allow for the construction of either all or part of it this year. Bids will soon be received for the entire structure on the Hull street side of the field with a seating capacity of approximately 5800, for a section to hold 4500 and for a section to hold 3000. It is expected that appropriations for either of these three will be made in accordance with the bids and the money available at the time.

The stadium plan is part of the general movement which started several

OUR LADY NINE DROPS TO SECOND

A day of idleness caused the drop of the Our Lady high school baseball team to second place in the Catholic High School League standing when Mission high, which had heretofore been in a first place tie with the local outfit, defeated Immaculate Conception high of Revere, 12 to 5 on Tuesday to step a half a game ahead of Our Lady. Last week Friday the Newton team kept pace with its Roxbury rivals by defeating St. Clement's high of Medford, 6 to 3, while Mission high was winning from Cathedral high of South Boston 10, to 5.

The Our Lady victory was clinched with three two-run rallies while Lombardi was turning back the visitors without a run for eight innings. In the ninth the Newton team let down and St. Clement's bunched its three hits to score three runs. Hart, with three hits in four times up and Lombardi with two out of three led the winners at bat.

The league standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Mission (Rox)	6	1	.857
OUR LADY (N)	4	2	.666

SPORT NOTES

Play Another Tie
Boston University and Boston College played another extra inning tie game at Nickerson Field on Monday when they went 13 innings with the score at 4 all before darkness closed in. It was the final game of the season for the Pioneers who have enjoyed one of the best seasons in many years with victories over Harvard, Brown, Tufts and Springfield included among others.

Still On Top
Dartmouth retained its hold on first place in the Intercollegiate Baseball league by defeating Yale on Monday 8 to 4 in the first game of the series played at Hanover since 1882. The game was played in a pouring rain after the fifth inning. Hal Andres, Newtonville youth and left fielder for the Green went hitless while Edgar Warren, former Newton Centre youth and third baseman for Yale, collected three hits in five times at bat although none of these figured directly in the scoring.

Reilly Pitches Victory
Bill Reilly, former Newton high athlete, pitched the St. John's prep school nine to 5 to 4 victory over the Harvard seconds on Monday at Soldiers Field. He fanned thirteen batters and passed but three, allowing but four hits, one a triple. Incidentally he started his team towards victory in the third with a single as the opening hit leading to a three-run rally. Harvard scored its four runs in the third on a pass, three singles and a triple.

Hunnefeld Gets Double
Bill Hunnefeld, former Saxony Mills player, had a busy day Sunday at shortstop for the Chicago White Sox. He got one hit, a double on his only official time at bat, scored one run, laid down two sacrifice hits, and handled five chances without an error. He was the pivot on one of two Chicago double plays.

Hill Wins Two
Malcolm Hill continued on the winning path for Harvard in the Crimson's 9 to 0 shutout of the Brown tennis team at the Harvard courts last Saturday. The Waban youth won his singles match, defeating Dave Scott, former Newton high captain, and teaming with Capt. Ingraham to defeat Scott and Rutan, the Brown number one team, at doubles.

Town Team Wins
The Newton Town Team defeated the Framingham B. B. C. at Framingham Sunday afternoon by a comfortable margin, pounding out an 11 to 6 win.

NEWTON LOSES TO RINDGE TECH 10 TO 7

Rindge Tech got to Tom Rhodes, Newton freshman pitcher, in the first inning of the Newton-Rindge game at Russell Field last Saturday to score four runs and in the second inning tallied four more. Kraber took over the mound duties and pitched a good game the rest of the way, fanning three and passing none. The two Newton pitchers were touched up for eight hits, including two home runs and a double which, with three Newton errors figured in the defeat of the orange and black. The Newton team also collected eight hits from two Rindge pitchers, Galligan and Dinjian but could not bunch them together except in the fifth and seventh when three and four run rallies kept them in the game. Galligan fanned eleven Newton batters.

Tony Saransky, Rindge star athlete, hit a home run in the second inning to put his team eight runs in the lead while Burbul connected for the circuit later in the game with the sacks unoccupied.

Colby led the Newton team at bat with two hits in four times up.

The Rindge victory kept them in a top place tie in the league standing with Brookline which turned back Everett, 4 to 2, in a close game. Somerville nosed out Cambridge Latin, 7 to 6, to draw up into a third place tie with Everett and the Cantabs and leave Newton alone in the cellar.

The league standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Brookline	4	1	.800
Rindge Tech	4	1	.800
Everett	2	3	.400
Somerville	2	3	.400
Camb. Latin	2	3	.400
NEWTON	1	4	.200

Newton has three league games in a row, meeting Everett at Everett tomorrow, Cambridge Latin at Newton Wednesday and Brookline at Newton Saturday.

SPORT NOTES

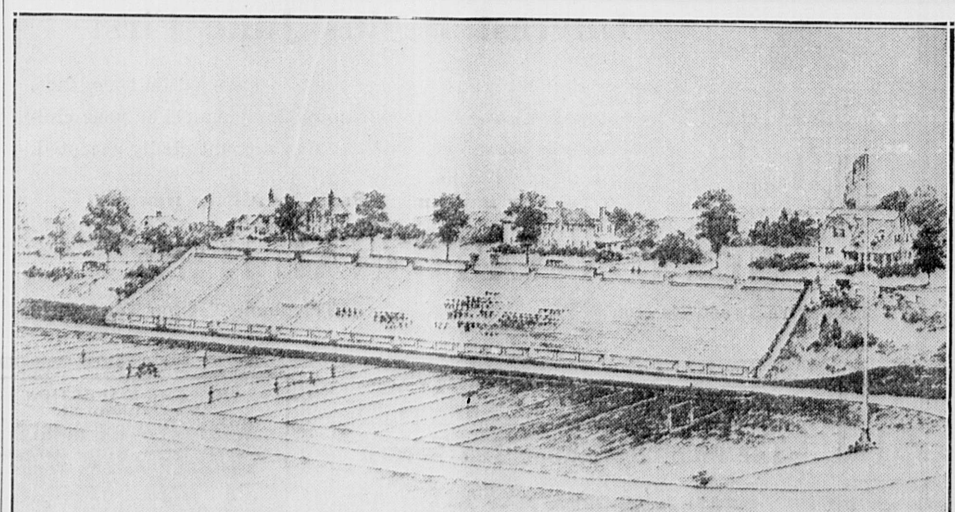

Andres Is Dartmouth Star
Although Harvard defeated Dartmouth on the Soldiers field diamond last Saturday, 2 to 1, in a thrilling game Harold Andres, former Newton star athlete playing left field for the Green, was the visitors' individual performer. He collected four hits, one a double, in his four times at bat. This was quite a stunt considering the fact that Charley Devens, Crimson twirler, allowed the Dartmouth batters but six hits in all. Andres also has three putouts in the field to keep his busy while Ticknor's homer in the first inning with one on and which accounted for both Crimson runs sailed far over his head.

Nonantum Wins Close Game
The Nonantum A. A. defeated the Carlises in a close game at Victory Field last Saturday, 3 to 2. Both teams played errorless ball and Nonantum was outbatted by the visitors, eight to seven. The locals scored lone tallies in the second, third and sixth while the Carlises tallied twice in the eighth to keep the game undecided to the end. Bergen and Gusteau were the Nonantum battery.

Newton A. C. Loses
The Belmont Town Team defeated the Newton A. C. handily last Saturday at Belmont, 16 to 3, collecting fifteen hits off Lane and Dalton the local pitchers.

Johnson Wins And Loses
While Dartmouth was defeating Lehigh at tennis last Saturday, 5 to 4, Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban lost his singles match, but paired with Captain Macdonald won at doubles.

Bennett Hits Home Run
Bob Bennett, Exeter academy catcher and former Newton high athlete, drove out a home run in the second inning to save Exeter from a shutout in its game with the Boston College freshmen on Wednesday which the latter won 6 to 2. Exeter's second tally came in the eighth on a triple and single. Spain got one hit in three times up and handled eight chances in the field.

SWEET REVENGE FON NEWTON NINE

The Newton high school baseball team won sweet revenge for the 1929 defeat by Waltham by nosing out the Watch City nine at Clafin field, Wednesday afternoon, 5 to 4, in a ten-inning game. Warren Colby's double scored the winning run in the extra inning after Waltham had taken a 4 to 0 lead in six innings and the orange and black had come from behind to knot the count. It was the first time this year that the local nine has shown the fighting instincts that characterized last year's outfit. Heretofore the 1930 team has failed to come back after its opponents have taken a lead but if Wednesday's game is any indication it marks a turning point in the orange and black's fortunes.

George Kraber was on the mound for Newton and as usual pitched a good steady game. He fanned six and passed but two. His teammates, although making four errors, supported him in the pinches and saved trouble with a couple of double plays. Waltham took a two-run lead in the first inning and pushed over single tallies in both the third and fifth while Newton was turned back by Bill Pendergast, inning after inning. In the seventh and eighth the orange and black found the range and began to blast away. Two tallies in the seventh and two more an inning later tied up the count and paved the way for the extra inning. In the tenth Kraber got a life on an error. Bartley ran for Kraber as Elrod singled to move him along to the second sack. Colby followed with a smashing double which brought Bartley over with the winning tally. Colby incidentally has started a hitting streak that has been a distinct improvement over anything the local team has shown this season. Against Rindge he led the team at bat and against Waltham he collected three hits in six times up to maintain his 500 pace. Elrod got two out of four while Doucette, Hildreth and Butler accounted for the remaining Newton hits.

SPORT NOTES

Johnson Wins Collegiates
Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban and number two player on the Dartmouth tennis team, won the intercollegiate singles title at Longwood this week and shared with J. Richardson of the Dartmouth team the doubles title. The final matches were played on Wednesday. Johnson defeated his doubles partner in the finals of the singles tourney in which he encountered little strong opposition. The second set of his match with Richardson went to 9-7 before Johnson won the edge. The Dartmouth pair then took the court together to turn back Hayes and Bowditch of Amherst in the finals of the doubles, 6-1, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. Dave Scott, captain at Newton high two years ago and Rutan, the Brown University doubles team lost their first round match to the Wesleyan pair which lost in the semi-finals to the Amherst opponents of the Dartmouth champions in the finals.

Exeter Loses To Worcester
Worcester academy nosed out Exeter academy, 2 to 1, in ten innings last Saturday in a pitchers battle at Exeter. Captain Frank Spain went hitless and made one error in eight chances. Bob Bennett, another former Newton athlete, kept Exeter from being shut out by a timely single in the fifth to score a teammate who had tripped. Bennett got a second single later on but was left.

These awards will be presented by the Newton Tercentenary committee and will bear the official Tercentenary seal. PARKING RULES FOR PAGEANT sticker issued by the Tercentenary Pageant Committee.

To reach the grandstand follow the arrows.

Tickets are on sale in all parts of Newton as advertised. Any tickets not sold by five o'clock on the afternoon of the respective first, second, or third performance will be on sale in the ticket booth located on the Tyler terrace end of the playground which is just back of the grandstand.

Performances start at 8:45 p. m. In case of unfavorable weather conditions the "All Off" signal will be rung throughout the City at six o'clock.

Ticket holders for either the first, second or third performances should understand clearly that if the performance for which their ticket is issued is called off their ticket is not good for the next evening performance. "Their performance" will come after the other scheduled performance or performances have been given. Thus a Tuesday, June 3rd ticket, would be good only for Friday, June 6th if Tuesday's weather is unfavorable. If Tuesday's performance goes off and Wednesday's should be called off this performance would come on Friday.

For information about performances call up Centre Newton 0127-M. This information will be given up to 8 p. m.

Only ticket holders will be allowed on the playground. Children must be accompanied by parents or guardians. Dog owners are reminded that the city ordinance forbids unleashed dogs on playgrounds.

Many home owners adjoining the playground have already offered to keep their houses dark on the playground side. This splendid cooperation will help greatly in the glorious lighting effects which have been worked out for the pageant.

Several hundred arrows will be tacked up throughout the city limits to help direct visitors to the pageant.

The Newton Corps played a group from Troop 15, West Newton took part in the Folk Dancing Episode, and 100 girls, representing all Newton troops, took part in the Flag ceremony which was one of the most effective scenes in the Review. Captains and Lieutenants helped with ushering and traffic, and many mothers of Troop Committee members chaperoned the Scouts who went to look on.

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Officers' Association was held at Camp Mary Day, May 21 at 6:30 p. m. Miss Freeman was in charge of the supper, the main course of which was a delicious outdoor dish called Cabbage Gumbo. The Lieutenants were in charge of the entertainment, under the direction of Ethel DeMille, and it proved most successful; it was in the form of a Radio Program, featuring news, time signals, the Oracle, dinner music. Mr. and Mrs. Skit, and the Eveready Hour. The officers for next year were elected as follows: President, Miss Adelaide Ball; Vice-President, Mrs. H. H. Ballard; Treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Emery; Secretary, Miss Marjorie Whitaker; Chairman of Supper Committee, Miss Virginia Brown.

Worn Out... at last! after 47,892 miles

THERE it is, in the picture up above. Through! Worn out! Ready for the scrap heap! That Silvertown we showed you in one of our advertisements a while ago.

It traveled 30,000 miles with last year's Silver Fleet. Made the entire tour through 46 states without ever coming off the rim. Transferred to the 1930 Goodrich Silver Fleet... and punished for 17,892 more miles.

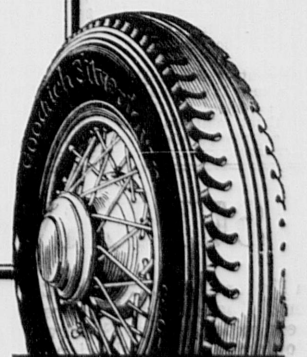

Now it's through... with a service record of 47,892 miles. Proud? Naturally we're proud of it! Because we sell tires like that. Tires capable of giving unheard-of mileage.

There's nothing special about this Silvertown. Nothing out of the usual run. It came straight from stock for its grueling trip with the Silver Fleet. And it received no care... no attention... you can't give your tires.

That's why we're sure of ourselves when we say you can get mileage like this from Silvertowns. They've proved they have the stuff. Proved they can beat all comers in open competition.

Come in and see our Silvertowns. Blood brothers to this veteran of the roads. They never were expensive... and now, mile for mile, they're the cheapest tire you can buy. Yes, we have your size waiting for you.

Over four thousand of the five thousand jurors who have served with First Assistant District Attorney Warren L. Bishop during the past seven years have endorsed his candidacy for the Republican nomination for District Attorney. As these men have seen Mr. Bishop in action their endorsement is highly complimentary to Mr. Bishop.

The Literary Digest poll on prohibition gave Pennsylvania a total of about 100,000 more votes for repeal than for enforcement and yet the wet candidates in that state for the Republican nominations for U. S. Senator and for Governor were badly beaten at the primary election this week. Pennsylvania Republicans evidently vote dry and drink wet.

In the construction of the proposed new junior high school on the south side of the city we should be pleased to see the contracts awarded to Newton people as far as possible.

Knowing as little as the average citizen of the thousands of items in the proposed new tariff legislation we venture to suggest that Congress leave things as they are at present. In our opinion the frying pan is preferable to the fire.

ROTARY CLUB

The speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club on Monday was Mr. Maxwell C. Hutchins of Auburndale the State Forest Warden. Mr. Hutchins who had served for nine years on the Newton School Committee prefaced his talk with a few figures about the Newton schools. His principal subject, however, was on the waste caused by forest fires. He said that last year there were 177,000 forest fires in the United States burning over 44,000,000 acres. In Massachusetts last year there were 2400 fires with 100 fires a day at times. He described the methods used in the state for discovering and extinguishing of fires. The fires were largely caused by automobilists throwing matches and cigarettes on the wayside by children and by men out of employment, as a means for obtaining work.

NEWTON SCHOOL BANDS ATTEND STATE CONTEST

The second annual State Band and Orchestra Contest took place Saturday, May 17, at Waltham. Fourteen busses were used to take the four Newton bands and one orchestra there.

A new rating was tried for the first time in New England, placing the bands and orchestras in classes according to the average grade of the players, the length of time the members have played in organizations prior to December 1, whether credit is given for this work at the school, and the time spent in weekly rehearsals. The Newton High School band and orchestra were in class B. The former took second place in this class, and the latter, although it made a very fine showing, did not place. The Levi F. Warren Junior High School won the second prize in class D; and the competitor taking first place was the Greenfield High School band which has a fine reputation. The former also won the cup for the largest band in the parade, having 38 more members than its nearest rival. The Frank A. Day Junior High School placed third in class E, while the Hyde Grade School, being a younger organization, was the only one in class EE, and so had no competition. It is believed that it will take more experimenting with the new rating system to get the correct per cents.

The organizations winning first and second prizes in the state contest are expected to go to the New England finals. This means that the Warren Junior High band of 134 and the Newton High School band of 75 pieces will go to Pawtucket, Saturday, May 24, to compete for the prizes given by the New England Music Festival Association.

The band contest was held on the Waltham common in the morning and the orchestra contest in the various schools and theatres at the same time. At 1:30 p. m. the parade organized, which terminated at the athletic field on Beacon street, where 4,000 people were assembled to hear the massed playing. The members of the bands and orchestras, numbering 2300, occupied the visitors' bleachers, all those playing the same instrument being grouped together. A combined program was given under the direction of Edward Frank Goldman, the noted New York bandmaster, and Big Brother Bob Emery presided as master of ceremonies at the microphone. The audience was entertained during the seating of the organizations by the maneuvers of six bands on the field, for which prizes were awarded.

All the Newton members returned home tired, but considered the day well-spent and very enjoyable through the courtesy and hospitality of the people of Waltham.

NEWTON BUSINESSMEN MEET

The monthly meeting of the Newton Business Associates was held last week Thursday evening at the Hunnewell club with Mr. Kenneth S. Backman, secretary of the Boston Better Business Bureau, as the guest speaker. Mr. Backman was introduced by past president Thomas Burns and his talk was of much interest to all.

A tribute to the late Albert Douglas, a member of the Business Associates, by standing silent for a moment was called for by President Patterson.

A discussion of where the coming summer outing should be held followed and a vote taken which was unanimously cast for Lake Pearl, Wrentham. The Outing Committee has selected Wednesday, July 16th, as the day. Mr. Briggs, chairman of the committee, announced the following organization: George White and Dr. Leonard, tickets; Warren K. Brimblecom, sports; J. W. Blankenship and Jack Gerrity, prizes; Eric Lagerblad, transportation.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

There is a hope of reaching prorogation next week and matters are being handled more rapidly than ever before this year, with morning and afternoon sessions of both branches. At this time it is impossible to state the exact hour and date of final adjournment but it is sane to assume that it will be reached in the immediate future.

One of the sharpest fights this week in the Senate came when a Boston Republican Senator sought to have favorably acted upon a bill requiring employers of "open shop" labor to file with the State Department of Labor and Industries copies of the agreement with employees. The bill is favored by organized labor. Proponents of the bill declared it would do much to prevent strife between capital and labor. Opponents said the bill was an attempt to do indirectly "what the courts say we cannot do directly" and meant providing a blacklist of employers. The Senate rejected the bill by a rising vote. An unsuccessful attempt was made to have the rejection reconsidered. On Tuesday was a roll call and Senator Hollis voted for reconsideration which lost, 18 to 15.

Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, Mrs. Raymond Green, Mrs. John T. Wheelock and Miss Eleanor Rhodes of this city, accompanied by Mr. James Dempsey, secretary to Mayor Wever, called upon Gov. Allen last Monday to invite him to the Newton Tercentenary pageant June 3, 4 and 5. Mrs. Green, Mrs. Wheelock and Miss Rhodes wore costumes of the Civil War days in which they will appear in the pageant. They were photographed with the Governor. Later they were escorted through the State House by Senator Hollis and presented to Speaker Saltonstall of the House and President Bacon of the Senate.

The House spent considerable time on the bill giving cities and towns authority to purchase privately owned gas or electric lighting plants or parts thereof, the Public Utilities Commission to determine the value and approve the transaction. The leaders of the Democratic party offered as a substitute a bill which would allow municipalities to establish such plants without the approval of the Public Utilities Commission. There were lengthy arguments but finally the substitute was rejected by roll call, 130 to 84. Representatives Baker, Luitwieler and Thompson voted against substitution. When it came to the passage of the original bill the Republicans performed a neat bit of strategy by demanding a roll call, thus forcing the Democrats, who had talked against the bill and for the substitution to either support the bill or go without any legislation this year regarding the establishment of municipal lighting plants. The bill went through with a whoop, 201 to 7.

The Governor sent in a special message, which has already received favorable action, recommending that legislation be passed authorizing cities and towns to appropriate money for local safety committees and to carry out such highway safety work as may be found necessary in order to cope with each local situation. The Governor said that some question had arisen as to the legality of appropriations already made and that any question will hamper the splendid work that is being done. Therefore, he sought to have legislation passed to continue public interest.

The bill imposing a general tax on personal incomes and excise taxes measured by income and otherwise upon certain corporations, reported by the Taxation Committee on recommendations of the special taxation commission, has been submitted in spite of the efforts of several members of the taxation committee. There has been substituted a resolve providing for an investigation of proposed changes in the tax law. This latter action means that a lot of the taxation bills will go over another year and that little if any taxation legislation is to be considered at the present session.

The Governor put his foot down on three bills which would have allowed the members of the city councils of Boston, Cambridge and Revere to boost their own salaries without a referendum to the voters of their respective cities. The Governor returned the bills with the recommendation that they be amended to provide for the approval of the voters and the Legislature promptly saw his point. The Boston boost is from $1500 to $2000; Cambridge $600 to $750 and Revere $300 to $500. The amusing part of it is that the original bills provided for a referendum to the voters but somebody thought it would be a clever thing to knock off the referendum clause. Governor Allen reads bills pretty closely and it is not often that he is so misled.

The action of the Senate in passing old-age assistance legislation was one of the principal matters of interest this week. The upper branch took the House bill as it was with one exception and that was placing the age at which both men and women may receive old-age assistance from the State at 70 years. That was the figure in the original bill reported by the Committee on Pensions. The House had made it 60 years of age for women and 65 years for men. The Senate Ways and Means Committee tried to have substituted a resolve part further investigation of the matter but that resolve was rejected by roll call, 21 to 16. An attempt to put over the Thore non-contributory old-age pension bill was rejected by roll call, 23 to 11. Then the bill itself was passed to be engrossed, 29 to 3. Senator Hollis voted for further investigation, against the non-contributory bill, and was paired against the bill that was finally passed.

Frank A. Goodwin and Representative Hays have a new bill for compulsory automobile liability insurance which they hope to have passed in place of the State fund bill which the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional.

ALDERMEN MEET

The meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night was late in adjourning. Not because much important business was transacted, nor because much routine business or lengthy discussions were engaged in. A "short recess" which lasted the better part of two hours, called for the purpose of permitting a joint conference between the Finance and Public Buildings Committees kept the other members of Board sitting idly in the aldermanic chamber. The long confab between the members of the two committees was on the matter of remedying the heating problem at the high school buildings in Newtonville. It was the third lengthy pow-wow on this perplexing problem which has been the cause of so much deliberation the past few years on the part of the School Committee, the members of the Public Buildings Committee of the Aldermen—and the Public Buildings Commissioner. Heating experts have been engaged and paid to make surveys and diagnoses of the heating situation at the high schools. Plans 1, 2, 3 and 4, Suggestions A, B, C and D have been made and argued over.

At a recent meeting it was practically decided to make drastic changes in the heating plant at the high schools which would have included the installation of a huge new boiler, placing automatic stokers in the other boilers and altering the boiler room by making it higher, which, naturally would necessitate putting on a new roof. These changes would have cost about $50,000. Bids were received several weeks ago and it was almost decided to go ahead with the work. But, differences of opinion among the conferees resulted in a compromise which brought matters about where they were a year or more ago. All that will be done this summer on the heating plant will be to install hand operated stokers and raise the height of the chimney.

The stokers will allow a more even distribution of coal and are expected to end the smoke nuisance which resulted from forced heating. It was the smoke nuisance which started the whole rumpus over the heating difficulties at the high school.

There were several hearings Monday night on petitions to improve unaccepted streets in the city. It is amusing to the Aldermen to hear at meeting after meeting the same old whine—"Our street is in the worst condition of any street in the city." Those making this claim know about as much concerning other unaccepted streets than the one on which they reside as the ordinary man knows about Einstein's theory of relativity. Most unaccepted streets are in tough shape when a thaw comes during the winter months. The hearings held Monday night concerned Garland, Lee and Wachusetts roads, "Vade" Grant streets and Greenlawn avenue.

William U. Fogwill advocated the construction of cement curbs on Crescent street, Auburndale. This street was recently improved and accepted. In accordance with the regular method of constructing streets in this city loan borders were placed between the street and sidewalk. Mr. Fogwill does not think much of the practicability of loan borders. Neither do other citizens who observe these borders rutted by automobiles and trampled by children.

T. S. Woods, Jr., of Lee road was apprehensive regarding the levying of higher taxes on his property should this street be improved and accepted. He was assured by President Collins of the Board that the valuation on his property will not be raised because of this improvement. Dr. M. C. Sosman of Lee road told of friends who had come to visit him, but who turned back their cars when they saw the condition of the street.

Rev. William Shaw of the Upper Falls Methodist Episcopal Church spoke in favor of taking land on High street as a playground for the pupils of the Emerson School. He stated it will be a good investment for the benefit of growing youth. Mrs. William Shaw said that the time is ripe now to act on the taking of this land. The taking of this land will prevent the deplorable condition which forces little children to use the street as a playground. The playground at Upper Falls is a half mile from the school, too far for little children to travel to. Mrs. Shaw stated that the taking of the land will not only provide a playground for the children now attending the school, but for the thousands of children who will attend this school in future years. It was recommended that $50,000 be taken from the Tax Levy to construct streets under the Betterment Law. It was voted to appropriate $10,000 as damages to the Newton Cemetery for drying up the small ponds there due to the construction of the Cold Spring Swamp drain. Aldermen Powers and Temperley voted in the negative on this matter. The former said that while he understood the cemetery corporation had been promised this sum in a gentlemen's agreement with the Aldermen last year, he had consistently voted against the method of financing the Cold Spring development project at taxpayers' expense. Aldermen Temperley co-incided with the ward 1 member's views.

Tramps, grown-up babies, masculine-looking ladies and ladylike gentlemen were all present last Tuesday evening when 75 young people of Norumbega Union gathered at the Great "Hobo Convention" at the Belmont M. E. Church. Refreshments were served by Dorothy Colby of West Newton and Dorothy Jones of West Newton.

A joint meeting of the Lincoln Park Baptist (West Newton) and Newton North Congregational (Newton) young people will take place next Sunday evening at 6 p. m. at the former church. Prof. Bosworth of Newton Seminary will be the speaker.

OBJECT TO NURSERY ON COMMONWEALTH AVENUE

have over 40 branches all over the country. They do not raise plants and shrubs but purchase them and do landscaping. The property they wish to use on Commonwealth avenue has a frontage of 250 feet and a depth of 500 feet. According to Mr. Hayden it would enhance the beauty of the neighborhood and residents would be not annoyed by seeing loads of dirt and manure being carted about. He stated that they had taken a lease on the property and will purchase it if they obtain the permit.

He stated that if the permit is given, Mark Oettinger, New England manager of the company will reside in a $25,000 house which will be erected well in from the street and which will also be used as an office. The present old buildings would be removed. He quoted from the Zoning Ordinance, Section 52d which allows nurseries in single residence zones, provided the Board of Aldermen grant the permit and commented that although he was of the opinion that the petitioners could establish a "demonstration plant" on the property without a permit, he desires to be fair with the Aldermen and thus entered the petition. Although he stated that the site of the proposed nursery on Commonwealth avenue, is located on a very dangerous curve, Mr. Hayden asserted that no danger will be caused by the establishment of the nursery show place at this point. He said that his clients will be pleased to cooperate with the city in the removal of this curve by giving some land to have it straightened out.

Cornelius Mehigan of 1298 Commonwealth avenue, speaking for his mother, who owned the property in question, favored the petition. He thought the establishment of the nursery there will be a good thing for the neighborhood. In contradiction to Mr. Hayden's plan to remove the dangerous curve, Mr. Mehigan said he would be opposed to any change in this curve.

Edward A. McLaughlin, Jr., as attorney for John J. Daly of Prince street, and other owners of nearby properties, objected to the granting of the petition. He interrogated Mr. Hayden on certain matters and obtained the information that the Lewis & Valentine Company is a New Jersey corporation, that the lease they have taken on the property can be cancelled if a permit is not obtained and that already a number of shrubs have been planted on the property. It was explained by Mr. Oettinger of the Lewis & Valentine Company that the shrubs and plants were placed in the ground at 1266 Commonwealth avenue because of the recent excessive but spell, that they had already been sold and were just there temporarily. Mr. McLaughlin read letters of protest from owners of nearby properties who are opposed to the nursery business being established at the site asked for.

He ridiculed Mr. Hayden's argument that it is the purpose of Lewis & Valentine to beautify the neighborhood and contended that this foreign corporation isn't coming here and spending $100,000 just to beautify the section. He said they had picked out a spot in one of the most beautiful residential sections of this city because of its advantage for sales purposes. He read their petition to show the place is intended to be used for nursery business purposes and contended that as already 100 or more shrubs have been planted, which according to the statement of the representative of the Lewis & Valentine Company, have already been sold, that the Zoning Ordinance has been violated. He asserted that the Building Commissioner should see that the law is enforced. He argued that the Zoning Ordinance was passed to protect residents of this city who had expended large sums in erecting attractive dwellings and that this ordinance should be lived up to. He stated that the residents in this neighborhood have a right to be protected from intrusions of big business.

John M. Delano of 308 Prince street opposed the petition. He said that the exhibition of shrubs and plants on this property will cause automobiles to be stopped on the dangerous curve where two serious accidents have occurred within the past few weeks and where many accidents have happened in the past.

Joseph J. Hickey of 1181 Commonwealth avenue objected to the petition and queried Attorney Hayden regarding the latter's statement that sales will not be made at the place except in isolated cases. Mr. Hickey wanted to know just how these isolated cases would be determined?

Mark Oettinger, manager for Lewis & Valentine explained that his employees are not in the nursery business but are assemblers of rare plants and landscape engineers. He stated that the "demonstration plant" on Commonwealth avenue will attract much attention and will enhance the appearance of the neighborhood. He called attention to a similar plant valued at $1,000,000 and located in the best residential section at Rye, New York. He had reserved the right to purchase a 50 foot strip at the rear of the Mehigan land adjoining to be used as an approach from Troy Lane for trucks. He realized that the curve on Commonwealth avenue would be bad for parking and automobiles should not be driven from this point. He commented that he would endeavor to so conduct the place and keep it so attractive that he will win the friendship of nearby residents.

He was also questioned by Mr. Hickey regarding the selling of plants at the premises and admitted that occasional sales might be made. George H. Ellis of 1245 Commonwealth avenue was another objector to the proposed nursery plant. He told of the many expensive residences which have recently been erected on the sub-divisions of his former estate and believes the proposed business will depreciate the value of these residences. He stated that unless sales will be made at the place, it will be of little value for demonstration purposes. The grounds there are not large enough for such demonstration of shrubs, so would be used more for sales. He asserted it will be a mistake for the Aldermen to grant the petition.

Peter Dugan, speaking for Miss Leona Sheehan and her sister of 1248 Commonwealth avenue, opposed the petition and another objector was Miss Lillian Cotter of Troy road. Cornelius Mehigan took exception to Mr. Delano's statement that accidents have occurred at the curve opposite 1298 Commonwealth avenue. He stated these accidents have occurred at the intersection of the avenue and Fuller street.

Mr. Hayden made the statement that the petitioners will agree to a modified permit which will forbid sales being made at the place and that no business will be conducted there.

POLICE NEWS

Alleged ignorance of his affairs by Frank Vincenzo of Adams street, Newton, caused him to be adjudged in contempt of court by Judge Weston on Tuesday and ordered to jail for 5 days. Sometime ago Vincenzo engaged Attorney Francis Terry of Newburyport to represent him in the matter of recovering damages from the city for the taking of property on Bridges avenue as part of the site of the new Cabot School. Subsequently, Vincenzo completed negotiations with the city and refused to pay Terry a fee of $100. Terry hailed Vincenzo into court and last Saturday the latter submitted to a questioning by the attorney under the Supplementary Process law to ascertain his ability to pay the debt to Terry.

To practically all the questions, Vincenzo answered, "I don't know." This answer was given to such questions: "Do you own an automobile?" "Have you any money?" "What business are you engaged in?" Because of these answers, Judge Weston found Vincenzo in contempt of court. He was taken to jail by Deputy Sheriff Ricker, but later in the day paid the Terry claim, together with supplementary charges which brought the total amount to $127.50.

Edward A. McLaughlin, Jr., as attorney for John J. Daly of Prince street, was in the Newton court last Friday charged by his wife with assault by an automobile. She alleged that he tried to run over her with his car. He was found guilty by Judge Brown and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. Brown testified that his wife insisted in working in a Waltham restaurant, thus compelling him to remain at home and care for their four children.

Walter F. Murray of Plymouth road, Newton Highlands was fined $50 in the Newton court on Monday for speeding. It was his third conviction for such an offense within the past few months. Other "speeders" fined in court on Monday were—James Baldwin, Bay State road, Boston, $25; Winchester Hardy, Dover, $10; George Bartley, 64 Eddy street, West Newton, $5; Thomas Kirkham, Boston, $5; Francis Cincotta, Marlboro, $10.

Edward Raymond of 11 Bowdoin street, Boston, was fined $50 in the Newton court on Monday for driving while under the influence of liquor. Walter Egan of 471 Chestnut Hill avenue, Brookline was arrested early Sunday morning at Newton Corner on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. His case will be tried on May 28.

Thomas Murphy of Kenyon place, West Newton, was given a suspended fine of $25 in the Newton court by Judge Brown on Tuesday for driving a car with defective brakes.

CHIEF BURKE TO RETIRE

in the absence of possible action by you and the Board of Aldermen, still I think it courteous and useful perhaps for you to have guidance, that I acquaint you of my desires.

"After forty-two consecutive years of police service, I feel that I should avail myself of the opportunity for peace and rest from the onerous and not always pleasant duties of a police chief.

"I ask you to permit me to thank you for your confidence in and good will toward me, and whatever good may have resulted in my service, I attribute to the same part to your co-operation, that of Ex-Mayor Childs, and the honorable Board of Aldermen.

"With respect and willingness to be always at your service, permit me to remain."

By L. D. G. Bentley

A reader has favored this column with a copy of the Boston Daily Courier of Saturday morning, Sept. 22, 1860, and inasmuch as it contains reference to Newton I am sure that readers will find the home town allusions of more than passing interest. Before going into the local feature let me tell you that as a daily newspaper this particular sheet is a wonder. I can see why sometimes newspapers are flippantly referred to as "sheets." This edition is large enough, when unfolded, to cover a baby's crib and more. Actually, it measures four feet one way and two and one-half the other. Imagine trying to read it. I spread it out as one would an ordinary newspaper and found my arms aching before I had been holding it long, and my arms are not short. It was good exercise, along with a study of past events.

Well, it seems that the Courier was not in favor of the election of Abraham Lincoln as President and Hannibal Hamlin as Vice-President. And furthermore, a number of people in Newton were of the same opinion. The Courier's candidates for President and Vice-President were John Bell of Tennessee and Edward Everett of Massachusetts. The leading editorial which measures about five feet of small type set solid (more than editorial writers today dash off in a week of daily editions) contains this sad prophecy: "Mr. Lincoln, if elected, would be elected against the votes of a majority of the people of the United States--against the unanimous vote of fifteen of the thirty-three United States--and against the vote of a majority of the people of the other eighteen states. He would stand on legal theories repudiated by all the judicial authorities, supreme, circuit, and district, of the whole United States." Not so hot as a prophecy.

All of the above antagonism to one of our greatest and one who had not impressed me as it did had I not read of the support given his opponent in Newton.

In a conspicuous place at the top of a column on the front page we find this: "Watertown, Sept. 21, 1860--Watertown was alive last evening. At quarter past seven o'clock our Bell and Everett Club was drawn into line on Main street, each man with a torch in his left hand and a Roman candle in the right, ready to salute the Cambridgeport 'Minute Men' who were expected to arrive at half-past seven o'clock.

"We had tendered an escort to the 'Minute Men' to Newton Centre, to take the cars for the grand ratification meeting at West Newton, but having received notice that the cars would not wait for us after 8 o'clock, and hearing that the 'Minute Men' had probably taken the cars at the Cambridge Crossing Station on the Worcester Railroad on account of the storm, we started from Watertown at quarter before eight for Newton Corner, very much disappointed. Just as the cars arrived, drums were heard and soon the 'Minute Men' came in sight, having arrived in Watertown a few minutes after we left.

"The 'Watertown 'Wide Awakes' were out on a parade, and, to show their friendly feelings toward the Cambridge Company and our club, were drawn up in line on the bridge and saluted as we passed.

"On our return to Newton Corner from West Newton we escorted the 'Minute Men' to Watertown where they took the cars home.

I fail to find any account of the "grand ratification meeting at West Newton" which I am sure would be far more engrossing than the details of transportation so carefully set forth by the Courier's faithful Watertown correspondent.

It seems that Bell and Everett were the champions of the National Union Ticket. That party's State ticket and the names of its electors are set forth in this edition of the Courier but I find no names of Newton men on the list.

To us it seems incredible that there should have been this bitter feeling toward Abraham Lincoln. Not to dwell on the change that must have reached the hearts of his critics, but just to call attention to the silly things people can do under the stress of political excitement I place this before GRAPHIC readers.

It is something of an art to know how to swing the gavel as presiding officer over a business meeting of a club or similar organization, but the art of it lies in the knowledge of parliamentary procedure rather than any other accomplishment. One should know one's Cushing's Manual, but so few of us do. Offhand I don't know much about Mr. Cushing but I admire those who have had the patience to study that volume and acquire the facility that makes a perfect chairman.

If you take the average individual you will find he understands how to put a motion and how to second it and most everybody knows, "I move we adjourn," but all the in-between procedure is a foreign practice to a lot of people. I should never think of criticizing those who have failed to study up on these things, although I believe it is something we should do for our own good.

Many of us got our first idea of parliamentary practice when we belonged to a debating club in our youth. We got to learn the meaning of amendments, of motions to reconsider and those things and we could demand a vote by saying, "Question," which put it up to the presiding officer to obtain the sense of the meeting. "All those in favor, please say 'aye,' those opposed 'no'" became a phrase common in our vocabulary but we never did seem to get much beyond that.

I have often wondered why so small a proportion of men and women familiarize themselves with this really important branch of everyday proceedings. Maybe women do better at it than men. I cannot say for I have seldom been privileged to watch them conduct a business meeting. The whole

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSN.

The Church School Exhibit, which will take place on next Saturday and Sunday afternoons, 2 to 6 p. m., at Colby Hall, Newton Centre, is a new venture for this District. Its purpose is twofold: 1. To display for the benefit of visitors the types of hand-work found useful in Bible and Missionary teaching. 2. To demonstrate worship and Bible dramatizations, using children or young people who have already carried on this work in their local church schools.

The Juniors of the Newton Centre Baptist Church, under the direction of Miss Doris Bigglestone, will give a worship service at 3 p. m., followed by two short Bible dramatizations by the Juniors of the Newton Methodist Church, under the direction of Miss Eva J. Viles. At 4:15 to 4:35, Bible dramatizations by pupils of the Junior High School age, will be given, under the direction of Mrs. Harry H. Reed. Young people of the Waltham Universalist Church, under the direction of their pastor, Rev. Edgar W. Walker, will give at 5 to 5:30 a worship service on the subject of "Peace."

The District Board of Education, at its recent meeting, instructed the Executive Secretary to spend much of her time in June on the survey of weekday religious education. The Board is undertaking to discover how much religious education is given in churches outside of the regular Sunday School period. They have decided to begin by making a study of the Junior Department, age 9 to 11, inclusive, grades 4, 5 and 6. Survey blanks have been prepared asking for data on the Junior department of the church school, on the "Junior church," Junior Christian Endeavors, Kings' Heralds, and all other types of weekday work carried on in churches for this age.

NEWTON LODGE OF ELKS

Newton Lodge of Elks will participate in the Memorial Day parade. It is expected that a large number of members will march. Past Exalted Ruler William M. Noone will be honored at the next meeting of Newton Lodge. An enjoyable entertainment will be furnished by members of the lodge and other talent.

Newton Lodge will observe Flag Day on June 15. Preceding the patriotic exercises, a parade will be held. Other fraternal and military organizations will be invited to participate in this parade.

thing, I daresay, is a matter of application and minds of both sexes run along the same channels when it comes to either taking these things seriously or dismissing them altogether.

In cities we are at a disadvantage as compared with residents of towns. More parliamentary knowledge can be picked up at a town meeting than any place I know. The trouble is we are apt not to hold it. All this I have written in the hope of inspiring my fellow citizens. Nothing pleases me more than a man or woman who can handle the deliberations of a group of earnest people and rule promptly on all questions, answer requests for information and avoid parliamentary tangles. It's something that any of us may readily acquire and which we may find necessary to use at a most unexpected time.

"Hot dogs" are always good for a laugh, although for the life of me I don't know why. Many of us enjoy eating them and possibly the mere thought of one, reposing in a long roll and garnished with mustard, so tickles our appetite and fancy that we become slightly hysterical. It may be that I am a bit esthetic but I never call them "hot dogs." The name frankfurter is, in my opinion, more appropriate as well as more accurate. However, they are really sausage and nobody ever uses that word.

I am not going to sermonize on this extremely popular article of food, but I have chosen it for a text because it furnishes me with an opportunity to speak of one of the most encouraging things that has happened for the commonweal in a long time. If you will be patient I shall show you how "hot dogs," if you will, can represent something very much worth while as well as very serious.

Without dwelling on the possible adulteration of this delightful form of sausage I need only to remind my readers that it has been known to happen. Basing their contention on this very fact a group of our best sausage manufacturers in Massachusetts proceeded to the Legislature this year and requested legislation to make more rigid the sausage manufacturing law and prohibit the use as an ingredient of certain organs of animals heretofore permitted under the law.

It was pointed out by these manufacturers, and in all earnestness, that people coming to Massachusetts for celebration of the tercentenary this year should be able to obtain the very best "hot dogs" in the country. The Legislature didn't laugh, but put through an act which calls for pure sausage and sausage meat. So impressed were they as to the need of this legislation that an emergency preamble was attached to make it operate at once. The Governor has affixed his signature and the whole business is settled.

Out of this we may derive the satisfaction of knowing that we can't go wrong when we buy sausage. But more important still is the fact that such legislation was initiated by the sausage manufacturers themselves. If that isn't a good healthy sign of public-spirited action I'll miss my guess. It's the old story of reforms from within. They invariably do the most toward the improvement of conditions.

The official reason of the Boston Elevated for giving us so many more single cars of the centre-door type on the Newton-Brighton-Watertown line does not particularly interest me. One car is as good as another to me providing I am not obliged to wait too long for it. If it comes rolling along when I'm ready for a ride I have no complaint, except that I hope that it isn't crowded and that I may have a seat.

I will withdraw the above assertion regarding the similarity of the cars because I think the centre-door type has advantages. You have only one step to make. Also many more may board such a car at a single time. The two-step end-door car is something of a hurdle when there is a crowd. You start to climb up when you discover the person ahead has been suddenly obliged to halt. This sends you tumbling backward to the ground where there are other people whose bodily presence saves you from going flat.

As far as my study of the centre-door type car goes there are longer side seats and fewer cross seats. They differ, these cars do, from the centre door trailer in that the latter has a semi-circle of seats at each end while the single cars have cross seats, one set of which requires the passenger to ride backwards. And these end seats are not too wide for comfort, rather the contrary.

I've noticed that some men are alert to the opportunity provided by the vacant end seats for a good foot rest. Next time you ride just notice how these end seats that face the other way have been used as footstools until the varnish has been pretty well removed from the edge. Personally, the only objection I can see is that there is apt to be some mud left behind by the rested tootsies.

But none of this is intended in a critical spirit. The centre-door cars are all right by me. In fact, any kind of a car is satisfactory. All I ask is plenty of 'em.

Newton Federation

The Executive Board of the Newton Federation holds its organization meeting for the work of the coming year on Tuesday, May 27th, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Library of the Technical High School, Newtonville. At this meeting, the newly-elected president, Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, of Newton, will preside. Plans for the next season will be inaugurated, and chairmen of committees will be appointed or re-appointed. Members and chairmen are urged to be present, and it is hoped that ideas will be brought forward that will help in the organization of aims. All Clubwomen are invited to attend these meetings, whether voting delegates or not.

Attention is called to the delightful plan of this Federation of Women's Clubs to give an Art Exhibit, in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House from June 7th to 10th, which exhibit will be one of antiques, and works of art that should be most attractive. Mrs. W. J. Freethy is general chairman in charge, and she would be glad to have all who are willing to loan their treasures for this event, notify her at 69 Pontiac road, Waban. Old prints, paintings, manuscripts, furniture, dishes, etc., are desired. The Exhibit will be open daily, except Sunday, from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., and on Sunday from 1 to 9:30 p. m. All are cordially invited to inspect these historic articles, and the Exhibit will be open free of entrance charge.

RADIO. The last of the year's radio broadcasts which have been so splendidly arranged by Mrs. Leon E. White, Radio director, will be given next week. Clubwomen who have followed them will be sorry to have them stop until next October. Any who have had the arrangement of programs can appreciate the endless amount of effort and patience it has taken the director to have these weekly programs go smoothly—only the difficulty of securing speakers and talent, but the change of plans that is bound to come about so often at the last moment, due to various circumstances affecting the individual. Mrs. White is to be congratulated upon her skill in rising to every occasion.

The last program will be an especially appealing one. A dramatic group from the Thursday Fortnightly Club, of Dorchester, will broadcast a one-act play at WNAC next Wednesday morning, May 28th, at 11 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. Miner H. A. Evans of the Mothercraft and Child Welfare Department of the State Federation. Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband" has for the cast, Mrs. Charles Gettemy, Miss Mary Whiting, and Mrs. Miner H. A. Evans.

ANNUAL MEETING. The Annual Meeting last week at Swampscott went over as always in a blaze of glory. Officers were elected as per the ballot given in this Column on March 28th.

Resume of the business and reports of these three days' sessions are not given in this Column, but may be found in the Lynn Item, by Clubwomen who would like to keep records. One feature of interest to Newton, mentioned, however, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, State chairman of Conservation, received many compliments upon the altogether lovely exhibit she arranged in the sunlit corridor of the New Ocean House, where all entering the hotel coming from the Convention Hall could enjoy it. Against a spicy and fragrant background of evergreen and cedar trees was a wild flower garden of blue and white violets, "trilliums, mandarin, and jacin-in-the-pulpits, and other woody flowers mingled with mosses. Making the nook quite natural and realistic were the tiny rivulets winding their way among the mosses.

It was quite appropriate that the bouquet presented to Mrs. Goodridge, as an officer, contained many wild flowers mingled with the beautiful pinks and roses, a sentiment planned by one who had ideas.

General Federation

The closing event of the Club year is the meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the largest organization of women in the world, when it will hold its twentieth Biennial Convention, June 5th to 14th in Denver, Colorado, with the president, Mrs. John F. Sippel, presiding. Many Massachusetts clubwomen at Swampscott last week, had the pleasure of seeing Mrs. Sippel. Approximately 5000 Clubwomen, representing every State in the Union and many foreign countries, are expected to attend the Biennial.

"Woman's Service as a Citizen," is the keynote of the convention, around which is being built an inspiring program, with special reference to women's work in American Citizenship, in American Home, in Education, in Fine Arts, in International Relations, in Legislation, in Press and Publicity and in Public Welfare, the eight major departments of work in the General Federation, through which more than one hundred and twenty-five separate activities are carried on. Mrs. William N. Harder, of Marion, Ohio, chairman of the Program committee, announces that a score, or more, of women and men of national reputation, will be included among the speakers. The outstanding achievement of the past two years by the several departments will be recounted by its chairman, who will also make recommendations for the continuation of present projects.

State Presidents' night, when the president of each State Federation recounts in two minutes the notable Club work in her State, occupies a conspicuous place on the program.

The closing session will be in charge of the president of the General Federation, who will offer especially brilliant speakers. Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson of Tulsa, Oklahoma, second vice-president of the General Federation, is representing the national organization in local arrangements.

Election of officers will take place on Tuesday morning, June 10th. Officers are elected for two-year terms, and with the single exception of the treasurer, the present officers were elected two years ago at San Antonio. However, the custom is to give officers two terms; hence, as there are no other candidates to date, it is expected that the following incumbents will be re-elected: President, Mrs. John F. Sippel, of Baltimore; first vice-president, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, Massachusetts; second vice-president, Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson of Tulsa, Oklahoma; and recording secretary, Mrs. Henry C. Taylor of Bloomfield, Iowa. The treasurer of the Federation, Mrs. H. G. Reynolds of Paducah, Kentucky, having served two two-year terms is not eligible for re-election. The only announced candidate for this office is Mrs. Edward Hammett of Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

Colorado Club women, who number 8000, have for the past two years been occupied with plans for making the twentieth Biennial convention notable from the standpoint of hospitality and entertainment, and many unique and delightful features have been planned. Mrs. C. H. Morlan, of Denver, as local Biennial chairman, is in general charge of local arrangements, and she is assisted by forty-six large and well organized committees. The convention will open formally with a great outdoor reception featuring a dramatic fantasy symbolizing the spirit and history of Colorado, written by Nellie Burget Miller, Colorado's poet laureate.

"Play Day" as the day set aside for recreation has come to be known, will offer to the delegates the sixty-five mile Circle Drive over Lookout Mountain, and through Denver's mountain parks, to Golden, the early capital of Colorado, scene of the gold rush of '59, the rocky crypt where rests the remains of Col. Wm. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), Genesee mountain Continental Divide, Bear Creek Canyon, and other points of historic and scenic interest. Special entertainment is being arranged for visiting Clubwomen other than delegates. A series of delightful social affairs is being arranged for Juniors, whom it is expected will be present in large numbers.

Clubwomen who attend the Biennial of the General Federation in Denver, and there are many from Massachusetts, may stand at the tip-top of the world, for Colorado is located on the very crest of the continent. Motor highways an hour out of Denver climb to the top of the Great Divide. The continent of America, like a huge monster rising from the sea, humps its jagged vertebrae for three-hundred miles across Colorado. In this short distance nearly fifty bristling pinnacles lift more than 14,000 feet above the sea, while hundreds of scarred peaks barely escape that elevation.

Denver, itself, stands over 5000 feet above sea level and has an average summer temperature of sixty degrees. It has no wooden structure of any sort within its limits, but matches its rugged scenery with buildings of concrete, brick, granite and marble. The building which will be most frequented by the Clubwomen will be the Municipal Auditorium. In its huge hall, which seats 12,000 persons, will be held the sessions of the Biennial, and there will also be ample accommodations for committee meetings and exhibitions. All the sessions will be open to the public, with special seats reserved for the delegates.

Not far from the Auditorium is the Brown Palace Hotel, the official headquarters, and the Cosmopolitan Hotel, where the New England group will be quartered. As the hostess for the Council of 1929, Massachusetts will be favored with especially good seats, only Maryland, the president's State, and Texas, the hostess for the last Biennial, being given precedence over her.

Denver claims to be the cleanest city in the world and the most fire- (Continued on Page 13)

NINETY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY PARTY

The Parish Aid Society of St. Mary's Church celebrated its ninety-fifth anniversary on May fourteenth.

A delicious luncheon, under the direction of Mrs. Schofield, was served in the Parish Hall, some former members of the Society coming from out of town to attend.

The tables were beautifully decorated with the spring flowers.

Several of the past officers were present. After the luncheon Mrs. Parker, the new President, presided at a meeting at which reports and letters of former Presidents and other officers were read, some dating back from 1835 to 1838.

Mrs. John McLean read the history of the church and Society from 1835 to 1913. In 1838 the "Ladies' Sewing Circle" raised money to enlarge the church and build a "Vestry" that they might have a larger room in which to meet.

Miss Jordan told of reminiscences of her aunt, Miss Sarah Fuller, of a large fair held in the Grove on Grove street, then called "Olympian Grove" and of her own girlhood memories of a fair held in the old Stone Mill at which grab bags made of hat boxes were used. This fair helped to build the "Chapel" now known as the "Parish Hall."

Mrs. Schofield read an interesting paper upon the early days of Newton Lower Falls and showed an old book of the "West Parish" dated 1811—two years before the corner stone of St. Mary's was laid.

Mrs. Parker gave a report of the Society and of the remarkable amount of work accomplished especially during the World War. The present officers are: Mrs. Edward B. Parker, President; Mrs. Edna Seaverus, First Vice President; Mrs. Henry Young, Second Vice President; Mrs. John R. McLean, Treasurer; Mrs. F. E. Hanscomb, Recording Secretary; Miss Fannie Seaverus, Corresponding Secretary.

The meeting closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

The Society has nearly fifty members and it is hoped all may be present at the one hundredth birthday party.

DOGS STILL BITING PERSONS

The police received two complaints on last Friday from persons who had been attacked by dogs. James Coffey of 904 Walnut street, Newton Highlands reported that a dog owned by Mrs. Charles Bailey of Kenmore road had attacked him. Gerald Sullivan of Carleton road, Waban was attacked by a dog owned by Albert Pollard of Wamesit road. The boy was going to the Angler School when the dog assailed him. Both dogs were ordered restrained and Dr. Boutelle was notified to examine them.

Newton Tercentenary PAGEANT PARAGRAPHS

By C. HASSLER CAPRON

Editor's Note: Fifth of the series of articles relating to various features of the Newton Tercentenary Pageant which will be held in the natural outdoor amphitheatre on the Newton Centre Play-ground, June 3, 4 and 5, is by Mr. C. Hassler Capron, who is chairman of the pageant lighting committee. Mr. Capron has had a great deal of experience in producing effective stage lighting effects.

"A good deal of curiosity seems to have been aroused in the minds of those who have visited the Pageant Field on the Newton Centre Play-ground during the last two weeks as to just what use will be made of the two towers which have been erected behind the grandstands. Therefore, the committee on Lighting is taking this opportunity to explain that these two towers have been built for their use and that the major portion of the pageant lighting will be done from them."

"The switch controls, dimmers and entrance switch, will be installed in the east tower, enabling the Director of Lighting to control all the lighting of the pageant, the orchestra, dressings rooms, grandstand and any other necessary lighting, from one central point. In each tower six especially constructed pageant flood-lights will be mounted and will serve as the fundamental lighting of the pageant. Used in connection with these will be two 70 ampere search lights, 4 powerful arc spot lights and 4 high-powered nitrogen spot lights.

"The lighting system is one of the utmost flexibility the entire system having been worked out so that every light used for the various episodes is under immediate color control. Slightly over a mile of wire and cable will be used for 'hooking-up' the equipment."

"A telephone system will be installed between the two towers and a signal system between the master tower and the orchestra."

"Every effort is being made by the Lighting Committee to make the lighting do its part in producing an artistic pageant for this Tercentenary celebration."

Paramount Theatre Celebrates Anniversary With Special Features

Local Theatre, One of Publix Chain, Is Showing "The Vagabond King" First Half of Next Week

It will be just one year next Thursday May 29th since the Publix Paramount Theatre opened its doors to the citizens of Newton and surrounding towns. At that time there were lots of obstacles in the way and many said that the new management could not do any better than the former did in the way of refined entertainment.

The Publix Theatres have prided themselves in every city where they have theatres to improve the class of entertainment and service to the fullest extent, last year Talking pictures were a novelty and in the past year many of the finest pictures produced have been shown in the Paramount Theatre, and the product for the coming season is just being released and every picture promises to be better than the other.

The Paramount Theatre during its first year in Newton has become an institution in more ways than one, it has co-operation with the various merchants and brings into Newton Corner more than 10,000 persons each week, the merchants have equally co-operated with the theatre in this kind for what an institution of this kind is sure to bring to them, many have benefited by these huge crowds coming and shopping in this district instead of going to town.

The Paramount Staff which includes Mr. J. N. Snider as manager came to the Paramount Theatre from the St. James Theatre in Boston where he managed the St. James Stock Company with Mr. Walter Gilbert as leading man and Mary Young as leading woman. Mr. Nick Fennan who is present assistant manager has just been transferred from the Central Square Theatre in Cambridge.

The service is in charge of Mr. George Van Buskirk a Newton youth who has made good in his efforts having been engaged at the Paramount shortly after its opening, his staff of ushers of which there are six are trained under strict military rule and each evening they are lined up for inspection and drill, they also have a fire drill which is a very strict one and something that should be done in every theatre as it is done in every Public Theatre in the Country, while theatre managers never think of fires except in having their forces prepared not only for accidents but because it puts every man at a point of duty where he is assigned. The management boasts of having one of the finest audiences in Boston district. Mr. Edward Allen who has been organist at the Paramount theatre has gained a multitude of admirers through his efforts in his evening concerts, the projection department which is the most important department of the theatre is in charge of Mr. Howard Bruya and Mr. Thomas McNamara, after all they are the ones who make the show good or bad as far as projection is concerned. Mr. Clyde Holmes takes care of the lighting effects and stage craft, and last but not least Mr. Ferguson who greets our patrons upon entering the theatre.

The main feature for the Anniversary week will be the giving of a beautiful silver Loving Cup to the first baby born in Newton on May 29th, the actual birthday of the Paramount Theatre.

The main feature for the Anniversary week will be—"The Vagabond King," Paramount's lavishly produced, enchanting adaptation of Rudolph Friml's well remembered operetta. In the leading role of the dauntless vagabond is Dennis King, the famous star of the New York musical stage, who in this screen version, again creates the role in which he originally skyrocketed to fame. Playing opposite this golden-voiced star is Jeanette MacDonald, the titian-haired beauty, who recently made her debut on the audible screen with Maurice Chevalier in "The Love Parade."

Photographed throughout in beautiful natural colors, the latest Paramount production gives every promise of being one of the most elaborate and costly pictures ever to come from this company's studios. Its action is sweeping, exciting, highly dramatic. Its story throbs with the joys and heartaches of noble love. And its very spirit, aside from the splendid acting of the entire cast, is magnificent. It is a picture of the highest quality, capturing the imagination and inspiring the spirit.

On the same program will be seen "Dance Hall" with Arthur Lake and Olive Borden, an all-talking musical play. It was written by Vina Delmar and ran in Liberty Magazine some time ago. For the last half of the week with a continuous performance on Memorial Day will be seen "Montana Moon" with Joan Crawford, and Ricardo Cortez. This is an outdoor romance of the great West laid in the San Jacinto Mountains north of Los Angeles. It is very beautiful in photography and it was taken outdoors in its entirety. Dolores Costello and a very fine supporting cast will be seen on the same program in "Second Choice" a story of two men who fight for her love. She marries one but not the one she loves. A very interesting story is in store for you when you see "Second Choice."

Y. M. C. A.

Last Saturday, Mrs. Harold Holmes resigned her position in the office of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association which she has filled satisfactorily for the past twelve years. On the first of June, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are starting on an auto trip to the Continent, and as an expression of appreciation for her many years of efficient work, the secretaries presented her with an auto robe. Miss Marjorie Aldrich of West Newton has accepted the position.

Mr. Clyde G. Hess attended the Conference of Boys' Work Secretaries of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, held at Northfield this week. Returning, he will stop at Amherst college to talk with some of the college boys about positions as Councilors at Camp Frank A. Day.

The Newton Young Men's Christian Association is about 80% self-supporting. Each year the Directors make an appeal to the citizens of Newton for the 20% necessary to balance the budget. Up to date, all but $3,000 has been pledged. The Directors hope that answers will come in from the letters which have just been sent out so that officers and Secretaries can give all their time the balance of the year to directing the program of the Association.

Boys' Division

The final supper of the Boys' Division was held last Friday evening and marked the close of the point contest which has been running since last October. West Point Club won first place in table decoration with a camp scene surrounded with clusters of lilacs. Princeton's table was a very close second.

After a very tasty supper served by Mrs. Koch, the boys presented her with a large suit case and an overnight case in recognition of her services to them during the past season. Princeton Club added to the occasion by presenting her with a bouquet of roses.

After supper, the boys were entertained by a "shadow operation" supplied by West Point and then were shown movies of themselves taking part in the sports on the athletic field and at camp.

Immediately after the entertainment, the boys rushed to the swimming pool where they splashed for half an hour before leaving for home. Saturday marked a busy day at the "Y" boys' Division for at nine o'clock the vanguard of the boys who were to enrol for the "Learn-to-swim week" appeared at the doors and from then on, the rooms were filled to overflowing while the doctors examined the boys before assigning them to classes which started Monday under the direction of Mr. Jack Manning.

Saturday also marked the finish of the point contest conducted by the Junior Clubs of the Boys' Division. This contest was very close until Princeton added six hundred points at the last moment and won.

MacQuarrie, Charles McPhail, Robert Moulton, Robert Snow, and Frederick Walker.

The final standing of the clubs is as follows: Princeton 3123.4, West Point 2573.3, Leland Standford 188.5, New York University 93.9, Notre Dame 84.0, Dartmouth 67.5, Penn. State 48.6, and Georgia Tech. 46.6.

Open Baseball Season

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Senior Baseball Team played its first game for this season last Saturday afternoon at the "Y" with the St. John's M. E. team of Watertown and defeated it five to one. Home runs by Hinchey and Herring of the "Y" team in the third inning accounted for two of the local team's runs. Only five hits were made off of Leo Cormier who pitched for the "Y," but they were so well scattered through the game that Watertown was able to bring in only one run.

The Annual Free Swimming Campaign which the Newton Y. M. C. A. conducts each year for the boys of Newton and Watertown who cannot swim, started Monday afternoon at the "Y" swimming pool. Saturday morning the two-hundred and ten boys who signed up for the lessons were given a medical examination by Dr. Benjamin Loring of Watertown and were assigned to a period for each day of this week. It is hoped that at the end of this week, at the conclusion of the six lessons, that a large percentage of the boys will be able to pass a swimming test. On the first day of the campaign, on Monday, there was an attendance of one hundred and eighty-seven boys at the six classes. The instructor is Jack Manning of the Massachusetts Humane Society who for many years before his connection with the Society starting in 1920, was crew coach at Harvard College.

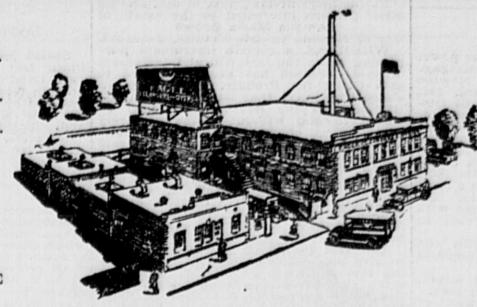

The Annual Conference of the Physical Directors' Society of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, of which Mr. R. B. Simmons and Mr. V. A. Anderson of the Newton "Y" are members, was held at the East Northfield Hotel from May 14th to the 16th. At this conference there are addresses by men who are well known in "Y" work, a business meeting is held, and the dates and places for the 1930-31 athletic and swimming championships are settled. The championships which the Newton "Y" will hold are the finals of the Men's Tennis Championship on August 16th and the Hand Ball Tournament on January 17th.

THE MISSES ALLEN SCHOOL

At the Misses Allen School tonight a musical play will be given in which Eugenia Brownell, Sheila Dana, Frances Garvin and Doris Godman are taking part. A musical program follows with selections on the piano and violin by the Misses Mary Ballard, Elizabeth Giles, Louise Maynard, Ann Reed, Louise Rand, Jean Taber, Faith Whittlesey and Patience Widger, pupils of the school.

TO PRESENT PLAYS

Invitations have been issued for the presentation of plays at the Village Play-ground House, Tyler terrace, on Saturday evening, May 24. The Junior Dramatic Club, a group of forty-five boys and girls under the leadership of Mrs. Everett W. Varney have been working through the spring in training in voice and drama and in all the various dramatics so essential to the success of final presentation of a play. Now at the end of their season they are inviting friends of drama, to witness the plays they have selected and prepared. These are "A Night at an Inn," by Lord Dunsany, a tense one-act play of sinister plot, and "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil," a whimsical English play of charming dialogue. Also the club will give Act I, Scene II, from the "Merchant of Venice" in which Portia and Nerissa discuss the lovers. Rosamond Bigelow will take the part of Portia, Mary Jane Fuller, Nerissa, and Basil Ridgway the servant.

There will be a marionette show given by Bolton Wilder. This young man made the little theatre he will use and fully equipped it with lights—overhead footlights and floods, of various colors. He also made the marionettes which he will manipulate, with an assistant.

There will be a demonstration after the program of the various little theatres made by members of the club. These little theatres serve as a preliminary help to the final production of a play. When a play is decided upon the scenery and lighting problem is given out, the little theatres are set up with the required setting of the design selected by the directors as being suited for the play.

All the scenery to be used on Saturday night was made by the members. The boys who made the various pieces have their names painted on the back of the scenery. These are Elmer Davis, William Gibson, Bolton Wilder, Edward Muther and Fred Hammond.

There is a thrill in creating well anything of beauty—either a sincere interpretation of a character—or the making and painting of a piece of scenery—the many various opportunities to develop the voice—the mind—the hands in this drama laboratory have proved already that young people with their imagination and enthusiasm can achieve unexpected success. The field of the drama club is cultural and educational and the boys and girls like it. Side by side with the work of the schools it develops a vivid appreciation of literature and the beauty of the English language spoken distinctly and musically.

The cast of characters of the "Night in an Inn" include Charles Daniels, John Bishop, John Wheldon, Norman Dow, Edward Muther, Heppner Randolph, Vincent Maloney, William Bittenbender.

The cast of "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil" include: Fred Hammond, Vivian Weed, H. Russell Keller, Jr., Margaret May, Clark Rayner, Edna Mitchell, John Wheldon, Kimball Mitchell, David MacKillop.

CENTRAL SQ.—WALTHAM

"The Vagabond King," starring Dennis King, will be the feature at the Central Square Theatre, Waltham, for the week beginning Sunday, May 25th. The production is the enchanting adaptation on the talking-screen of Rudolph Friml's well-remembered operetta. Playing opposite to Dennis King is Jeanette MacDonald, who recently made her debut on the audible screen with Maurice Chevalier in "The Love Parade."

The songs featured in "The Vagabond King" are "Only a Rose," "Some Day," "Huguet Waltz," "Love Me Tonight" and the famous "Song of the Vagabonds" with a chorus of 500 voices. In the supporting cast is O. P. Haggie, Warner Oland, Arthur Stone and Thomas Ricketts. As an added feature Richard Dix will be seen in "Lovin' the Ladies," a fast moving comedy.

Plant 23,000 Pine Seedlings

As a result of the plans set forth by President Hutchinson at the Nobscot Rally on Friday evening last, at which 700 Scouts and men were present, about 23,000 young white and red pine seedlings have been set out at the Nobscot Reservation, which was mostly burned over on May 4th. These trees were set out by Scouts and Scouters from every Troop in the Council and was done in record time.

Mr. H. O. Cook, State Forester and member of the Troop 15, Auburndale Committee, provided 20,000 5-year-old white pine seedlings on very short notice. Mr. G. H. Crosbie, nature expert, gave the instructions in setting and heeling in the young trees. Mr. Crosbie is the Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 5, Centre.

Scouts Arrive Early

By eight o'clock on Saturday morning last, men and boys began arriving at the Nobscot Reservation, ready to set out trees. Many of them had given up prior engagements of a personal or entertainment nature to devote the day to re-foresting the devastated area of the Nobscot Reservation, totalling about 50 acres. A little later, after instructions by Mr. Crosbie, and armed with spades, shovels, mattocks and palls full of seedlings, they scattered to all parts of the Reservation, each Troop to the area it was requested to re-forest. All day long they worked, with a short time for lunch, and by 6 o'clock, there were but a few hundred trees left out of the total of 24,000 red and white pines which had been heeled in, in long rows by the Ranger, ready for this big day.

It was originally believed that two Saturdays would be required for the work and hence the Camporee planned for Saturday, May 24th, was called off, as the great majority felt that all time possible should be spent in reforesting the Reservation.

"Nobscot Rally" Held Night Before

On Friday evening, May 17, a big rally of all the Scouts and members of the Council was held at the Levi Warren Junior High School, West Newton. This rally was opened with the singing of "America," followed by a brief presentation by the Council President. Then were shown slides of the burned area of the Reservation, followed by slides showing how rapidly evergreen seedlings grow and what could be expected at the Reservation in comparatively few years after setting out young trees. The President spoke of the spirit of Scouting in taking the fire as an opportunity instead of a blow and rising to the occasion. He called upon all those who were ready to work for the future Scouts by re-seeding Nobscot Reservation to rise and say, "I Will"—every Scout and man sprang to his feet and made the pledge in a cry that echoed and re-echoed.

This was followed by the showing of the motion picture "Simba," a picture story of lion-hunting and wild life in Africa.

Further Plans for Nobscot

The Committee on Camps and Camping will meet shortly to formulate additional plans for the Reservation. Setting out of red pines, spruce, cedar and fir will be carried out in the fall. A fire lane of at least fifty feet, absolutely cleared with an additional 50 feet, 25 feet each side of the cleared fifty will doubtless be kept cleared of all underbrush—all to protect the Reservation in its new glory to be from future forest fires, will probably be made.

The Council has been asked repeatedly about insurance on burned buildings. The three were insured for about material cost, following Council policy, as practically all labor was performed by the Scouts. As all buildings were totally destroyed, the full insurance will be paid. The tool shed and garage, formerly an Adirondack type shelter of chestnut logs, is already in process of rebuilding, exactly like the one which was completed just the week before the fire wiped it out.

Still Wild Life in the Reservation

On account of the intensity of the fire, it was feared that the wild life in the Reservation would be killed. However, rabbits, foxes, birds of all kinds, evidently fled to the bird sanctuary which was almost unscathed and were saved. Even the morning after the fire, the burned trees were full of birds of all descriptions, singing their hearts out, probably in thanks giving at having escaped that terrible demon they so feared and which they understand not, except that it brings death to them. As days have passed, more birds have appeared, rabbits are often seen, the foxes are barking once more and the wild life of the Reservation, though its home has been fearfully mutilated, realizing that it is safe for them, have come back to the Reservation.

With the continuing cool and damp and rainy weather, the trees that were scorched have greater chance of coming back once more and the young seedlings have greater opportunity for life. All nature seems to be co-operating to heal the wound. Time will restore the Reservation, with the work that the Scouts and Scouters of the present are doing, to even greater beauty and paradise-likeness, for the Scouts and Scouters of the future.

ANNUAL RECITAL

Friday evening, May 16th, Miss Margaret Reeves presented her pupils in a pianoforte recital at Dal Buell's at the Newton Centre. Through a profusion of yellow snapdragons and lavender lilacs one received the impression of an old-fashioned garden and this effect was enhanced by the dainty, pastel frocks of the little performers.

Among those participating were—Virginia Lichtner, Jane and Betty Hutchinson, Carolyn Newell, Henry and Patricia Smith, Olive Cunningham, Janet McConville, Edith Johnson, Peggy Sullivan, Mary Ormsby, Frances Murphy, Sanchia Thayer, Paul Dussong, Helen Carrier, Priscilla Young, Helen Boyd and Jane Taylor.

One of the outstanding features of the evening was a Mozart Sonata for two pianos played with delicate charm and finesse by Virginia Lichtner, and accompanied on the second piano by Miss Reeves. Virginia is the flaxen-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Lichtner of Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, and shows promise of unusual musical ability.

Another number of particular interest was a group of solos played by Patricia ("Patsy") Smith, the seven-year-old daughter of Professor and Mrs. H. Augustine Smith of Rockledge road, Newton Highlands. This little miss impressed the listeners with her fine poised and splendid sense of rhythm, especially when accompanied with her brother Henry in an intriguing duet.

Little Mary Ormsby completely captivated her audience with her winsome personality and naive performance of "Little Miss Muffet." It is interesting to recall that she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ormsby of Newton Centre, well-known in football circles.

Miss Helen Boyd shared the honors of the evening with her mature interpretation of the Sibelius "Romance" and MacDowell's "To the Sea." A spirited performance of Liszt's "Rokoczy March" for six hands concluded the program. There was a large and appreciative audience, many guests coming from out-of-town to attend the event.

The Mather Class

"The Future of the Church" was the subject of Prof. Kirtley F. Mather's lecture last Sunday morning before the Mather Class at its regular weekly meeting at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

This was the eighth lecture in the series on "The Reconstruction of Religion."

Prof. Mather considered the future of man from the religious point of view, in contrast with the lecture the preceding Sunday on the future of man from the scientific point of view.

The Church is not so essentially a part of man's existence as it once was. In times past the Church answered all the needs of man. It was man's religious, political, and economic authority. The Church once controlled education. Now the State has taken the responsibility of educating the youth of the land. You do not have to go to Church to learn the alphabet and the rudiments of language and science.

The practice of medicine was confined to the Church a long time ago. Physicians were in and of the Church. It is no longer the exclusive guardian of the physical needs of mankind.

Once you had to go to Church to get married, but you do not have to any longer.

At present you can be born, educated, treated in hospitals, woo, wed, be divorced, die, and be buried, and never have any contact with the Church. It is not now recognized as important as it used to be. One of the relationships to the individual have dropped off.

The fact that the Church blazed the trail and set the standards shows the past values of the Church. In some respects the functions taken over by the State are done better because of the larger resources available and because of the feeling that what is fundamentally for the good of all should be paid for by all and this is approximately what happens when the State does it, because everybody contributes in one way or another to the public functions of the Government.

Some people actually imagine that the Church, once preeminent and pre-requisite, is now no longer essential. They expect the dropping off of more and more of the duties of the church until we shall have no more need of the church. They try to be good Christians and live like Jesus and yet have nothing to do with any church organization. They say that no church fits their peculiar needs. The creeds are outworn, or the ritual isn't satisfactory, or something else is the matter. This is not very impressive, because there are so many different kinds of Church organization in the United States. Out of the many hundreds of different sects there should be no great difficulty in meeting anybody's specifications. There are, for instance, seventeen different and distinct kinds of Baptists in the one State of Arkansas alone.

Christianity is different from Church-anity. Any particular Church may not in every detail meet your ideal of all the Christian virtues, but it is much more practicable to reform an institution or organization if you are inside. It is better to work from within than to attack from outside. You can lead people easier than you can drive them.

The Church is a means to an end. So is Christianity. The Kingdom of God is more than a lot of Churches and better than any one of them. When it has been attained here on earth, the end for which the Church stands will have been reached and there may then be no further need of the Church, but that time is a long way off, and only the range of human imagination. In the meantime, no end that we know about is final. No goal is completely attained. Every achievement puts us in a better position for another achievement further on. Suppose we do say that the Church is a means to an end. When we reach that end, there will open up another end to be attained still further off, any so on indefinitely. We are a long way from reaching the first end here in America.

There are two excellent reasons why the Churches will be very necessary for a long time to come. They are:

1. Spiritual.
2. Practical.

The law of biology is that life comes only from life. This is true of both physical and spiritual life. Thus spiritual life comes only from spiritual life. An individual can create spiritual life in others. Jesus did it. We want spiritual life to continue, and it is liable to die off if it is left to individuals. The Church is an eternally existing organization and is therefore useful in keeping the spiritual flame alive. The individual's spiritual strength is refreshed, renewed, and expanded by reason of his cooperation with others. The group somehow has more of a spiritual accumulation than the sum total of all the contributions of all the individuals who make up the group. The association of spiritually minded individuals gives new spiritual energy.

A reasonable variety of denominations is excellent, because different people require different kinds of worship. Beautiful church architecture ministers to the need of some far more than it does to others. Harry Emerson Fosdick's new church is a declaration of the faith of human beings in the reality of spiritual forces.

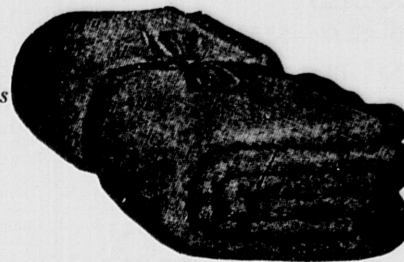

Spiritual life for some is strengthened by music. It is no accident that the long-lived works of great music were designed for religious worship. Ritual helps others, while for another group a coldly intellectual dissection makes the greatest appeal.

The great thing is to conserve and propagate spiritual life. As in the past, so in the future, the Church will grow more and more democratic. The needs of the group will be better ascertained and more and more the attempt will be made to meet those needs.

The second reason for the continuance of the Church is practical. Formerly the emphasis was on the individual, to pluck a brand from the burning. Now we want to put out the fire.

We emphasize the community. We want to transform the world and reform society here and now. The corporate form of the Church is more powerful for this purpose than the individual. Cooperation is necessary. The Interchurch World Movement attacked the evils in one industry and promptly failed for lack of funds. The big men in that industry stopped contributing. They exerted financial pressure. The Federal Council of Churches of Christ has stirred up another industry, with the result that an effort is being made to persuade people to give nothing to any Church that is a member of the Council until that Church withdraws. Again we find pressure applied. The obvious need of the Church requires no further argument. The Council merely investigates conditions and broadcasts information without proposing a program. Individuals do not have the resources or the time to find out things that should be known.

New facts, new truths, new and expanding growth will come from cooperating human beings.

Next Sunday Prof. Mather will speak on "The Responsibility of the Individual", the fifth lecture in the series on "Christianizing the State." GEORGE DEXTER FROST.

ABOUT TOWN

by Edw. H. Powers

New York City is to pass regulations which will make "jay walkers" liable to punishment. From the way we have observed automobiles driven in New York when their drivers get the green signal, any jay walker is apt to get eternal punishment pronto, provided he or she has not led a good life.

One of the features in the Memorial Day parade will be a stage coach of the type used in Colonial days. This coach will be the same vehicle used in the pageant on June 3, 4 and 5 at the Newton Centre playground. Members of the pageant committee will ride in the old vehicle on Memorial Day.

One of the units in the parade will be a detachment of sailors from the Charlestown Navy Yard. Two bands and two drum corps will provide music for the marchers. The parade will form near the corner of Washington street and Jackson road, Newton and will proceed via Washington street to Newtonville, thence along Walnut street to Newton Cemetery, detouring to pass in front of the Governor John A. Andrew Home on Washington Park. Following the memorial exercises at the cemetery the parade will continue Walnut street, Beacon street and Tyler terrace to the Newton Centre Playground.

Those courageous young persons who feel the urge (or surge) to wear "shorts" and pajamas as outdoor garb may be the victims of pre-natal influence. Perhaps they are the children of parents who used to have those disagreeable dreams in which the dreamer imagined himself, or herself promenading around town clad in a nightshirt.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Attention is called to the lecture announced in another column, by Judge Samuel W. Greene, C.S.B., of Chicago. The Christian Science movement has attracted to its ranks prominent men from all the higher professions, and it will be of especial interest to have the subject presented by one from the legal profession. The lecture will be given in the Christian Science Church, Newtonville, Saturday evening, May 31, and in Paramount Theatre, Newton, Sunday at 3:30 p. m.

NEWTON CENTRE SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Association was held in the Mason School Auditorium, May 13, at three o'clock. Mrs. G. A. Ballou called the meeting to order, the president Mrs. Liming being unable to attend. Mrs. H. F. Friedman, Secretary, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, followed by the report of Mrs. W. A. Greeley, Corresponding Secretary. Mrs. B. K. Thorogood gave the Treasurer's report. Very interesting and business-like reports of the following committees were then read:

Hospitality Committee by Mrs. O. A. Booth, Child's Study Group by Mrs. H. R. Keller, Publicity by Mrs. C. W. Lacy, Membership Committee by Mrs. W. H. Macurda, 8th grade assemblies by Mrs. V. P. Maloney, Program Committee by Mrs. J. W. Merrill, Social Committee by Mrs. H. Ohler, and Civic Committee by Mrs. C. Smith.

Mrs. W. L. Bryant reported on the Bowen School, Mrs. L. B. Gould on the Oak Hill School, Mrs. E. H. Parkin on the Rice School, Mrs. M. I. Stone on the Mason School, Mrs. H. M. Stutton on the Ward School, and Mrs. A. L. Fales on the Newton High School. All reports were accepted. Mrs. Ralph McLellan, chairman of Nominating Committee, presented the following ballot:

President, Mrs. M. D. Liming; Vice President, Mrs. C. A. Ballou; Treasurer, Mrs. B. K. Thorogood; Recording Secretary, Mrs. H. F. Friedman; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. A. Greeley; Assistant Treasurer, Miss Ruth H. Burgess.

Council Members to 'Serve three years: Mrs. Harold Marvin, Mrs. Murray Horwood, Mrs. Louis Glaser, Mrs. H. E. Whittemore, Mrs. Lefroy Percy, Mrs. Horace Hall, and Mrs. Loton D. Jennings.

Teachers: Miss Ruth Brewer, Miss Jessie E. West, Miss Mary E. Hart, Miss Estella L. Merrill, and Miss Marion H. Jubb; For Nominating Committee for 1931: Chairman, Mrs. Walter Bryant, Mrs. Harold Woods, Mrs. George Crosby, Mrs. George H. Wight, and Mrs. Carrie F. Jackson.

The secretary cast one vote accepting the ballot.

After all business was completed, Mrs. Harry R. Softel spoke, saying wars are not the result of disputes are inevitable. There is no glory even in victory. Each county loses the best of its young men and young women, and war debts are a heavy burden even to the victor. Teachers and mothers must be internationally minded, so that our children can grow up with that idea.

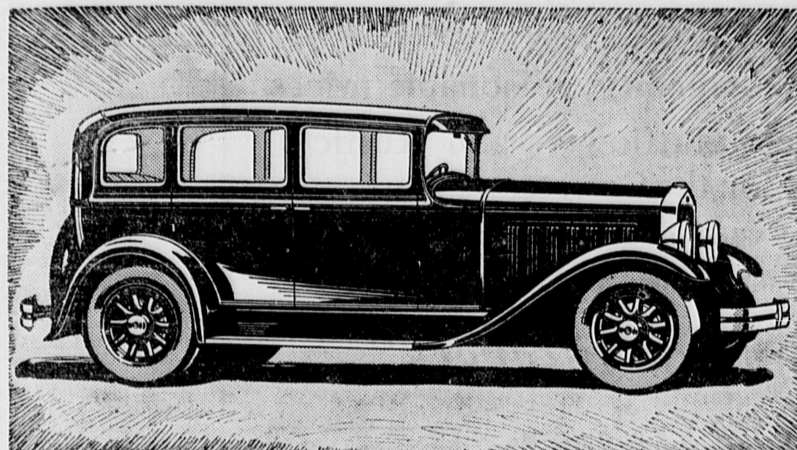

Miss Mabel C. Bragg opened her talk by saying she wished more fathers would join the association, they are needed as well as mothers. One high school teacher is now on the Council which seems to be a step in the right direction. Miss Bragg read several selections from a book called, "Teachers are People." The teachers are not only giving the children facts but teaching them how to use these facts. They endeavor to appreciate the good points in the individual child, trying to create a cheerful attitude for all. There are four important educational points: first, health; second, character; third, changing curriculum; and last, parental education. All are trying to pass on to the boys and girls something better than they had.

Following the meeting refreshments were served.

FINAL REHEARSAL

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

"Over the Pole with Commander Byrd," a motion picture, is the "sure-fire" attraction announced by Miss Mildred E. Manter, Director, for the Sunday program, May 25, at 3:30, at the Children's Museum of Boston. Admission is free.

"Dutch Diamonds," a motion picture telling the story of the diamond industry of Holland, features the program for Saturday, May 24, at 3:00. Admission is free. Miss Donna B. Polant of the Museum staff will give the talk that precedes the picture.

"Who's ahead?" is the cry in the Reading Room these days, for here is posted the list of readers in the Museum League race for points.

To win the pins and diplomas and privileges of Museum League membership, which gives a child a real "belonging" feeling and a real sense of responsibility in the Museum's welfare, boys and girls must play Museum games, read books, do work for the various Museum clubs, attend illustrated talks, etc., for which they receive points. When they have earned the required number of points and have shown themselves qualified to act as guides about the Museum, they are known as "Junior Docents" or "Advanced Junior Docents." In this comparatively small group is found the true spirit of the Museum—self-direction, ownership, lively investigation.

PAGEANT PARAGRAPHS

No. 6 - - By Mrs. Arthur W. Lane
No. 7 - - - By Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr.
No. 8 - - - By Mrs. Harry N. Forte

Editor's Note: The author of this week's article, describing one of the principal features of the Newton Tercentenary Pageant, which will be held June 3rd, 4th, and 5th, on the Newton Centre Playground, is Chairman of the Committee on Costumes.

"While many of the costumes to be worn by characters in the Newton Tercentenary Pageant are being secured from a theatrical costumer, there is particular interest in those which the committee has provided from home sources. The attics and closets of homes in Newton have been combed for material. As a result, more than one actor will appear in garments actually worn in a former day by an ancestor or a neighbor's ancestor. The fact that they have been preserved for generation marks these costumes as treasures, and the rich materials and glowing colors are a delight to the eyes of 1930 when garments, though they may be more practical, are not so spectacular.

"Recently Newton citizens who will appear in the 'Village Green' episode have been trooping to a fine old house in Auburndale, the home of Miss Anne E. Bunker, assistant chairman of the costume committee. In the high, square rooms upstairs they have arrayed themselves in dresses and hats of the 1850 period, with their pinched waists, voluminous skirts, trailing ribbons, and all the unaccustomed gear of bustles and hoop-skirts. The ladies who carried Newton's invitation to Governor Allen last week put on their finery here and descended to a spacious parlor furnished exactly as in the time of Miss Bunker's grandmother, where the austere pieces of early American furniture seemed to glow anew at the appearance of quilted and brocaded skirts, the memory of a quaint past day returned.

"The hats of this period, remarkable for beauty as well as for size, have been the particular charge of Mrs. Robert E. Holmes of Auburndale, another assistant chairman of the costume committee. At her skillful touch the faded relics from the attics have come to life again, rich in plumes and ribbons, brilliant with flowers, gay with frivolous lace and ornaments. Much of the trimming themselves came from boxes and drawers long undisturbed in some one's storage garret.

"Even more notable efforts have been made by the committee to keep this Pageant truly a Newton home-made product. Another assistant chairman, Mrs. Percy E. Woodward, is operating in the basement of her beautiful home at 125 Highland avenue, Newtonville, a complete dyeing establishment, where costumes are brought for transformation to the colors best suited to the picture. Mrs. Woodward, herself an expert in these matters, is supervising the coloring of costumes for the dancers.

"The spectator at the Pageant should feel an added thrill in knowing that the beautiful pictures revealed are not only authentically reproduced from the past, but are also in many details actually part of a by-gone day, the Newton of a century or more ago."

NO. 7

Editor's Note: The author of the accompanying article, which is descriptive of the cost which will perform in the Tercentenary Pageant drama on June 3rd, 4th, and 5th, on the Newton Centre Playground, is chairman of the Cost Committee.

"It takes all kinds of people to make a world, but it takes the right kind of people to make a pageant, the Committee chosen for selecting the cast for the Tercentenary Pageant decided as it started on its duties earlier in the year. We submit to you a few names at this time, so that you may see how possible it has been to secure the right people and know what human interests the Pageant will have for you as you find your neighbors and friends among the 300 members of our cast.

"Our Ex-Mayor, Edwin O. Childs, presides most fittingly over a group of 50 men in the Town Meeting Episode, 1765. Among these men are included, Walter Amesbury, Charles Valentine, George H. Fuller, Everett Greene, Ernest Haggood, Harry Kendall, Ralph C. Henry, Ralph W. King, Dr. Lowe, Everett C. Winslow, Fred Woodward, some of whom are direct descendants of Newton residents of this stirring period. We have also a few of the 1830 Aldermen—E. H. Powers, Norman Pratt, Charles B. Floyd, Silvanus Smith, and James Gallagher, who went to London with our famous Boy Scouts, and who now leads the Indian dancers as the Chief Medicine Man of the tribe. Raymond Lang, the rector of the St. John's Episcopal Church, with his three elders, Dr. DeWitt, Arthur D. Colby, and S. F. Oldfield, preaches in pantomime to the large group of men, women and children in the Indian encampment, and at the end bless the 'First Community of Christian Indians within the English Colonies.'

"The Village Green episode, showing the modes and manners of the town in 1830, is most interesting. There are about 40 young women and matrons in the fetching costumes of the period, and 60 men and boys making up a cross section of the village of that time. You will see the arrival of the stage coach, filled with charming people, the wonderful train bringing its railroad president, Mr. Charles Kelsey, to be feted by the citizens, some of the elegant ladies being: Mrs. George Hatch, Mrs. Francis Newhall, and Mrs. Norman Pratt. At the end President Lincoln (Raymond Green), called a group of men who follow him to war, headed by Sidney Holden.

"The Grandfather's Episode is set in a typical modern home of the present day Newton. The mother, Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton, makes a charming picture with a group of lovely children around her.

"There are many more names we would like to mention but we wish to fill the remaining space with thanks to all those who are taking part in our Pageant and making it a success."

NO. 8

Editor's Note: Dancing presents many of the colorful touches of the Newton Tercentenary Pageant-Drama, which will take place next week—June 3rd, 4th, and 5th, on the Newton Centre Playground. Mrs. Harry N. Forte, author of this article, is Chairman of the Pageant Dance Committee.

"The dances in the Pageant are under the able direction of Lucille Perry Hall, assisted by the Committee on dancing.

"There are over one hundred young ladies participating in the dances, and they have been chosen from all sec-

THE MISSES ALLEN SCHOOL

The Misses Allen School of West Newton held its Graduating Exercises Wednesday. A large number of parents and friends of the Graduating Class were present.

The School Chorus sang several selections, under the guidance of Mrs. Dorothy Fairbanks Baesler. After a short address, reviewing the history of this school year by Miss Lucy Ellis Allen, the principal, Rev. Henry K. Sherrill of Boston gave a most inspiring and helpful address to the eleven seniors who are entering colleges and higher institutions in the fall.

The diplomas were then awarded by Miss Allen to the Misses Polly Ballard of Newtonville, Mary Ballard of West Newton, Eugenia Brownell of Taunton, Janet Brown of Auburndale, Edith Chandler of Waban, Sheila Dana of Brookline, Doris Goldman of Worcester, Virginia Hanson of Waban, Elizabeth Keith of Boston, Janet Knight of Wellesley Hills, and Pauline Schangale of Wellesley Hills.

After singing the two School Songs, written by alumnae, reception was held by Miss Allen for the seniors and Dr. Sherrill, after which a social hour was enjoyed.

Building Collapses At Newton Corner

Two Men Have Narrow Escapes From Being Buried Alive

The old brick building at the rear of 49 Elmwood street, Newton collapsed Monday afternoon about 2:30 and two men who were working on the second floor of the structure narrowly escaped being buried in the mass of debris and automobiles. The structure was built about 60 years ago by the late George W. Bush and was used for many years as a livery stable. In recent years it has been used for automotive purposes. It was owned by the Estabrook estate which also owned the Elmwood Street Garage. J. R. Estabrook of Arlington is manager of the garage. On either side of the structure are two brick veneer buildings, formerly used as parts of the Bush Livery Stables.

The first floor of the building was used until recently by the American Steam Automobile Company. This company moved out several weeks ago and subsequently trucks were garaged in the old building. A couple of weeks ago one of these heavy trucks broke through the floor. As a result, alteration work was started on the building. No permit for this work was obtained from the Public Buildings Department of Newton, which was unaware of this work. Monday afternoon as a man named Brown was working on a car on the second floor of the building, the car started to roll toward the rear of the structure. At the same time an ominous rumbling started. Brown's agility of mind and action saved his life. He rushed for a large sliding door which opened onto a ramp between the doomed building and an adjoining structure. Fortunately for Brown, this door, which had been closed, slid open as the building sagged and he made his escape as the floor dropped from under him. Another man named Hall was also working on the second floor of the building. He rushed to the front of the building, which fortunately did not collapse, and clambered out a window where he hung until the dust cloud settled. Then he escaped through a side window onto the ramp.

As the rear of the building collapsed five automobiles which were being serviced, fell into the cellar amidst the debris. Two were the property of the Anderson-Cadillac Company and others were owned by Newton Turner. The rear wall of the building bulged dangerously in the direction of the Boston & Albany tracks and a flagman was soon on the scene to slow down passing trains. Buildings Commissioner Chadwick came to the place and made a preliminary investigation. Tuesday and Wednesday inspectors of the Public Buildings Department and Police Inspector Patrick King made an investigation of the circumstances leading up to the collapse. They find that because of the alteration work on the building, the lateral support of the structure in the rear part was weakened, causing it to fall down.

FOURTH ANNUAL C. C. C. PLAY

The 4th annual C. C. C. play will be presented at Central Church, Newtonville on Saturday evening, June 7th at 8 p. m. The play chosen this year is entitled "Her Step-Husband," a comedy in three acts by Harry E. Johnson.

A most amusing situation develops when the charming young wife becomes involved in numerous domestic difficulties in her futile attempt to "keep up with the Joneses." The cast of characters includes the clever "Mariana," a real star in the Newton field of drama and Henry Bates, her "husband," is well-known to Newton audiences, not to forget Edith Horton adorable in any role she selects. As for the others, we find the stalwart "Arnold," Charlie Meach as the ex-mayor, Dr. Cecil Clark, Judith Andrews, Eleanor Bilster and Carol Comer, a sister satellite.

The work of the C. C. C. has been carried on again this year under the able leadership of Mrs. Francis J. Flagg, who is coaching the play, generously assisted by Mrs. Percy E. Woodward and Miss Estelle Marsh, two of Newton's "hand-picked" citizens.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI

The Alumni Association of the Newton High School will hold its annual meeting next Thursday evening with a reunion and banquet in the old drill shed on the High School grounds at 6 o'clock.

After the meeting and entertainment, arrangements have been made to attend the Tercentenary pageant on the Newton Centre Playground where a section has been reserved for the alumni.

Maynard Hutchinson is president, A. P. Carter and A. H. Stafford are vice president, C. R. Cabot is treasurer and Miss E. L. Cox, secretary.

Memorial Day--Tercentenary Parade Plans Completed

To Start At Newton Corner Fire Station--Will Be Largest In City's History

A five months' celebration of the 300th Anniversary of the founding of Newton will begin this week with the march on Friday, of more than 5,000 men and women in the largest, most colorful Memorial Day Parade in the city's history.

Soldiers from the Harbor forts, sailors from the Charlestown Navy Yard, and a troop of cavalry will augment the military companies of the Grand Army of the Republic, Sons of Veterans, Daughters of Veterans, American Legion and Spanish War Veterans who will honor the memory of the dead heroes of the Civil War. Music will be a feature of the long line. Seven bands will take part, including the famous Weymouth Post, American Legion band of Weymouth, the DeMolay Band of Newton and the Cecil Fogg Post, American Legion Band of Boston.

Twenty fraternal organizations and service clubs will also take part, including the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, seven lodges of Odd Fellows, 500 Boy Scouts, Masonic Lodges, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters, St. Jean Baptiste and other French societies, and St. Nicholas Society, Umberto Lodge, and other Italian organizations.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks, Chief Marshal, with Wilfred A. Wetherbee, Chief of Staff, and Edmund T. Dungan, Assistant General, will head the line of march. Prominent citizens and members of the city government will comprise the Mayor's staff. Civilian members of the staff will wear formal dress and military members will march in service uniforms. A detail of police, made up entirely of war veterans will escort the staff.

The units will assemble at 1:30 p. m. in side streets off Washington street in the Newton Corner section of the city, the head of the line forming at the Newton Fire Station at Centre avenue and Washington street. The line will move promptly at 1:45 p. m. and march west in Washington street to Newtonville, the various units falling into line as the head passes the several points of assembly. At Walnut street in Newtonville the parade will turn south and will then march over the following route:—To Washington Park, to Park Place, to Cabot street, to Walnut, to Newton cemetery.

Memorial services will be held by Charles Ward Post at the Soldiers' Monument in the cemetery, and will be participated in by veteran organizations only, after which the column will march in the same order through Walnut street to Beacon, to Centre, to Tyler terrace, to the Newton Centre Playground, where the column will be reviewed by the Chief Marshal and the Chairman of the Newton Tercentenary Committee. Refreshments will be served to all organizations participating in parade.

One of the most picturesque ceremonies of the observance this year will take place at 4:00 p. m. on Newton Centre Common, at the Flag Pole in front of the Mason School. There will be drawn up a platoon of "Colonial Soldiers" in the quaint military dress of 1776, on the site of the ancient muster field and with brief commemorative exercises. Mayor Sinclair Weeks will place a wreath at the base of the monument there.

The next great event of the Tercentenary year will take place on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights next week—the Pageant-Drama, "Newton—The City Beautiful". This elaborate event, on which the city has expended $15,000 will be staged in a natural amphitheatre on the Newton Centre Playground, weather permitting. Performances will begin promptly at 9:00 o'clock in the evening.

More than 400 men, women and children will have parts in the pageant dante. Nearly 3000 persons will be accommodated each performance. Seats are on sale for 50c and $1.00 in all branches of the Newton Trust Company and in the First National Bank of West Newton. Free seats may be obtained by application to Mr. Ernst Hermann, General Director of the Pageant at City Hall.

The other events of the Tercentenary Celebration in the order they will take place are as follows:

June 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th. Art Exhibit, Newton Centre Women's Club House.

June 14th. City Tennis Championship, for both men and women.

June 21st. Track and Field Meet at Newton Y. M. C. A. track, 3 o'clock.

July. City Golf Championship. A handicap event to be played over four city courses. Finals at Brae Burn.

July 12. Swimming Meet. At Crystal Lake in conjunction with the opening of the city bathing house.

August 18th. Playground Meet. For boys and girls of Grammar Schools. At Newton Centre Playground.

September. City Baseball Championship. To be awarded to the winner of the Newton Twilight League.

October 15th to 25th. City Squash Championship.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

All Gold Star Mothers in Newton are invited to participate in the Memorial Day Parade, as guests of the Auxiliary to Newton Post 48, American Legion, according to an announcement by Mrs. Agnes Henriks, President of the Auxiliary.

The mothers will be transported over the route of march in automobiles and arrangements will be made to seat them if they will communicate with Mrs. Henriks at Centre Newton 1491.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETS

The School Committee held a regular meeting Monday night. Among the matters acted upon was that of placing "No Trespassing" signs on the athletic ground at the Newton High School. Principal Irving Palmer of the High School had complained that children have been damaging the girl's field by playing golf on it. Boys have been intruding on the baseball diamond, damaging it by playing scrub games there. Grown-up persons have been making paths across the school grounds using them as short-cuts from the Lowell avenue section.

The committee voted to have the school vacation next year from April 17 to April 27. This will prevent the losing of an extra day on April 19, as would have resulted had the spring vacation been held as originally scheduled from April 24 to May 4. Schools will open September 8 for the 1930-1931 year, and will close June 19, 1931.

ALDERMEN APPROPRIATE $634,000 FOR NEW SCHOOL

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held Wednesday night for the purpose of authorizing an issue of school bonds to the amount of $650,000 and to make an appropriation of $634,000 for the construction of the new junior high school at Newton Centre. All members of the Board were present at City Hall except Aldermen Bail, Holden and Murray. The latter has been confined to his home with a torn leg ligament.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON WINS FROM EVERETT

Playing its best game of the 1930 season the Newton high baseball team scored a 6 to 3 victory over the Everett high school team in a Suburban league game at Everett last Saturday. The victory was the second league win for the orange and black which seems to have begun a long delayed hitting streak. The defeat of Everett brought that team down to a cellar tie with Newton in the league standing. In other league games Friday and Saturday other surprises were handed out. On Friday the Cambridge Latin nine took Brookline over the jumps 6 to 4 to drop the Wealthy Towners out of a first place tie with Rindge. The shock was evidently too great for Rindge as in their game on Saturday with Somerville they weakened in a ten-inning battle to give Somerville the verdict, 7 to 6, and bring about another first place tie with Brookline, while both Somerville and Cambridge Latin were right at their heels in a tie for third place.

Tom Rhodes was on the mound for Newton at Everett and pitched a good game all the way, fanning six and passing but two. The Everett batters could not solve Rhodes and made but six hits. Newton began to hit Dewey Vaca, Everett's highly-rated southpaw pitcher, from the start and he eventually gave way to Shea. Colby led the Newton attack with a triple and two singles while Elrod poled two nice hits and Barry a triple as part of the orange and black's nine safeties.

Newton scored two runs in the second and four in the fifth while Colby's runs came in the third. The Everett runs came on a triple to score a runner from first followed by a couple of Newton errors.

In the second Newton took the lead with Colby's triple to right, the feature of the inning. Colby later scored himself. Everett then took the lead in the last of the third.

The fifth inning opened with Barry's triple to left and the count was tied when Elrod brought him home on a sacrifice fly. Then the barrage of hits started. Colby singled and stole second. The next batter scored him with a single and took second on the throw home. Three times in succession the same situation occurred with the Everett outfielders trying in vain to cut the runners down at the plate while the batters moved to second.

In the field the local players made some nifty plays to stop Everett rallies in their infancy. Litchfield saved some runs by going up in the air to spear a liner over his head with runners on second and third and two out.

Elrod made a remarkable one-hand shoestring catch of a Texas leaguer to centre field with two runners on base and two out. He made two other nice catches that saved Rhodes much trouble. Barry did some fast work in the ninth with an Everett runner on first. The next batter hit a Texas leaguer to left field and Barry came in for it but could not reach it. The base-runner held back waiting to see if Barry would make the catch and then headed for second. Barry scooped the ball up and by a fast throw to second forced the runner.

Coach Sullivan shook up his line-up with good results. The batting order was substantially the same as in recent games but the players took the field in new positions.

Doucette played shortstop. Colby came in from the field to play second base and Litchfield came in from right field to play third base. Butler remained in the first and Elrod in center field. Left field was filled by Barry, while McCarthy started his first game by playing in right field.

SPORT NOTES

Kelley in First Pro Bout

Charley Kelley, Newton boxer, made his professional debut Monday night in the bouts in Mechanics Building. His opponent was Welter Arcelli of Italy in a six round match. Kelley lost the decision in the bout which brought the foremost welterweights of America and Europe together. Kelley recently won the national amateur title while the Italian was rated the best of his weight in Europe. Arcelli was on the verge of a knockout in the second from Kelley's rights to the jaw and in the sixth was staggered from a right to the chin. During the rest of the bout Arcelli had the better of the match, his sweeping left to the body being his best offensive.

Newton Ping-Pong Winner

The Newton Ping-Pong Club defeated the Winchester Ping-Pong Club 7 to 0, Monday evening in a tournament conducted by the American Ping-Pong Association at the Woodland Golf Club. The feature match was between the number one players of each team. Captain Carl Treat of Newton and C. F. Eberle of Winchester. The summary: C. Treat defeated C. Eberle, 21-16, 21-18; A. Sawtelle defeated M. Leatherman, 21-6, 21-6; John Mathers defeated L. Smith, 21-14, 21-11; Hayden defeated Henderson, 21-11, 21-15; H. London defeated M. Morton, 21-14, 21-17; Treat and London defeated Smith and Leatherman, 21-15, 21-15; Sawtelle and Mathers defeated Eberle and Anderson, 21-12, 21-15.

Managing Bankers Team

Scores for Freshmen

Hamilton Kollmyer of the Harvard freshman track team, a former Newton high and Exeter academy runner, scored eight points for the Crimson yearlings in the annual meet with the Yale first-year men last Saturday on the Harvard stadium track. Kollmyer won the 440-yard run in 49 4/5 sec. and took second to Wright of Yale in the 220-yard low hurdles.

NEWTON LOSES TO CAMBRIDGE LATIN

Cambridge Latin drew up into a second place tie with Brookline Wednesday in the Suburban league by defeating Newton, 4 to 1, in a seven-inning game at Clafin Field. A downpour of rain interrupted the game in the seventh and the play was not resumed. The Cantabs scored four runs in the first inning on a little loose playing by the Newton team and although the orange and black tried hard to overcome the handicap they could not solve the delivery of "Mugsy" Kelley, Cambridge southpaw pitcher. Tom Rhodes, Newton southpaw, allowed nine hits. Casey and Sullivan singled to centre to start the game off and both scored on Laronde's and Conlon's fielder's choices. Lekakakas fanned but Sheehan singled to left to score the two baserunners and the four runs were in. The visitors got a man on base after two outs when Elrod singled but Rhodes was never in much trouble again as his teammates supported him excellently.

With one down in the first Elrod singled to centre but was left as Colby and Litchfield grounded out. In the second Hildreth got on by an error and after Butler fanned McCarthy drew a pass but both were left stranded. In the third Newton went down in order. Newton's lone tally came in the fourth. Litchfield led off with a solid single to left. Hildreth followed with a similar poke. Butler tried to sacrifice and the ball bounded up into his face for the first out. Reardon, Cambridge catcher, tried to catch Litchfield napping off second and threw to centrefield, both runners moving up. Litchfield scored on McCarthy's sacrifice fly to right. In the fifth Doucette beat out an infield hit but Elrod popped a but into the pitcher's hands and Doucette was doubled at first. In the sixth it was out in order.

Rindge Tech maintained its hold on first place in the league standing by shutting out Everett, 4 to 0, and Brookline dropped out of a tie for first with Rindge into a tie for second with Cambridge Latin and Somerville when the latter took the verdict in the other league game by a 9 to 2 count. Saturday's games will probably have a distinct bearing on the title race. Rindge now leads with a record of five victories in seven starts while Brookline, Cambridge Latin and Somerville are right on their heels with a four-three rating. Newton and Everett are tied for the cellar berth with two victories and five defeats each. Should Newton defeat Brookline at Clafin Field tomorrow the Wealthy Towners last hopes would be about gone. Newton will be battling to get out of the cellar and unless Brookline shows a reversal of form over their past two games the Newton victory is quite possible. Somerville will do its best to top Everett as it can tie for first should Rindge lose to Cambridge Latin. A Somerville victory will also keep the Dickerman team in the race. The feature game of the day should be between Cambridge Latin and Rindge Tech. Captain John Casey on the mound for the Cantabs and Tony Sarasky twirling for Rindge. A Cantab victory would bring about a first place tie between that team and Rindge. The standing to date is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Rindge Tech	5	2	.714
Brookline	4	3	.571
Camb. Latin	4	3	.571
Somerville	4	3	.571
NEWTON	2	5	.286
Everett	2	5	.286

SPORT NOTES

Wentworth Nosed Out

Wentworth Institute, with Spencer deMille in the box, was nosed out by Huntington school, 5 to 4, last Friday in an exciting game. The former Newton high all-scholastic first-baseman was touched for nine hits, including one triple, passing and fanning eight. A four-run rally in the seventh was deMille's undoing.

Country Day Wins

Country Day School defeated Belmont Hill last Friday at Cabot Field, 8 to 6. Merrill, Belmont Hill pitcher, was driven from the box early in the game. He went to right field and later came back to pitch again, striking out eleven batters. White went the other way for Country Day and allowed eleven hits, passed six, and fanned five. The Newton team, led at bat by Gleason and Brickley, scored six of its eight runs in the first four innings and was never headed.

Loses Title

Miss Virginia Rice, former Newton Centre girl and her doubles partner, J. Brooks Fenno, in the Massachusetts State championship mixed doubles tournament lost the title they won in 1929 to Miss Marjorie Morrill and Harris Coggeshall in the final round of that event last Saturday at the Brookline Country Club.

Newton Y Loses

The Newton Y baseball team lost a one-sided game to the University Club on the local field last Saturday, 5 to 24. The visitors pounded Nixon and Hinchey for twenty hits while the Newton team could get but five safeties off the deliveries of McKelvie.

Wins Place At Maynard

Several local athletes entered the races and field events at Maynard last Sunday in a set of games under the management of the Kanto A. C. and the Knights of Kaleva of Maynard. James Colligen of the Newton high track team was third in the 16 lb. shotput with a heave of 35 ft. 1 1/4 in. Julius Ober, former Newton high athlete now running for the B. A. A., placed second in the 8-mile cross-country run which was won by Russell Jellison, another B. A. A. man. Ober's time was 17 min. 36 sec., about ten seconds behind the winner.

NEWTON NET TEAM WINS TITLE AGAIN

The Newton high tennis team captured team honors for the second consecutive year in the third annual interscholastic tournament at Longwood last Saturday under Newton high auspices. The early round matches were played at the Longwood courts and after lunch, which was served at the Newton high school, the players took the Newton high courts. Play was not completed Saturday and the rain of the early part of the week has held up the final matches. Newton was assured of team honors by scoring nineteen points in the first four rounds. Four Newton players reached the semi-finals with Edwin Murphy of Milton the only outside player to gain this distinction. Captain Francis Chase of West Newton was the only seeded player to reach the semi-finals. He will meet Murphy in the first semi-final. Richard Dunnell will play Charles Hall, captain of the Newton track team in a quarter-final match to determine who is to meet Winston Sharp, the fourth Newton player, in the other semi-final.

A record number of entries participated in the tournament, seventeen schools being represented. Winchester high scored ten points for second place, Arlington, Everett and Malden tied for third while Attleboro, Milton and Fitchburg with four points each are tied for sixth. Lynn Classical and Brookline tied for the next position while Winthrop and Cambridge Latin wind up the list of point scorers with two points each. Only four schools failed to score points.

Captain Chase had little difficulty reaching the semi-final bracket without the loss of a set. He defeated Gallagher of Milton, Atwater of Natick, Gass of Lynn Classical and Thomas of Arlington in order. Dunnell also went through the first four rounds without the loss of a set. He disposed of Dore of Cambridge Latin, Bears of Attleboro, Ingalls of Winthrop and Waters of Winchester. The latter was the number one seeded player and Dunnell won credit for his 6-2, 6-2, straight set victory. Hall lost but one set in his march towards the quarterfinal bracket. He conquered Wieburn of the Winchester second team, Simpson of Wakefield, his teammate Walter Billings, and Holt of Attleboro. The latter took the first set away from the Newton runner but Hall came back to win, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2. His hardest set was with Walter Billings with Hall finally winning, 10-8, 6-2. Billings had previously put out Lipman of Lynn Classical and Fellows of Fitchburg. Winston Sharp had the easiest road to follow. His first opponent defaulted and he drew a bye to reach the third round without a loss. He then met Bentley of Attleboro to whom he lost the first set and then came back to eliminate. He then met Cavanaugh of Everett and after losing the first set at love took the next two at 6-4 each to gain another bye to the semi-finals. Oscar Jarrell, the other Newton player entered in the tourney won from Liebman of Brookline in straight sets and then lost to Murphy of Milton, who subsequently gained the semi-finals.

PARAMOUNT—NEWTON

Beginning Sunday, June 1st, the main feature for the first four days will be George Bancroft the mighty thriller in "Ladies Love Brutes"—it is a story of a building contractor who has risen from the ranks and who has amassed a fortune. He decides to become a force in the social life of New York so that he may make even greater successes in his role of the "Skyscraper King" accordingly he has himself introduced to a beautiful young society matron.

He falls in love with her when he learns that she is soon to divorce her erring husband. "Ladies Love Brutes" is based on a successful stage play "Pardon My Glove" written by Zoe Akins. It was directed by the man who directed Dr. Fu Manchu and "Wolf of Wall Street" the co-feature is that laugh provoking comedy "Men Are Like That" taken from the stage play "The Show-off" with Hal Skelly as the "Kid from West Philly"—the true life comedy-drama of the American Home so thoroughly human that it touches every heart and is an ideal vehicle for Hal Skelly. For the last half of the week, Zane Gray's spectacular outdoor action romance featuring Richard Arlen and Mary Brian the romantic lovers of the screen. Harry Green who made such a success in "The Kibitzer" is seen in another comedy role which is convulsing. As a cowboy Harry is funnier than ever. A gigantic stampede of wild horses is the chief spectacle of the production. The co-feature on the bill is "The Furies." It is true this is a mystery picture, but it is a finely constructed drama. You will see a mother's great fight to hold the love of her son—a boy who thought her a murderer. As tense as any drama you have ever seen—she had to choose between him and the man she loved.

For the children Saturday afternoon a new serial is started entitled "The Fire Detective." Toys are also given children at the matinee.

Undeclared Season

The Harvard tennis team ended its season undefeated last Saturday when a 7 to 2 victory was scored over the Yale tennis team. The feature match of the afternoon was between Malcolm Hill of Waban and Harvard and Frank Luce of Dorchester and Yale. Hill was the victor in a three-set battle, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2. In doubles Hill teamed with Daggett to beat Luce and Ryan of the Eli's, 6-2, 6-4.

Bad Break for McCrudden

Jimmie McCrudden of Newtonville, former Newton high track captain now running for Northeastern University, had one of the toughest breaks in luck last week Friday that could happen to any athlete. It happened in the trials of the half-mile run at the New England Intercollegiate meet at Tech field. This time John O'Brien of Boston College pulled a tendon as the runners were battling down the home stretch. He fell and McCrudden fell over him to prevent the local youth from qualifying for the finals. As it turned out Maine won the N. E. title by a two and a half point margin over the Huskies and if McCrudden had been entered in the half-mile he would have had an excellent chance of taking second place for three points, just enough to bring the title to Northeastern.

By L. D. G. Bentley

Here we are on the threshold of June. The month of roses and of other things. The month in which there will come.

Days when we wish we had the heater going.

Days when it will be so hot outdoors we'll almost wilt.

Days when we see graduates of all ages do their stuff.

Days when we'll complain of the money we are obliged to put into wedding presents.

Days when there will be showers when they are not wanted, and days when showers will not come when they are wanted.

Days when we find the garden is growing beautifully and we suddenly decide to abandon it and go away for the rest of the Summer.

Days when we talk about the things we will do "after the Fourth".

Days when week-end invitations are so numerous you don't know which to accept.

Days when we may show our patriotism—Flag Day, Saturday, the Fourteenth and Bunker Hill Day, Tuesday the Seventeenth.

Days when we will ask each other "What is so rare as a day in June?" and mean it.

There is always a penalty for taking things for granted. I mean by that the penalty is there, although it may not always be exacted. Of course if we are too cagey about certain things we may regret a lost opportunity when we find things were O. K. all the time and we might well have taken a chance. Caution, however, is pretty safe business and it is just as well to avoid the risk. The thing that looks surest is sometimes not so good.

All this would never have occurred to me so forcibly had I not observed a recent incident. It was another of those "it happened in Newton" cases and therefore all the more interesting to us. It is too bad that it must remain anonymous, but were I disclose names—or the name that I actually know—I fear there would be no column next week. That might not be so terrible perhaps, but the reason for my failure to produce one would be such as to cause me pain, I am certain.

The Newton young woman, heroine of this little story, is something of a tennis player. Not only are her friends convinced of that fact, but she herself has profound knowledge of its truth. I mean, as you may have suspected, that she thinks herself a marvelous player and one of the best tennis amateurs around this neck of the woods.

It isn't to be wondered at that her fiancé is a tennis player, too. He may be a better one than she, but I am sure he is discreet enough not to let her know it. If he did she wouldn't be so eager to play with him—in fact she wouldn't have him on the courts at all.

It so happened they had an appointment for Saturday afternoon. He was to leave the office early, pick her up at her home, etc. Well, everything was fine and dandy until some company arrived unexpectedly at the young woman's home which made it imperative that she cancel the appointment.

The young woman immediately telephoned to her fiancé to notify him that the game was off. It was reasonable to suppose that he would answer his own telephone. When the call was answered by a man's voice, the young woman cut out all preliminaries and instead of saying, "Is that you, Jack?", she took it for granted that he was on the end of the line.

Plunging immediately into the business in hand she said, "I can't play tennis today."

"What?" came the man's voice.

"I can't play tennis today."

"You can't play any day, but don't tell the whole world about it," at last he was made to look in a couple of days as if I had worn it a month.

Changes in the ranking officers of our police department, brought about by the retirement of experienced officers who have reached the age limit and the promotion of others, gives us a chance to do a lot of things to increase efficiency. I mean that this is an appropriate time to make our police force one that is fully adequate to take care of a city of more than 60,000 population. We're getting in the big city class and that necessitates considerations that have been previously overlooked.

Of course you've often seen pictures showing the natives of some foreign country carrying on their heads vessels containing water. Some are smiling under their load, which seems perfectly balanced. Others are apparently burdened and not any too well pleased with their tasks. At any rate they make an odd sight. Now then, try and recall the most amusing of these you have gazed upon and you will see how I imagined that I appeared when I put on my new straw hat the other day.

Everything is now quite satisfactory but for 24 hours or more I couldn't quite get readjusted to my Summer headgear. By the way, I wear one of those so-called sailors and it isn't as soft as my regular felt hat. I suppose there's something in being used to a helmet. A felt one you can pull this way and that and the twisted shape will be put down as some new style of wearing it. You've noticed how in the past decade or so men's felt hats are usually maltreated before placed on one's head. At least they don't look anything like they did when they came out of the hat store. One side is up and the other down, or the front is turned down or something. It's different and it's said to be very snappy.

I have to tell all this to show how difficult it was for me to grab a stiff straw and carry my head as I had been doing for the past six months. The first thing I did was to try and yank the hat down in front. It came off and slipped out of my hand. If I hadn't acted quickly it would have rolled under a passing automobile. The tumble didn't do it any good. But I wasn't to blame, I just forgot that I hadn't my old felt on.

Then when I dropped into a window seat in the trolley car my wits were wool-gathering and I banged the nice new straw against the glass and knocked off a couple of chips from the

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The second Annual Flower Show of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands was held at the Workshop on Wednesday, May 21st, from 11 a. m. until 9 p. m. An abundance of sunshine through the windows, together with the choice Turkish rugs loaned by Mr. G. Harry Adalian, as floor coverings, furnished an atmosphere very favorable to the occasion. Over seventy entries were recorded for the entire show.

The classes of exhibits and prize winners were as follows:
Class I. Artistic flower arrangement: 1st, Miss Ruth Wilkie, iris, tulips and spirea; 2nd, Mrs. F. J. Elliott, lilies of the valley and bleeding heart; 3rd, Mrs. F. R. Hayward, tulips, and Honorable mention, Mrs. A. H. Elder and Mrs. Robert E. Clark.

Class II. Spring flowers grown by exhibitor: 1st, Miss Marion Morse, French lilacs, Ludwig Spaeth; 2nd, Mrs. S. R. Jones, bronze tulips and foliage; 3rd, Mrs. F. R. Hayward, Darwin and Breeder tulips; and Honorable mention, Mrs. Earl Manning.

Class III. Luncheon tables: 1st, Mrs. A. G. Caldwell; 2nd, Mrs. W. H. Stetson; 3rd, Mrs. E. F. Haberstroh; and Honorable mention, Mrs. Donald McKay and Mrs. E. B. MacClanahan.

Class IV. Breakfast trays: 1st, Mrs. Ward I. Cornell; 2nd, Mrs. Donald McKay; and 3rd, Mrs. Cooper.

Class V. Window arrangement: 1st, Mrs. G. Harry Adalian; 2nd, Mrs. A. G. Caldwell; 3rd, Mrs. Ward I. Cornell; and 4th, Mrs. Geo. B. King.

Class VI. Flower arrangement by children under sixteen years of age: 1st, Sarah Godsoe; 2nd, Paul Duso; 3rd, and Honorable mention, Miss Estelle Smith.

The winner of the first prize in Class I received a pretty garden basket complete with tools and equipment for any phase of garden work. This was a gift of the Club.

Everhard and Herman Krosschell presented one ten-dollar and two five-dollar prizes for Class II, to be awarded in spring flowering bulbs, tulips, narcissi and hyacinths, selection to be made by the winner.

The Art committee of the Club offered to the winner of Class III a crystal vase of rare design from Carbone's, and Mrs. A. G. Caldwell was the recipient.

Mrs. Ward I. Cornell captured the first prize in Class IV, a five dollar garden book, selection as desired.

The window arrangement, Class V, planned by Mrs. G. Harry Adalian, won a copy of "Garden Making and Keeping," by Hugh Findlay, presented by Miss Mabel A. Singleton, librarian of the Newton Highlands Library.

Miss Sarah Godsoe, winner in Class VI, received a book on Amateur Gardening, donated by Mrs. Ward I. Cornell, former president.

Plans for another show a year hence are already under consideration, with still different features than any previously introduced. The Conservation and Garden Unit of the Club, numbering about fifteen members, will sponsor this interesting program.

State Federation

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETINGS. Announcement is made with interest that the first Thursday monthly meetings of the Executive Board, Department Divisions and Club Institutes of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, over which Mrs. C. Schrader will preside as president, from October to May inclusive, will be held in the new Y. W. C. A. building, 180 Clarendon street, Boston.

The change from the Vendome, which the Clubwomen of the state have known as "home" for many years past, is made because of the need for larger quarters. Seven rooms will be given over for group meetings, and Club Institutes will have ample room for its fast-growing audience in the auditorium which seats 600. The final Board Meeting of the current season was called for Wednesday, May 28th, at 1 p. m., at Federation Headquarters, 687 Boylston street, Boston, preceded by a meeting of Division chairmen with the State president, at 11 o'clock.

COMMITTEE ADVISERS. Recent appointment of the advisers to direct the activities of the State Federation for the coming year brings out a rearrangement of the listing of committees, in conformity with the General Federation. Departments will hereafter signify the general grouping, with sub-committees known as divisions. For instance, it will be the Department of Fine Arts, heading up the Division of Art, Music and Literature. Advisory chairmen appointed are: American Citizenship, Mrs. Heman A. Harding; American Home, Mrs. Charles L. Fuller; Education, Mrs. John H. Kimball; Fine Arts, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee; International Relations, Mrs. Azel A. Packard; Legislation, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr.; Press and Publicity, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth; Public Welfare, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader; Club Institutes, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, who will also serve as chairman; Junior Membership, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr.; and Special Committees, Mrs. Frederick S. Davis. Mrs. Harding will be chairman of Federation Extension, Mrs. Bennett of Finance and Mrs. Kimball of Headquarters, as well as official representative to the New England Council.

MEETINGS. Federation meetings for the coming season are announced as follows: Autumn Meeting, celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Worcester Woman's Club, of which Mrs. A. Wilson Atwood is president, in Worcester, October 28th, 1930; Mid-winter Meeting with West Roxbury Woman's Club, of which Mrs. W. O. B. Little is president, at Hotel Statler, Boston, opening on the evening of January 21st 1931, with regular sessions on January 22nd; Annual Meeting, May 19th, 20th and 21st, 1931, at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. The innovation planned for the Mid-winter Meeting with preliminary banquet and guest speakers the evening before, will appeal to many who appreciate the usually crowded sessions of this meeting.

LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCES scheduled to date include one of special interest to Newton. The Twelfth District is the guest of the Newton Community Club on December 11th.

NEW ENGLAND CONFERENCE. It is expected that Massachusetts will send a large delegation to the New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs, September 8th, 9th, and 10th, at the New Griswold, Eastern Point, New London, Connecticut. A block of 25 rooms has been engaged and those wishing to attend are requested to communicate with Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, 47 Terrace avenue, Newton Highlands, as soon as possible. Official delegates will include Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Walker, Mrs. John H. Kimball, Mrs. Heman A. Harding, Mrs. Charles L. Fuller and Mrs. Frederick S. Davis.

BIENNIAL. "On to Denver" and the Biennial of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, June 5 to 14, is the interest of the moment in Club circles. Close upon the wave of enthusiasm which attended the State Meeting at Swampscott many more reservations have been filed with Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett, Transportation chairman, making a total of at least 70 delegates. Distinguished leaders in the party which will leave Boston Monday, June 2nd, at 3:15 p. m., Standard Time, include Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, Mrs. Arthur Devons Potter, Mrs. Azel A. Packard, Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, Mrs. Charles L. Fuller, Mrs. Walter T. Spencer, and Mrs. Frederick M. Prescott.

For the Baby all varieties of Infant's Shirts, Bands, Panties, Towels, Wash Cloths, Crib Sheets, Hosiery and Socks. Sleeping gowns for the children; everything in underwear, Union Suits, Shirts, Pants, Waists, Sun Suits, Slipons and Pajamas; Quality with real savings at the Factory Store of The Thomas Dalby Company at Morse Street.—Advertisement.

TERCENTENARY NEWS

The Woodward House on Woodward street, Waban, will be opened to visitors on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 2, 3 and 4, from 2 until 5 p. m. This house is two hundred fifty years old, during all of which time it has been owned and occupied by a member of the Woodward family. The Tercentenary Committee hopes that other old Newton houses may be opened to visitors during the first week in June.

Have you an old patch-work quilt, a daguerrotype, an old bedspread or old books? If so, and you will loan them or any other old and interesting articles, call Mrs. Freethy, Centre Newton 2236-W. She is the Chairman of the Art Exhibit to be held in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House during the Tercentenary celebration. The exhibit will be open from 1 to 9.30, on other days from 10 to 5.30. All persons are cordially invited to view this exhibit.

Plans for the Civic and Military Parade—the largest and most impressive ever to be held in all Newton's history—are nearly completed. The chairman of this parade is Levi Libbey, Past Commander of the Legion who was appointed by William H. Rice, Chairman of the Newton Tercentenary Committee. The Chief Marshal will be His Honor, the Mayor, assisted by Adjutant General E. T. Dungan, Commander of all the organizations to parade. The start will be at 1:30 sharp from the new fire station at Newton Corner. The route will be along Washington to Walnut to Washington Park, past the Governor John A. Andrew Home, thence to Cabot to Walnut to the Cemetery where memorial services will be held at the Soldiers' Monument by the Charles Ward Post, G. A. R. with W. A. Wetherbee, Past Senior Vice-Commander-in-Chief of the Massachusetts G. A. R. as leader.

There will be a Battalion of Artillery and Troop E of the 11th Cavalry, Captain Jenkins commanding, a Battery with William P. Hunt commanding, a detachment of sailors of the U. S. N. from the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Some of the bands already promised are: The Newton Constabulary, The Knights of the Holy Cross Drum Corps of West Newton, the De Molay, the Weymouth Post Band of the American Legion and the Cecil Fogg of Hyde Park.

The arrangements for the civic organizations have not been completed but it is expected that a very large number will take part in this celebration.

It is hoped that a detachment of soldiers in Revolutionary or Colonial costumes will guard the site of the old Revolutionary Powder House at the corner of Lyman and Centre streets, Newton Centre.

The parade on leaving the Cemetery will proceed along Beacon to Centre street to the Playground where it will be reviewed by His Honor, Mayor Weeks and his staff. Here on the Playground will be staged the Pageant, "Newton, the City Beautiful" on June 3, 4, 5.

The Tercentenary Committee hopes this may be a very large and notable parade and urges all Newton citizens to aid its success in every way.

Mayor Weeks requests that all civic organizations participate in this parade.

Many business blocks have already planned to decorate their buildings and it is hoped there will be a city-wide showing of flags.

The bride wore white satin with duchess lace and a veil. The maid of honor wore Nile green satin. A reception followed the ceremony at which the couple were assisted in receiving by the maid of honor and best man and by Miss Grace Grosvenor White, an aunt of the bride.

The home was tastefully decorated with bridal wreath, hawthorne, garden flowers and greenery. The wedding march was played by Miss Caroline M. Hiltz.

After a wedding trip to Maine Mr. and Mrs. Laughton will reside in Westminister, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of the Household Arts Department of the Framingham Normal School.

LAST CALL FOR LOAN OF ANTIQUES

One of the biggest events of Newton's celebrations of the Tercentenary will soon be here! The exhibition of priceless antiques to be held at the Woman's Club House at Newton Centre will open Saturday morning, June 7th, at 10:00 o'clock.

The village chairmen under the leadership of Mrs. W. J. Freethy have completed all arrangements. Each village is to furnish a room and all articles will be at least one hundred years old and of historical interest to Newton.

On the platform will be a kitchen furnished by Waban. Mrs. Austin C. Bourne is in charge and is aided by Mrs. John C. Codman, Mrs. Wm. S. Lamont, Mrs. Elsbree D. Locke, Mrs. Emil Nilsson, Mrs. George L. Reynolds, Mrs. Wm. S. Uhl and Mrs. Geo. W. Van Gorder.

An early American dining room will be Newton Highlands' offering and Mrs. Alex. Caldwell, who is in charge, is delighted to be able to show a table and chairs which were made in the early part of 1600. These were loaned by Mrs. James Meissner. Mrs. Caldwell is being assisted by Mrs. Ernest Weaver, Mrs. Donald McKay, Mrs. Don Edwards, Mrs. W. Herbert Stetson, Miss Elizabeth Newton, Mrs. Linnell Studley, Mrs. Ralph Case, Mrs. Henry Ury, Mrs. Frank Warren, Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. Edward Wallace, Miss Ruth Wilkie, Mrs. Edgar Smith, Mrs. Warren Cornell and Mrs. Earl Manning.

A living room of the very early American type which will be furnished in maple and pine is being planned by Mrs. Madison M. Cannon and Mrs. E. E. Orrell for Auburndale. Many pieces of Mrs. Cannon's own private collection of antiques will be shown. Assisting these two chairmen are Mrs. Geo. W. St. Amant, Mrs. Frank Soule, Mrs. Chas. Grover, Mrs. Richard Walter and Mrs. Raymond Perkins.

Another living room to be shown is of a later period with old mahogany in evidence. This is sponsored by Newton Corner with Mrs. J. W. Wright in charge. Helping her are Mrs. Edna N. Hallett, Miss Dorothy Emmons, Mrs. Wm. R. Drury, Miss Florence Hoard, Mrs. Fred H. Loveland and Mrs. Wm. F. Garcelon.

An old colonial hall with genuine Chippendale furniture has been chosen by Newton Upper Falls and Miss Ethel Sabin is chairman for that district. Assisting her are Mrs. Leslie Allen, Mrs. Ernest Cobb, Mrs. Harry Cook, Miss Nellie Osborne, Mrs. Walter Stevens, Mrs. W. H. Hoey, Mrs. Wm. Warren and Miss Clementine Bara. The chairs shown in this exhibit were formerly in the Gov. Gore home in Waltham, but are now the property of a Newton resident.

Another dining room of a later type than that shown by Newton Highlands will be displayed by Newton Centre and the furniture will be mahogany of Sheraton period with damask hangings. Mrs. W. C. Noetzel is in charge and will be aided by Mrs.

Herbert Stetson, Mrs. Norman Pratt, Mrs. C. K. Badger, Mrs. Frederick Robinson and Mrs. John Perry.

West Newton is contributing a bed room, the furnishings to be of pine and light mahogany which characterized the middle period of 1800. The chairman, Mrs. Thos. Weston, is being assisted by Mrs. John M. Eaton.

A delightful reproduction of olden days and their methods of drawing water are being shown by Newtonville, with Mrs. Carl Sommers in charge. An exact copy of an old well sweep and its surroundings has been constructed by Mr. Sommers. Another very unusual feature also contributed by Mr. Sommers will be the painted reproduction of the Meteor, the first train that came into Newton one hundred years ago. This model is 32 feet long.

Besides these rooms, there will be a place provided for all contributions not used elsewhere. Painting, pictures, samplers and jewelry are in demand, and will be gladly received by Mrs. Richmond K. Fletcher. Old fashioned flowers will also be needed for decorations, and offers for such may be made to Mrs. C. K. Badger, Newton Centre, 1357-M. A musical instrument has been offered, and Mrs. Freethy will be glad if the donor will get

Any further notices from local chairmen must be sent not later than Tuesday, June third, to the Press Chairman, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, 324 Central street, Auburndale.

tions of Newton. They will portray in a pageant of rhythm and color the "Spirit of Newton," in its progress from an untamed wilderness to a "City Beautiful." Perhaps a more detailed description of the first dance, called "The Dance of the Years" will give a general idea of the work that is being accomplished by the dancers.

"Following the Prelude, which is of a Pastoral type, a group of dancers, expert in Pantomime, shall evolve, through Interpretative movement, an epitome of the years. As light is slowly brought to the scene certain of the dancers, whose costumes blend with the out-of-doors setting, are thus hidden from the first view of the audience. These are the spirits of the untamed wilderness—of Tangled Woods, of Rocks and Trees, of Wind and Rain,—of all those obstacles with which the Pioneer must, in a virgin country, contend and finally subdue. Into this scene, with utter abandon, rushes the Leader of the Elemental Forces. He summons his fellowers to dance. Soon an Indian Call is heard. The spirits are hesitant and surprised. A brief pause and they resume their evolution—this time by the aid of a shot. They examine it. MAN has come to the wilderness! The motif of the dance is gradually changing to one of apprehension. Their fear however at this stage, is momentary, and the dance continues much as it began. It is interrupted again—this time by the firing of a shot. For a moment the dancers stand motionless. "What new Contender has come to the Tangled Wood?" Chopping is heard. Trees are heard to crash to the ground. The rhythmic beat of the chopping continues. The Dance is now more orderly, more refined. (Still interpretative.) Civilization is at hand! A little later a Church Bell is heard in the distance. The new Contender is at Worship. The mood is "andante religioso." This mood is broken in upon a bit later by a long roll of the drum. The Contender is defending his new abode. The suggestion of strife finally gives way to an atmosphere of peace. The dance becomes less ecstatic and prepares to lead up finally to a beautiful tableau—lovely in color and grouping—having about it the allusion of the "rose" that has blossomed out of the wilderness.

"There are also period dances and dances of the modern time, such as will be interpreted in the Playground—Episode. The pageant opens and closes with the Dance. The first scene is purely Interpretative. The last scene is largely Ballet. In the Ballet there enters the early company of dancers, together with others, including many children, who with the aid of branches, blossoms, lights, colors of spring, and summer hues, transform—through the evolutions of lovely movement—the former Wilderness of the Pioneer into the Garden City of Today."

POLICE NEWS

Patrick J. Crowley of 60 Chestnut street, West Newton, reported to the police early last Friday morning that he had been attacked and robbed the preceding night on the grounds of the Woodland Park Golf Club. According to the story told to the police by Crowley, he was in his car on the parking space at the golf club grounds where he had gone to meet his sister who is employed at the club house. Three young men approached, overpowered Crowley, bound him with rope, gagged him, robbed him of $150 and then departed in his car. After struggling for several hours, Crowley managed to free himself from the rope with which he was tied and reported the assault and robbery to the police.

Arthur Maillet, 17, of 196 California street, Nonantum and John Casale, 17, of 220 California street, were arrested Tuesday night by Special Officers Burke and Feeley. The two were wanted by the Marlboro police. They are charged with having gone to that city, where Maillet formerly resided and stripping an automobile which they are alleged to have stolen. According to the Marlboro complaint, the pair took about all of the car except the body. They were in the Newton court Wednesday and were turned over to the Marlboro police.

Adelbert Cobb of Roxbury was fined $10 in the Newton court yesterday for operating an automobile with improper number plates.

Motorcycle Officers Hartford and McGrath captured two alleged automobile thieves Sunday night at Newton Centre following a chase which ended when the policemen threatened the pair with their revolvers. About 6 p. m. Sunday, police headquarters received a telephone call from Edward Keefe of 118 Homer street, Newton Centre, that two young men were attempting to steal his car which was parked near his home. When the pair saw Keefe watching them, they fled to Bowen street where they stole a parked car owned by Walter Carlson of North Sudbury. In the meantime, Police Station 4 at Newton Centre had been notified and Hartford and McGrath were on the track of the two auto thieves. The policemen came upon the pair on Dalton road. The two youths jumped from the car they had stolen and attempted to escape by running through nearby yards. They stopped when the policemen drew their guns and threatened to shoot. The captives identified themselves as Arnold Corkum, 19, of Lincoln parkway, Somerville, and Charles Laukonis, 21, of Antrim street, Cambridge.

According to the police the pair had stolen in Boston a car owned by Harriet Wells of Bay State road, Boston. They drove the car to Homer street, Newton Centre, and abandoned it as they started to try to take Keefe's car. In the Boston car the police found a set of dealer's number-plates. In Laukonis' possession was found an automobile license issued to a Brighton resident. The police think the pair are professional automobile thieves. They appeared in the Newton court Monday and were held in $2000 bail each for a hearing on June 2.

John Haughey of Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands, was in the Newton court last Friday charged with tendering a worthless check. The complainant was Louis Ebb, a Boston constable who is engaged by the City Collector of Newton to collect delinquent taxes. Ebb alleged that Haughey tendered a check for $400 for taxes and penalties and the constable then paid the City Collector the amount due. When Ebb turned in the check it was not honored because of lack of funds. Haughey's case was continued to May 26.

Gordon Rouse of Harris road, West Newton, was arrested Saturday night by Motorcycle Officer Goddard after the car he was driving had collided with a car driven by Fred Dennis of Newton Lower Falls, on River street, West Newton. Rouse was in the Newton court Monday charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, driving without a license, going away after an accident without making himself known and drunkenness. His case was continued until June 16.

Autoists fined in the Newton court on Monday included—Thomas Murphy, Kempton place, West Newton, speeding, $10; refusing to obey a signal to stop when ordered by policeman, $25; Alphonse Spetall, Southgate park, West Newton, failing to slow down at intersecting streets, $5. Those fined for speeding were—Helen Cunio, Devon road, Waban, $5; Wilfred Gregoire, Main street, Watertown, $15; Carl Hanson, Framingham, $10; Edward Barry, 204 Lexington street, Auburndale, $10; Frank Crocchia, Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, $10; Eva Collins, Moreland avenue, Newton Centre $10; Antonio Fronduto, Somerville, $10; Gerald Dreher, Needham, $10; Whitman Merrill, Melrose, $10.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

As is customary with all Legislatures, the present body waited until the closing hours to dispose of a number of the most important matters of the year.

The action of the joint convention Monday on the proposal of amendment to the State constitution to give the State authority to establish a uniform State-wide rate on tangible personal property was the surprise, or at least one of the surprises of the year. Under the rules both branches must hold two sessions of the joint convention on separate days. On Thursday of last week the joint convention considered to a third reading the taxation amendment by a rising vote of 95 to 40. The question for the session last Monday was on agreeing to that amendment. Had it been favorably acted upon it would have gone to the Legislature next year and if agreed to by that body would go to the voters in 1932. There seemed to be little opposition at last week's joint convention. However, at Monday's session this week there was a strong appeal on behalf of many speakers against interference with local assessors. It is not beyond the realm of probability that between Thursday of last week and Monday of this week local assessors throughout the State got very busy, for the attitude of a large number of legislators had changed. At least, that seems to be a plausible explanation and local assessors, like every other group of individuals, have been known to lobby. On the question of agreeing to the proposed amendment there were 130 yeas to 114 nays, the amendment not being agreed to as less than a majority of all members elected favored it.

Another proposal of amendment was that providing for the districting the State into Senatorial, Representative and Councillor districts and making certain changes in the constitutional provisions relating thereto. This was fought largely on party lines, the Democrats contending that they were not given a square deal whenever the Republicans constituted a majority of the body entrusted with the task of redistricting. This amendment was ordered to a third reading by roll call 151 to 91 and agreed to by roll call, 155 to 88. As it has already been agreed to by the Legislature of two years ago (1928) it now goes to the voters for rejection or ratification.

The supplementary appropriation bill of $3,251,419 was submitted by the Governor this week and provided for improvements in the fire prevention system at State prison and the Concord reformatory, the building of more State roads and buildings and many other much-needed public works. It makes a total general budget of about $4,000,000.

The Governor did not like the way the House disposed of the bill creating a division of the necessities of life in the State Department of Labor and Industries. It was one of his pet projects and he showed that he resented the fact that it had been killed. Promptly he sent in a message asking for practically the same thing that had been tossed out of the window. A message from the Governor is the only way in which legislation that has once been rejected may be revived.

The action of the Governor has the desired effect of giving the Ways and Means Committee came in with a bill which was almost identical with that previously rejected. The members of the city councils of Boston, Revere and Cambridge will get together in their annual salaries, providing the voters of each of these cities vote in favor, Newton, which pays its Board of Aldermen no salary, will read with interest that Boston councillors will get a raise from $1500 to $2500, Cambridge from $500 to $750 and Revere from $300 to $500 providing a majority of the voters can be persuaded that they ought to have it. In view of recent doings of the Cambridge city council it will be interesting to note how the voters react to the proposed pay boost.

A bill signed this week by the Governor gives cities and towns the right to appropriate money for the uniforms of firemen and policemen. Many municipalities have already adopted that custom. Newton never has. Now it is not improbable that somebody will make the suggestion for this city. The bill to increase the powers of the Boston Police Commissioner in the licensing and control of taxicabs in that city was agreeable to the Governor except in that it restricted the number of taxicabs that could be operated in Boston to 3000. Governor Allen conferred with Police Commissioner Hullman and then sent the bill back to the Legislature to be amended by striking out any limit. The Legislature promptly saw the Governor's point of view and adopted his recommendation.

A lot of bills for the taking over of bridges between cities and towns were neatly disposed of this year by the passage of a resolve for a study by a special commission of the State's policy in regard to bridges and construction and maintenance thereof. One of the projects that has bobbed up regularly year after year calls for a bridge between South Boston and Hull and another between South Boston and Houghs Neck. These will now be sent along for investigation as to their need and advisability.

Legislation to give cities and towns the right to appropriate money for safety campaigns received prompt and favorable consideration after the Governor had pointed out what he desired. It looks as if the Boston police matter had been disposed of by passage of legislation amending the law relating to the pensioning of Boston police. The Democrats have kept up the fight against State control of the Boston police and have introduced various solutions for investigations, etc. all intended to embarrass the Republicans and defeat the State ticket for reelection.

CRITICALLY INJURED IN AUTO SMASH

Sunday afternoon as Fred Higgins of 25 Hale street, Newton Upper Falls was driving a small coupe along Lexington street, Waltham, the car skidded off the street, went down a slope into a wooded area and hit a tree with great force. The car telescoped for nearly half its length, the driver's side of the body being sheared off. Persons who saw the car wrapped around the tree wondered how Higgins escaped instant death. Passing motorists rescued him from the wreckage and he was rushed to the Waltham Hospital in a car driven by Albert Ayer of Ashmont. Upon being examined at the hospital it was found that Higgins had received a fractured skull, his body was covered with cuts and contusions and his face and scalp were lacerated. His name was placed on the danger list.

SCHOOL NOTES

UNDERWOOD SCHOOL

On Friday afternoon, May 16th, the Underwood School celebrated its Child Health Day by presenting a very charming pageant, entitled "May Day in 1930." This pageant was originated and directed by Miss Mary M. Higgins of the Underwood School. Very skillful was her combining of Health Day, the Tercentenary, and Good Will Day, and much credit is due her and her co-teachers for a very beautiful and finished production.

A pleasing number of the celebration was contributed by a group of Kindergarten children as they sang a Happy Birthday song to Massachusetts and then gave her an impressive birthday-cake which bore three large, pink candles, representing her three hundred years.

During the course of the pageant Miss Bragg, in her delightful and enthusiastic way, complimented the children on their health achievements. At the close of her speech Betty Floyd presented to her a basket of flowers with the love of the Underwood children and teachers. Miss Bragg delighted her audience with her whimsical query as to where the love was; whether it was tucked in among the flowers.

Mr. Wilson, director of Physical Education in the Newton Schools, then presented the posture pins as follows: Grade V, Henry Sheehan, Ruth Cohen, Anna Sanguineti, Bertha Keaveney, Thomas Fleming; Grade IV, Martha Parsons, Jack Roney, Charles Brown, Alice Dunne, Betty Briard; Grade III, Edward Emerson, Harriet Tashjian, John Carmody, Muriel Moore, George Ingraham, Mary Rich; Sight-Saving Class, Simon Bontempo, John Ryan, V. Francis Beves IV, and Eleanor Russo, Sight-Saving Class, having received posture pins in previous years, were given yellow badges which meant a second winning of the posture award.

The Weather Man was kinder than he had been some other years and held back the clouds and rain until the children had paraded around Farlow Park in their gay costumes, waving American flags and displaying their badges for Weight, Teeth and Posture. Ten classes very proudly bore special banners which signified 100% tests.

The leading parts in the play were delightfully taken by Florence Peppard as Columbia, Jean Beal as Massachusetts, and John Ryan as Health Messenger. The various numbers were charmingly rendered by the following cast:

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Church School Exhibit last Sunday at Colby Hall, Newton Centre, was a very fine display. Many persons who came to see it had notebooks and pencils, jotting down such suggestions for handwork as they deemed it possible to use in their own church school work next year.

The churches represented in the exhibit were as follows: Newton Corner, Eliot, Grace, Immanuel Baptist, Wesley Methodist; Newtonville, Central Congregational and Methodist; West Newton, Second Church, Lincoln Park, and Myrtle Baptist; Auburndale, Congregational; Waban, Union; Newton Highlands Congregational; Newton Centre, Baptist, Trinity; Waltham, Lake View, Unitarian, Universalist, Beth Eden and Immanuel Methodist; Watertown Methodist; Belmont Street Baptist.

Miss Bessie Stratton of Eliot Church loaned some of her artistic and useful costumes for pageantry and religious drama. Miss Rosamond Newton of Grace Church and Mrs. Harry H. Reed of Newton Highland Congregational Church both brought enough materials for an entire large table.

The Young People's Council of the Norumbega District Association is to be represented on the Greater Boston Youth Congress by John Graham. The larger youth movements in Greater Boston and all of the denominations of Greater Boston, have representation on this Youth Congress, the purpose being to plan together occasionally for some big event, and to act as a clearing house for young people's inter-church affairs. The only Y. P. Council as yet invited to send a delegate to assist in the organization of this work is the Norumbega Y. P. Council. There are five adult advisory members at work upon the project two of whom are in the Norumbega District, Professor Warren T. Powell of Newton Centre and Miss Helene Moore of Church street, Newton.

The plans are under way for a Greater Boston Institute for Daily Vacation Church School workers. This will give training and new ideas to workers in the church vacation schools of our District. LEVI F. WARREN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Last week, we had 100% in thrift. There were 666 pupils present that day. $171.57 was saved.

Assembly

At the assembly on May 21st, Mr. Whiting presented to the school two rare maps and two beautiful etchings from the West Newton Community Service Club. The maps are of the 16th century done by Abraham Aetellius, and the etchings are portraits of James Madison and John Quincy Adams. The gifts were greatly appreciated.

Mr. Quinn, after some difficulty because of the detour signs surrounding the school arrived, and gave an interesting introduction to "Oliver Twist." Appropriately he told of a humorous incident concerning detours. The pupils regret that this was Mr. Quinn's last visit this year, as he is always exceedingly interesting and entertaining.

The Mather Class

Last Sunday morning at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House the Mather Class held its final session before the summer vacation.

Prof. Kirtley F. Mather lectured on "The Responsibility of the Individual." This was the fifth lecture on "Christianizing the State," and was the last lecture for the season.

As time advances, the world improves. It would be most unfortunate if the present race of human beings were the best attainable. There is hope for the future. Man is not the end. He holds potentialities for development. Within limits he is master of his destiny and determines his own future. Conditions on the earth determine the trend of history. Man reached his present position because of his inherent capacities. The sum total of nature provides an environment favorable to human development.

It is true that man has ideas, but ideas are not inventions which man has made because he wanted them. Ideas and ideals are forced on us from without. Good, true, and high ideals are the ones found by experience to be best fitted to enable man to live and prosper, and sometimes the process of acquiring them has been painful.

Three things have made human prosperity possible. They are:

1. Human intellect.
2. Human cooperation.
3. Sense of social comity.

Because man has a brain the individual has a heavy responsibility for the right use of it. Of all creatures man has the widest variety of ways of expressing his own characteristics. He adapts himself to conditions when necessary and makes over his environment when possible. The South African bushmen are sharply limited in ways of expressing themselves. The medieval alchemists had more ways of expressing themselves but fewer than we have. Individuals make successes of their lives when they best coordinate their activities.

The second cause of human prosperity is cooperation. This extends the activity of the individual from his own intellect to his dealings with other people. Cooperation may take the form of friendliness, brotherliness, love, or a feeling of kinship. An attempt may perhaps be made to be kind to every living thing. This is unlikely to be overdone to the extent of being kind to mosquitoes, but there is a certain kindly feeling for other animals and for other races of human beings. Friendliness is highly desirable.

The third division of this subject goes beyond individual and group cooperation, even though the group be very large, and becomes a sense of social comity. This is a trifle difficult to comprehend. There is a feeling that what is good for society is also good for the individual, and vice versa. There is a consciousness of social needs. We should enlarge our hearts to include social demands. Perhaps it might be called the higher selfishness.

The responsibility of the individual is to develop all these three things for himself. He should not train his intellect merely to absorb knowledge. The brain is not intended solely as a storehouse of information. It is a machine or factory where things are accomplished. We need a creative, not a conserving, intellect. When the brain is used, it improves, within limits, but the limit is not likely to be reached. There is a wide margin of safety before it reaches the point of collapse.

We should take something in which we are interested and use the intellect to develop it to the best possible advantage. It may not appear to be very important, but it will prepare the way for something that is more important. We cannot always tell what is inconsequential and trivial. That remains for history to decide, and history is the summation of trivial things. We should not underestimate the things that we do. Of course we need encouragement at times. It is well to be told that what we are doing is worth while. Often we are unaware of the real significance, the true worth, and the high value of our own daily lives.

There are ups and downs in human progress, but the general trend is upward. Prof. Mather claimed that human nature is changing at a higher rate than for thousands of years past. We see little change. Inborn characteristics seem stationary, but even a generation ago there was some difference somewhere.

We occasionally get a racial inferiority complex. We constitute individually but a tiny fraction of life on the earth, and the earth is only a speck of dust in the universe. Then why should we count for much in the general scheme of things? There is a vast importance in the tiny unit. The electrons and protons are individually very diminutive, but nevertheless they are collectively important.

Jesus valued human personality. He even emphasized the importance of even one sparrow. It does make a difference to the universe what any unit is doing. You cannot do anything and get away with it. It does not matter, because the contrary is true. It does matter, and consequently there is a heavy responsibility on the individual.

In the expansion of our hearts practice makes perfect. Experience helps. The art of being kind needs to be practiced. Start at home and be kind and expand from there. You will discover ways and means on the way. The trouble is to start. The attitude of kindness is what is important. As to the welfare of society, succeeding generations are going to be just as dissatisfied with us as we are of our ancestors. We blame our progenitors for the World War, but if we don't do any better, we'll be more to blame, because we had the lesson and ought to profit by it. We should not become discouraged and give up, merely because we know we cannot wholly succeed. Let us do our best to be a good citizen and have confidence in the good intentions of human beings. The dangerous man is the one who does not care.

Some think that, because the world has improved in the past, it must continue to improve, and we need not do anything about it. Such optimistic fatalism is an unfortunate error in current thought and expression. There is no basis in fact for this neo-fatalism. Evolution guarantees change but not success. It does not insure the goal. The responsibility for taking the successive steps that are necessary rests on the individual. He can take it or leave it. Responsibility exactly equals freedom and opportunity. Truth crushed to earth will rise again and picks truth up and puts it on its throne again. To transform the world into the prophet's dream, good forces are needed, and they can come from individuals and from them alone. One step at a time must be taken in the right direction, and it must be taken by each individual.

Jesus was optimistic about the inherent worth and intrinsic value of human beings. He had faith in God and man. Sometimes the yoke is galling, but, with the available resources, the burden is easy. Each of us has a small but tremendously important part. One step at a time is all that is required, but it is required.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Clifford Potter have invited the Class to spend Memorial Day at their home in Duxbury. Information and transportation are available on application to Mr. Montague P. Ford. Children are invited.

On Wednesday evening, May 21 the Class held its Annual Banquet at the Twentieth Century Club in Boston. Prof. Mather is President of the Club, and through his courtesy the facilities of the Club were reserved exclusively for the Class for that evening. An excellent dinner and extremely fine entertainment featured the occasion. There was by far the biggest attendance that ever was present at a Class function. There was abundant good fellowship and a most diversified entertainment of high quality. The Class contains a wealth of fine talent, which was freely devoted to the purpose of giving everybody a delightful time.

Prof. Mather had a few words of commendation and appreciation. Mrs. Pickersgill read her report as Secretary. It was complete, comprehensive, and interesting. Needless to say, it was, like everything else, eminently satisfactory.

The President, Mr. Pattison, presided in his usual gracious manner. Mr. Montague Ford, Chairman of the Social Committee, was in charge of this social event.

The Vice-President, Mr. Tressler Callahan, handled the entertainment with superb skill and ability, to the enthusiastic delight of all. Among other things, this dinner resolved itself for a while into the Annual Meeting and Election of Officers of the Class.

The vote was highly and extremely unanimous for the following chairmen for next year:

President: Tressler W. Callahan
Vice-President: Harry M. Sutton
Secretary: Mrs. William C. Pickersgill
Treasurer: C. W. Waldron.

Committee Chairmen

Social: Percy W. Brough

Membership: Dr. Karl M. Bowman

Publicity: Willis E. Pattison

Music: Mr. Kenneth Waite

Finance: E. Clifford Potter

Dramatics: Mrs. Foster Cousins

Refreshment: Mrs. E. C. Winslow.

The Class will reconvene after the long summer vacation and hold its next meeting on the first Sunday in October. This will be October 5, 1930.

"A COUNTRY ESTATE" Accessible to the City

At Wellesley Hills in the Cliff Road section of exclusive residences we have constructed several beautiful winding roads which have been fully accepted by the town of Wellesley and will be known as the "Cliff Estates". The desirability of the half acre and larger home-sites is conceded by those in the "know" to be second to none in the Metropolitan area and should appeal to business and professional men desirous of retiring to the close of day to the peace and quiet of the nearby country within twenty-five minutes train service or half hour by auto from Boston.

There are several beautiful houses as well as building lots now available. Your inspection is invited.
